

YOUR BIRTHDAY

January 9-15.

If your birthday is this week you are conscientious, critical, truthful and just. You are conventional to the last degree, and very conservative...

You are an accurate, logical reasoner, and have a clean, sound mind. You have a strong will, and at times are stubborn. You can be very secretive and reserved about your affairs...

You are affable, pleasant, and polite—you are sociable and like to entertain.

Men born during these dates become scientists, inventors, ministers, professors, lecturers, and artists. Women born during these dates become artists, musicians, teachers, actresses, and interior decorators.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER

By M. L. Shipman

Raleigh, Jan. 3. The holiday season having come to an end Raleigh is now getting ready for the session of the General Assembly which is to begin operations on Wednesday of the present week.

The speakership fight occupies the center of the stage tonight and only enthusiastic supporters of the three aspirants for the coveted position are willing to place a bet on either of them. It is a reasonably safe prediction that the speaker will be selected from the three avowed candidates, N. A. Townsend, of Harnett, R. T. Fourn, of Edgecombe and H. G. Connor, of Wilson, and the fight is getting fast and furious, with the friends of each claiming a victory for his choice.

Close observers predict a busy session, with tax reform the paramount issue. The proposal of a thirty-million dollar bond issue for highway construction will come up in due course and the suggestion of submitting the question of an eight months school term is to be considered sometime during the session.

Governor McLean has been a busy man for weeks in the preparation of his inaugural message to the General Assembly and whipping into shape tentative measures he feels should be considered by the legislative body. The State budget for the two-year fiscal period beginning July 1, 1927, on which the Governor and his Advisory Budget Commission have been working since the first of November has been completed, the report having been approved by Representative N. A. Townsend. A revenue bill is also practically finished and will be passed on to the Finance Committee of the two branches of the Assembly early in the session.

The Committee of One Hundred, composed of fundamentalists is planning to swoop down on the solons with a demand that theories be not taught as facts in state supported schools. Zeb V. Turlington, representative from Iredell county, is to be spokesman for the Committee in the House and prospects for a spirited fight are looming as time for action approaches.

The validity of the two million dollars worth of bonds twice authorized by the voters of the State for the purpose of providing money for the Veteran's Loan Fund, is soon to be tested in the courts, according to Secretary of State W. N. Everett, secretary of the Board. A case is to be started in the superior court and appeal to the Supreme Court will be taken by the losing side.

Superintendents for the three State hospitals for the insane are asking for more doctors and better equipment to handle their work. They need both. The State and Federal departments of Agriculture estimate the value of cotton produced in North Carolina last year at $75,000,000; tobacco, at $103,802,160; corn $45,999,360; Irish potatoes, $11,840,000; winter wheat, $9,013,190; peanuts, $9,985,040; sweet potatoes, $7,560,000; apples, $3,088,000; sorghum, $3,603,600; soy beans, $2,296,000; peaches, $1,890,000; oats, $1,705,800; rye, $1,690,000; wild hay, $832,000; barley, $390,000; clover seed, $362,000; grapes, $342,000; pears, $310,000; buckwheat, $226,000; total production of agricultural crops $279,929,75. The State ranks first of the States of the Union in the production of tobacco and peanuts; second in the production of soy beans and sorghum.

Dr. Frank Crane Says

You Can Get Away From Yourself

Some time ago I wrote an article about a book in which a man who had lost his hearing told of the strange, silent world which the deaf inhabit.

Among the letters received relative to it was one from a woman in Brooklyn, New York, part of which is quoted below:

"Due to an operation my ear drums were broken. To lose one's hearing in adult life requires a great inward adjustment. In fact, the struggle is so hard at times that one loses faith in everything.

"Yet to shout from the house tops is of no avail. Self-pity makes it even more discouraging, as to concentrate upon self is just walking farther into the channel of sultriness. Therefore, there seems but one way to choose—to try to get away from self, if that is humanly possible."

There are thousands of brave, heroic people like this woman who are carrying on, trying to make the best of a life twisted askew by misfortune. They raise the sum total of human heroism in the world.

For when sickness, affliction or sudden handicaps tumble the dreams of a lifetime about a persons prime, just to make the best of life is in itself to be heroic.

There are times to such people when getting away from themselves is a necessary part of life.

How to do it in the right way is the problem.

The other day I called upon a young man who had been sick in bed for two years. Lying on his back, unable to hold a book, he got away from himself by having a map hung on a string over his bed.

He memorized the names of the states and the countries and their position in relation to each other, and made trips in his imagination.

He also had lists hung on the string and had learned all of the American presidents in order, and said he soon would be the only man in the world who could name all of the vice-presidents.

He has discovered one of the best ways of answering the problem of how to get away from yourself.

Methods which enrich your mental or spiritual resources, and those in which the activity benefits others, are most effective.

For in losing yourself in self-betterment as in social service and kindred activities you not only occupy your mind, but also reap the feeling of doing something worth while with your life.

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsillitis, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calomel, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts combined, without the unpleasant effects of either. One or two Calomel at bed-time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please,—no danger.
