Meeting of the Literary Society
The girl's literary society held its second meeting in the auditorium on Wednesday afternoon, November 21. The society has chosen for its name Louisa M. Alcott calling it the L. M. A. Society. The by-laws were also brought up before this meeting, but they were not adopted.

They have decided to divide the society into four groups with a leader of each group who will be held responsible for a program the week her group reads. After all the business had been brought before the society the following program was rendered: Girlhood of Louisa M. Alcott, Roberta Brantley.

Literary Life of Louisa M. Alcott, Victoria Tant.
Psalm of Life, Annie Denton.
The program was well rendered and enjoyed by all who were present.

Meeting of the Dramatic Club
The "Little Theatre Dramatic Club" met in the eleventh grade room Wednesday, November 21, to conduct its second meeting. The president called the club to order and L. G. Mullen, the secretary read the minutes of the last meeting, called the roll, and then the president took charge of the business affairs. She brought up the subject of getting club pins, but postponed the decision until a later date. We decided on a club motto selected by our motto committee. This committee's members were Helen Mullen, Margaret Williams, Darnelle Phillips and Della Mae Mitchell. Our motto is "Rowing and Drifting." Our secretary then called out the program numbers.

Bible reading by Dena Pearl Bunn.
Prayer by Louise Williams
Ruth Strickland delightfully entertained us by telling "Evangeline" by Longfellow.
This took up most of the period and the remainder of the time was used in playing games conducted by Mary Lee Alford, the president.

The Book Club of Bunn School
The fifth, sixth and seventh grades of Bunn School have organized themselves into a book club with Miss Wiggs as the sponsor.
They usually meet every Wednesday. Last Friday the Book Club gave a program in Miss Wiggs' room. The program consisted of recitations and a short play. All of these were about the lives of authors or some of the most popular books.

A prize was offered for the best poster about books, and the 20 best phrases about books. The sixth grade won the prize for the best posters, and the seventh grade won the prize for the best phrases.

A group of tenth grade vocational agriculture boys and the teacher selected from Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams' flock of birds a single Jersey Black rooster; a single Buff Orpington rooster, and a single Buff Orpington hen. These birds were put on exhibit at the Eastern Wake Fair, Zebulon. Each one of these birds won first prize. They were exhibited by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams, of Bunn.

Preparation of Pork on the Farm
There are several ways of preparing pork. They are dry curing, smoking and brine cure. Dry-curing is commonly used in this country. The proper things to use in this method is to each hundred pounds of pork use eight pounds of common salt, two pounds of brown sugar, two ounces of salt petre, our ounces of black pepper, one ounce of red pepper. Thoroughly mix all these materials. Rub each piece of pork then pack in clean box or barrel. After three days take up and re-pack with mixture then repack and leave it until ready to be smoked. Method of smoking pork. After the above pork has been in box awhile take out and wash in tepid water. Then hang up until thoroughly dry. Build fire under it after drying out. Corn cobs or hardwood to make a smoke.

Let the pork hang seven feet from the floor. Another way is to use liquid smoke which is sometimes very satisfactory. This will keep away skipper, and flies. Method of brine curing pork. To each one hundred pounds of pork use twelve pounds of common salt three pounds of brown sugar, three ounces of salt petre and six gallons of water. Put pork in vessel to boil slowly for one hour. After which the solution should be allowed to cool thoroughly. Pack hams, shoulders and sides in barrel, or earthen jar or concrete vat. Weight down with clean rocks and pour the cold brine over the pork until completely covered.

Mr. Bowen: Darling did you sew that button on my coat?
Mrs. Bowen: No sweetheart, I could n't find a button but it's alright now. I sewed up the button hole.
Mr. Keith to his English Class: Words ending in "ous" means full of; as joyous means full of joy and vigorous means full of vigor. Now give an example of such a word.
