Arbor and Bird Day

Friday, March the 22nd has designated as Arbor and Bird Day. The schools of the county are hereby asked to make a real study of bird and tree life with the motive and purpose in view of arousing a greater thy movement. The schools are urg. ed to take advantage of the next few days in getting trees and shrubbery planted on the school grounds and walks, driveways and grass plots properly arranged. The new schools at Wood, Harris and Hickory Rock. White Level has each received a blueprint of the grounds prepared by Mr. John J. Blair of the State Department of Education. These blueprints show how the grounds should be laid off and what kind of shrubbery should be planted. Last year many of our schools took a great interest in planting and beautifying in general the school grounds. In the State contest Epsom won a fifty dollar prize. TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF LEGION RECALLS GREAT MEN'S WORDS

"The American Legion has justified the confidence and prophecies of the American people in the last decade, and it is interesting to recall some of the terse statements of prominent eaders in the last ten years," A. W. Macon, Commander of the Jambes Post, No 105, American Legion, said today in calling attention to March 15 and 16 as the tenth anniversary of he Legion's birth in the Paris Cauc in 1919.

"It warms the heart of every Legionnaire to realize that the faith of these great figures of American hisory in the then infant Legion been kept.
"The statements follow:

"President Wilson: 'The spirit of their service was as splendid as their success, and the continuation of that spirit in The American Legion will make it always an inspiration to the full performance of difficult duties.'

President Harding: 'The men of The American Legion will be summoned with confidence to deal with the problems of today and the possible crises of the future.'

President Coolidge: 'While your influence remains, America will be secure.'
