

NEGRO ENTERTAINED AT WHITE HOUSE TEA

Washington Society Both Surprised and Dumbfounded by The Incident—Leaps Into Social Spotlight Quickly—Speculation As To Whether Hoover Sought to Placate Negro Criticism.

Washington, June 13.—Washington society was surprised and amazed to learn today that the wife of Oscar DePriest, the Chicago Negro congressman, had broken into its most exclusive circles via an afternoon tea given at the White House by Mrs. Hoover.

The two instances are not comparable though, as Booker Washington was recognized as the outstanding member of his race. He was a man of culture, a man of broad education, a leader of his people.

The wife of many a Congressman spends years in Washington without ever being invited to one of the informal affairs at the White House.

At One Leap The wife of the Negro Congressman made her climb into social eminece at a single leap. Not before had she been seen in Washington social circles outside of her own race.

There was much talk tonight about what would be the effect of Mrs. Hoover's entertainment. Did it mean that Washington society would have to include the wife of the Negro Congressman on their intimate social register?

President Hoover has been severely criticized in the Negro press because of failure to give recognition to the Negro race. Presumably the invitation to the wife of DePriest was to offset some of this criticism.

Calling attention recently to the famous statement of Frederick Douglas, noted Negro orator, that the Republican party is the ship and all the rest is the sea, a Washington Negro paper said that Hoover had nailed to its mast "For Whites Only."

It is a favorite method of the President to answer criticism with performance rather than statements and admission of the wife of the Chicago Negro Congressman to the White House is supposed to have resulted from such charges.

DePriest's wife recognized that she was playing an epochal part in society. She was modestly dressed. None there excelled her in correctness of costume.

Mr. Frederick R. Taylor, of High Point, Director of the Health Maintenance Bureau of the State Board of Health, was in Louisburg Monday in the interest of the research and check up work of his department, which is conducting a systematic system of information on the subjects of heart, cancer, and kidney troubles in North Carolina.

In speaking of this work, Dr. Taylor explained that the medical profession had succeeded in its efforts to control tuberculosis, typhoid fever, and many other contagious diseases, and through this control had greatly decreased the death rate each year.

CHICKEN SUPPER GREATLY ENJOYED

It was a large and jovial crowd that gathered in front of the open doors of the Fire House on Tuesday evening, June 18, to enjoy the Annual Chicken Supper of the Louisburg Fire Department, an occasion always looked forward to and greatly enjoyed by the firemen and their friends.

When every one had partaken of the delicious feast to his fullest capacity, several of the gentlemen present responded to the request for a few remarks.

Mayor L. L. Joyner spoke on "The Value of the Fire Department" especially mentioning and laying stress on the fact that the boys composing the department had made so many heroic sacrifices in many instances to save life and property.

Chief Holland, of the Raleigh Fire Department, expressed his great pleasure at being present at so delightful an affair; while Rev. J. D. Miller, Rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, greatly complimented the department by relating the idea of being able to learn new tricks in old age to the fact that year by year he realized more and more the value of so heroic a department to the town and citizens.

Mr. Sherwood Brockwell, Chief Fire Marshall of North Carolina, spoke to the firemen on the subject "Why should a Man be a Volunteer Fireman?" answering this question by saying that it is the American idealism of wishing to do something to help others that prompts men to enter this service.

Mr. Brockwell was very lavish in his praise of the way the Louisburg Fire truck is kept, saying that it is the second best kept truck in the State of North Carolina. He complimented the Town Commissioners on how they have always stood by the Fire Department and said that when the Fire Department asked for anything it is well for the Commissioners to grant it, although, of course, they have a perfect right to investigate beforehand.

In presenting these ideas, Mr. Brockwell explained that the public in general should give unlimited co-operation and appreciation for these services rendered by the volunteer firemen.

Dr. A. H. Fleming threw many bouquets at the Fire Department in telling of sacrifices made and work done by its members, stating meanwhile that at a recent meeting of the Board of Commissioners plans were discussed concerning furnishing better quarters for the Department.

Chief J. S. Howell spoke for the Fire Department expressing their delight at having so many friends with them on this occasion, and their appreciation of the remarks made concerning the Department and its work.

The Louisburg Fire Department had as its guests besides the firemen, L. L. Joyner, Mayor, F. H. Allen, and Dr. A. H. Fleming, of the Board of Town Commissioners, and a number of friends, the following out of town guests: J. L. Parks, Chief of the Henderson Fire Department, and Melvin Grissom, of the Henderson Fire Department.

THINGS TAKING DEFINITE SHAPE FOR SESQUI

While the severe storm the past Saturday interfered with the attendance, yet there were quite a number present at the meeting called by Dr. D. T. Smithwick, Historian for Franklin County, for all committees and others interested in making Franklin County Sesqui Centennial a success to meet at the Court House in Louisburg on Saturday afternoon, June 15, at 4 o'clock for the purpose of making final plans for the big day.

A most enthusiastic mass meeting at the Court House Monday night, presided over by E. H. Malone, endorsed the work of the Franklin County Historical Association, and after appointing F. J. Beasley Chairman of Finance Committee to raise $500.00 for financing the Sesqui Centennial, by a unanimous rising vote full support and aid was pledged to the President and officers of the Association through their efforts for a successful occasion.

Dr. Smithwick says, "Please remember that all suggestions as to program so far have been tentative. The final and last word can and will be said as conditions develop. There are, however, a few things final in the plans of the governing committee, composed of the President, Mrs. Ben T. Holden, the Secretary, Dr. D. T. Smithwick, Major S. P. Boddie, Mrs. James Malone and Hill Yarborough. There will be no effort on the part of the management to feed the crowd or to control their partaking of their picnic lunch in any manner they desire. Lumber will be provided several days in advance and placed on the grounds for the convenience of those wishing to erect refreshment stands. The forecast is for twenty thousand to attend, and enjoy a great home coming day. There will be a program of good speeches, music, a grand parade, baseball and plenty of very interesting features. There is a united interest and effort in planning and providing for these things. None of these activities could be possible in any community without the co-operation of a capable and active news and publicity service. I hope the value of our local paper will be more fully realized. The Franklin Times has given every assistance in an effort to aid the County in fittingly celebrating her 150th Anniversary, and Great Home Coming Day, July 4th."

"Prof. W. F. Marshall, of Raleigh, says, I will be with you July 4th, stress the idea of a great home coming and family reunion July 4th. It is interesting to hear so many people who attended the Centennial fifty years ago say I have always looked back to that day as the happiest event and day of my life."

Costs too much to produce milk Raleigh, June 17—Usually when an industry is new, the cost of production is high. Such is the condition of the new dairy industry of North Carolina.

"Milk is being produced at too high a cost in this State partly because of inexperience and undeveloped conditions and largely because of prospective dairymen are neglecting to produce feed for the cow and young heifers," says A. C. Kimrey, dairy specialist at State College. Usually we give more attention to securing a higher price for our milk rather than to produce it for less. We must begin to think of producing milk cheaply.

To do this, he says, a low cost, succulent roughage must be provided. The kind of roughage will depend somewhat on the location of the dairy farm but if a sufficient amount of fairly cheap land is available, no better roughage can be had than that supplied in summer by a good grass pasture. Such grass gives nutrients for milk production and supplies vitamins necessary to the health of the cow. Silage for year-around succulence will cost more than pasture.

The next thing needed is an abundant supply of legume hay. This is needed if young heifers are to be grown into good cows and if milk is to be provided at low cost. Alfalfa is the cheapest source of such hay. Where alfalfa hay cannot be grown, other legumes should by all means be provided, says Mr. Kimrey.

Milk can never be produced at low cost in the absence of cheap, suitable feeds and these are impossible unless they are grown at or near the place where they are to be fed and thus save the expense of merchandising and transporting. Concentrates must of course be added to the roughages and if the soil is not fertile enough to grow these, they must be purchased until the land has been built up.

Two women held in connection with whiskey Annie Belle Johnson and Glenn Long were brought to Louisburg Wednesday and placed in jail in default of bond, to answer to a charge of aiding and abetting in distilling, having been caught at a blockade still that morning by Deputy Sheriff B. B. Brantley. Two men were also caught, names not available, but gave bond for their appearance at court.

CREAMERY COMPLETES SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The Farmer's Creamery, Inc., of Louisburg, completed its first year of business on May 16, with an exceedingly successful record during the year both for the creamery and for its patrons. Enthusiasm, created among the farmers of this county and adjoining section at the opening of the creamery has greatly increased. As evidence of this fact, eight carloads of cows, several of which were registered, have been sold here within the past two years, and sixteen registered bulls have been bought by farmers in this community since last fall.

At present, arrangements are being made to bring in a carload of registered heifers in the early fall. Arrangements are also being made to hold a bull sale about the same time.

More preparations for dairying are being made by the farmers in this section. Two silos were recently bought, more permanent pastures are being planted, and more feed is being grown at home. It is in evidence that the farmers are beginning to realize that feed must be raised at home in order to reap the greatest benefits.

The production of the Creamery has practically doubled since its beginning. Up to the present time, it has not been able to supply the demand for butter.

The Creamery is running five routes in different directions from Louisburg, on which routes the creamery trucks collect cream and deliver butter. All of the routes are greatly on the increase; one has tripled since the first of the year. The Cream station established and operated at Wendell is picking up right along. Cream is being shipped to the Louisburg Creamery as far east as Mackeys, N. C., being shipped from Roper to Rocky Mount where it is taken up by the Creamery truck.

A good amount of cream is shipped to the creamery from Northampton County.

Both farmers and merchants are beginning to patronize the Creamery more and more, and "Pride of Franklin" butter is becoming more and more popular everyday.

HEAVY STORMS VISIT LOUISBURG VICINITY

Louisburg and vicinity was the center of severe storms the past week. An exceedingly heavy wind, rain and hail storm visited Louisburg on Tuesday afternoon. It seemed to follow the river and did much damage to crops, trees, electric light and telephone lines. In Louisburg a large number of trees were blown down or badly twisted to pieces, among which were I in the college grove, I on the Graded School campus, one in front of Pres. A. W. Mohn's home and many others.

The city light and power plant was put out of commission for several hours because of broken wires and burned fuses, and telephone and telegraph connection to the outside world was severed. No damage to buildings or persons has been reported. At one time the streets in Louisburg were literally covered with small hail stones. Gardens and crops suffered badly for a distance of about two miles.

On Monday afternoon a heavy storm visited a section Northeast of Louisburg doing much damage from hail, wind and rain. Louisburg's portion of this storm was mostly wind and rain. The crops being small the damage is not expected to be as great as it appears to be.

LOUISBURG BAPTIST CHURCH

The sermon topics of the Rev. S. L. Blanton at the Louisburg Baptist Church for Sunday morning at 11 on June 16th will be "The Stewardship of Life". The regular evening service at 8 p. m. will be given over to the commencement exercises of the Daily Vacation Bible School which closes on Friday of this week. The parents of the children who have attended this school are especially urged to be present at the commencement service.

Mr. Blanton spoke last Sunday to a large and attentive congregation on "Character Building". The sermon was based on the parable of the wise and foolish builders spoken by Jesus in concluding paragraph of the Sermon on the Mount. The speaker insisted that the principles of Jesus were eternal and impervious to the forces of decay and destruction. He declared that building one's character on these principles was like building on solid rock. The ordinary virtues of honesty, courage, purity, and dependability form the framework for Christian character, the speaker declared. Religion, he said, is something to be done as well as believed. Will, thought, and action combine to form personality and character.
