STINT ON FEED; LOSE ON EGGS.

Raleigh, August 12—Cutting down the poultry feed; especially the laying mash, in summer means that laying will be seriously curtailed not only for the present season but later.

Our experimental records show that to curtail or discontinue the laying mash to hens during late summer will result in poor yields of eggs later, says Dr. B. F. Kaupp, head of the poultry department of State College. "The body of the hen must be maintained first and if sufficient feed is not furnished, she will use that given for egg production to build up her body. Production of eggs will fall off and if the hen draws on her body supply of nutrients, she will suffer in vigor so that production later will not be satisfactory."

If not sufficiently fed, the hen will draw on her body supply of fat to build the yolk of the egg and on her storehouse of minerals and vitamins to put into the egg. This drainage affects the condition of the body, says Dr. Kaupp, and undermines the health of the bird. He insists that the hen needs a mash feed along with the right amount of grain each day. When putting on the new growth of 2,000 feathers, she needs additional care and attention.

White corn, fed alone, will not give a hen all the food nutrients needed. While the egg is 65 percent water, it also contains 10 percent of fat, 14 percent of protein and 11 percent of minerals, mostly in the shell. Therefore, laying hens must have a good laying mash and grain feed each day in the year. In addition to this, each hen must also have at least seven pounds of green feed to each 100 birds every 100.

If these requirements are met, there is no reason why some eggs might not be secured throughout the summer and the body of the bird suffer no diminution in vigor for future production.

MASS MEETING IN THE NEW COLORED SCHOOL BUILDING

All of the colored people who are interested in the school this coming session which begins Monday Sept. 2nd are asked to attend a mass meeting to be held at the school building on Sunday afternoon Aug. 18 at 3 o'clock which is very important in regard to our high school work. The school will have a good strong faculty, who will take special interest in each boy and girl and find out their greatest needs and help them in every way we can. The laws of North Carolina are strict on the attendance of each child every day, so let us put our children in school the first day and help keep the school laws as far as we can. The school building will be open August, 29th, 30th, 31st to give any information to parents or children about the school. Begin now to get your children ready for the opening day. We have a fine new building with nice furniture and all other necessary conveniences for our boys and girls. We feel proud and thankful for this beautiful building. Now let us show our appreciation and gratitude by sending our boys and girls to school. Don't let us wait for the laws of the state to force us to do our duty for our children. Don't forget the meeting Sunday afternoon.

George C. Pollard, Principal.

Mrs. T. W. Beckett, of Raleigh was a visitor of Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Yarborough Saturday.

THREE KILLED NEAR SANFORD

They the two would be robbers, Ola and Lee Birdsong, of Louisville, Ky., and the third, Gaither Edwards, the proprietor of the station. Mrs. Edwards, the latter's wife, is in Scott's hospital in this city with two bullet wounds, one in her shoulder and one in her leg. While badly wounded, it is thought she may recover.

Holding Woman. The officers are holding in Lee county jail, a woman claiming to be a Mrs. Montgomery, who with an 18-month old child, was in the Chevrolet coach with the men. Upon being questioned she told the officers that one of the men was her uncle by marriage, and that they were bringing her and her baby to North Carolina to find relatives, she claims that she was asleep on the rear seat of the car and knew nothing of the attempted robbery until awakened by pistol shots.

BERRY PERRY

In the recent passing of Berry Perry, Bethlehem Church and community sustains a real loss. Though very quiet and unassuming, he was one of our most loyal members and one of our most consistent and faithful Christians in this community.

The church wishes to express its gratitude to God for such a young consecrated life as his, and to urge upon all our folks the great importance of accepting and serving Christ in the days of youth.

PASTOR.

CHARLES ERNEST RICHARDS (1875-1929)

On July 16, 1929, the radiant soul of Charles Ernest Richards went home to Heaven. Bethlehem Church and community have never had a stauncher friend than he has been for the past thirty years. There is not a life among us that has not been enriched by his bravery for the right, his deep love for his home and church, his sacrificial service to his community, and his sincere friendly interest in every one who knew him.

Realizing its keen loss, the church wishes to express to the family its deep gratitude for his life and service, and its loving sympathy in their sore bereavement. Our prayer is that every child and grandchild, and every neighbor will follow in his footsteps of love and service.
