services at the Methodist Church Sunday night were given over to a union service of all the churches, it being made a service of tribute to Mr. A. W. Mohn who has resigned as President of Louisburg College. Rev. John Archie McIver, former pastor of the Louisburg Baptist and a very dear friend of President Mohn, gave the tribute to this parting friend using as his text the words "That I May Know" spoken by the ancient educator, Paul. Mr. And A. S. Cotton Speaks-Trustees McIver says there are four important things to know; material things, self, others, and most of all "Him". These he says, Mr. Mohn has in his work striven to instill in the youth of Louisburg College, especially the knowledge of "Him". #### SEVEN MILLION POUNDS SOLD TUESDAY

Prices Somewhat Disappointing Range From 12 to 16 Cent Average.

The following report was taken from Tuesdays News-Observer.

Tobacco sales on the 18 markets of the North Carolina New Belt yesterday totalled around 7,000 600 pounds, according to a compile tion of unofficial figures last night. Unofficial averages varied fro estimated 12 cents per pound at Ne

Bern to 16 cents a pound at Enfield.

Prices Disappointing. As a rule the prices were not a high as had been anticipated in view of reports which had come in from the Georgia and South Carolina markets. The impression has been gen eral that the quality of the crop better this year and the crop smaller. This combination of circumstances with the reported increased consump tion of cigarettes was relied on to give a stiff boost to prices, but the was not niticeable and in one place farmers said the prices were o'clock at the Franklin Hotel, the Louisburg Kiwanis Club held its regular meeting, at which a Louisburg College program was presented.

After the songs and stunts, Mr. A. W. Mohn, President of Louisburg College, spoke on a subject vital to Louisburg and Franklin County, "Louisburg College—Its Present and Future". In discussing this subject, Mr. Mohn told the history of the col-lege mentioning some of the difficulit and its Board of Trustees have battled against resulting in the present standing of the institution. Regardless, however, Mr. Mohn stressed, the college has struggled and climbed, some indebtedness remains, the outstanding of which might be cleared if all the Franklin County pledges were paid. Then bidding farewell to the club which he founded he plead with the Kiwanians to be loyal to the incoming president of Louisburg College whoever he may be.

At this meeting arrangements were of the Henderson, Warrenton, and Louisburg Clubs at Henderson Tuesday night, September 3rd.
