BLOCKADER SETS FIRE
TO OFFICERS' CAR AS THEY RAID BIG STILL

United States prohibition officers as well as county deputies active in waging war on the blockaders are facing a new menace on their raids, which appeared in this section Thursday when a negro distiller of sympathizer set fire to a government automobile and burned it up while two agents were breaking up a still.

The burning of the automobile, a high-powered touring car, occurred on Granville-Warren line when Agents McDuffie and Diddick visited a blockade whiskey plant. They left the machine at a house occupied by a negro woman, found the still half a mile away, and returned after breaking up the plant to find their automobile nothing but charred machinery.

Officer McDuffie stated that the only information obtained about the affair was given them by the woman. She told them she saw a strange negro approach the car, lift the hood and later was seen walking away from the scene as the machine burst into flames.

Bloodhounds were obtained and put on the trail of the negro. They followed a route through woods and fields some distance until the trail was lost on the highway. It is thought the negro joined his companions in an automobile.

It is the first time that blockaders have retaliated against officers by burning their cars in this section of the State. A few years ago, however, Officer McDuffie lost a government car by burning in Martin County.—Raleigh Times.

PUBLIC SCHOOL
— ENROLLMENT FIGURES

Raleigh, Sept. 2.—Approximately 110,000 boys and girls were enrolled in the public high schools of the State during the session just closed. It was learned today at the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction from a summary of the figures taken from reports of these high schools.

A total of 96,739, or 88 per cent of the 109,975, were white boys and girls. The remaining 13,236 were Negro pupils, 3,779 in rural schools and 9,457 in city schools. More than 61,000 of the white children attended rural high schools, and over 35,000 attended city schools.

Five years ago, 1923-24, there were only 32,415 rural boys and girls and 26,369 city children, a total of 58,784 boys and girls, seeking high school education. The large increase of 89 per cent in number of rural boys and girls taking advantage of the opportunity of a high school education indicates, according to school authorities, the holding power of the recently erected rural high schools. "Formerly," they say, "most rural boys and girls left the elementary school provided for them without seeking the advantages of a high school education, whereas now these same rural boys and girls in increasing numbers go on to the high schools provided for them."

This past year, there were 35,410 white children in the eight grade, 26,333 in the ninth grade, 19,859 in the tenth grade, and 15,137 in the eleventh grade a total of 96,739, or nearly 7,000 more than in 1927-28.

Buncombe County leads the State in having the largest number of rural white boys and girls, 2,394, enrolled in public high schools. More than one-fourth of the rural white high school enrollment in the following eleven counties: Buncombe, 2,394; Mecklenburg, 1,635; Johnston, 1,599; Union, 1,508; Guilford, 1,476; Rutherford, 1,451; Robeson, 1,308; Harnett, 1,159; and Forsyth, 1,131.

DIES SUDDENLY SUNDAY

Herbert Littlejohn, colored, aged about forty-five years died almost suddenly, about ten-thirty o'clock Sunday Morning near the home of Dr. Davis on South Main street. Herbert had started home and just as he turned into mineral springs road from Main street near Dr. Davis he received the fatal attack. Dr. Davis hearing the noise made by Littlejohn went out to investigate and seeing him falling ran out and rendered medical attention but to no avail. In Herbert's pocket was found a little box containing a small pink tablet, which is supposed to contain some narcotic from which an overdose produced the fatal results, it being stated that he had been in the habit of taking these for headache for sometime. Quite a large number viewed the remains of the deceased before they were removed to his home.

The anti-knock qualities of Esso are constantly being tested in the "Standard" laboratories on "knock-testing" machines like that shown in this picture. This is one of the many precautions taken to maintain in Esso the lowest of all knock ratings.

Esso is much more than an "anti-knock" fuel. It is a power fuel such as you have never used before.

Esso is made from special stock. To this base is added a special combination of anti-knock compounds, including tetra-ethyl lead.

If your motor knocks you are wasting power. But you will find you simply cannot get a gas knock from your motor with Esso. It has the lowest of all knock ratings.
