JUDGE NUNN MAKES SPLENDID CHARGE

R. Z. Clarke Fined $100 For Violation Hit and Run Law, Other Charges Nol Prossed-Many Cases Disposed Of in Franklin Superior Court Becess Wednesday till Thursday Account Fair-Grand Jury Still in Session

"A good citizen ought to have the courage and willingness to see that his neighbor does the right thing, and he should be willing to do the right thing himself," said Judge Romulus A. Nunn, in his charge to the grand Jury at the compine of the grand Jury at the opening of Franklin Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases, on Monday morning. Judge Nunn selected f or the foundation of his charge the reason for and plan of selecting the grand jury, its relation to our system of justice, and the duty of a grand jurcr, and made a most excellent charge. In doing this he pointed out in an exceedingly clear manner how the changing of the conditions brought about the necessity of new and dirferent laws for the protection of the public. For instance, in 1895 we needed no laws governing automo-bile because we had none. The law in reference to spitting on the sidewalks was a health measure. He took occasion to tell the jury and his hearers that it wasn't so much the duty of lawyers to convict or clear a defendant as it was to strive to see that equal and fair justice is given all. He is an officer of the court and it is his duty to use his knowledge to a fair administration of justice. He directed the jury to investigate all crime and make spection and inquiry into all public institutions within the County.

The Grand Jury is composed of the following gentlemen: J. A. Wheless, Foreman, E. C. Wrenn, J. R. Ricks, M. G. Perry, N. K. Bartholomew, J. M. Gilliam, A. L. Batchelor, J. T. Timberlake, J. E. Joyner, S. M. Boone, M. L. Fowler, B. G. Bobbitt, R. M. Johnson, W. T. Clay, J. C. Dickerson, F. D. Bunn, J. W. Blackley, N. C. Mullen, H. F. Perry was made officer to grand jury.

Constable Frank M. Ayescue, who was held for court under a $5000 bond by Judge R. A. Nunn in a habeas corpus hearing in Raleigh, after he had been discharged in a pre-liminary hearing by Judge J. L. Pal-mer, for the murder of Butch Littlejohn at Mitchell Chapel, a colored church eight miles north of Louis-burg on Sunday, September 15th, was acquitted by the grand jury on Tues-day when it found not a true bill charging Ayescue with murder. Their action was in accord with Judge Palmer in the preliminary hearing when they found in substance that no crime had been committed because of the fact that Ayescue was in the dis-charge of his duty as an officer and acted in self defense.

The cases taken up Monday were of minor nature and several were disposed of

Out of thirty seven answers to the missing letter feature of the Com-munity page last week, which come from all sections of Franklin County and as far away as Washington City, only one pershn sent in the correct list. This person was Mrs. E. J. Cheatham, of Franklinton, who entered her son Pinckney Harris Cheatham. There were five words with missing letters and her letter contained the correct list only. Three others, Mrs. Rob't. B. Wheless, of Louisburg Route 1, Miss Constance Matthews, of Spring Hope, and Miss Louzelle Gupton, Route 4, Louisburg, also sent in the correct list but included other words missuelled. They cluded other words misspelled. They were declared winners in the order named by the Committee composed of Messrs. O. C. Hill and G. W. Ford.

The five words were tobacco in Southside warehouse write up a miss-ing; highest in Union Warehouse advertisement a missing; accessories in Beck's Garage advertisement s miss-ing; find in Wheless write up d missing, and every in Tonkel's write

We thank each one for entering the feature and hope they will try again. We also extend our thanks to the Committee for their assistance

IMPROVES DIRT STREETS

The Street Committee of Louisburg composed of Messrs Malcolm McKin ne, A. W. Person and G. W. Ford, are to be commended for the big im-provement they have made in the unpaved Streets in Louisburg the past month or more and congratulated upon the economy put into practice in this work. These streets have been scorified, graded and sloped, in addition to having been drained and many pieces of culverting placed in necessary places. Several of these streets have been widened, others extended and some portions actually rebuilt and all have been gone over with a drag, which has put them in splendid shape. A few more drag-gings and a few repairs made in the new work that was damaged by the recent rains will put these streets in excellent condition:

In speaking of this work Mr. Mc-Kinne, Chairman, said "the prettiest part of the whole matter is the cheapness with which the work was done."
The figures he gave the TIMES shows it cost $876.00 to put the streets in good condition and $444.32 for culverting to drain them, making a tota lcost of $1320.32 as compared with a cost of $2461.00 on practically the same work with less distance, a few years back.

Supt. O. C. Hill and Chief of Po-lice B. H. Meadows were especially commended by Mr. McKinne for the splendid assistance and cooperation given him and his committee in this

MR. D. E. BEST DEAD

And Most Progressive Citizens.

Mr. Don E. Best, one of Franklin County's most progressive and highly respected citizens, died at his home near mapleville Sunday afternoon at

Mr. Best had been in ill health for a number of years and his condition had been serious for about a week. He leaves one daughter, Miss Mary Best and two sons, Mr. John H. Best, and Supt. E. L. Best, besides a large number of relatives and friends.

Mr. Best was a true southern gen-tleman, possessing all the qualifica-tions included in this term and his death brings a deep sorrow to the people of the Mapleville Community, where he spent most of his life's ac tivities. He was ever actively interested in the religious and social life of his Community and County, lending his influence to the forward movement for good in all things. To his neighbors and friends he was one of nature's noblemen, brave, generous, manly. His was a heart of gold and the soul of honor, and his friends and friendships were sacred to him.

All this was attested by the large concourse attending the funeral ser-vices held at the home at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon conducted by Rev. A. L. Thompson, who likened the life of the deceased to Tennyson in his last poem "Crossing the Bar." Rev. Thompson, pastor of Shiloh Methodis church, to which the deceased was greatly attached and greatly loved, was assisted by Revs. Daniel Lane, pastor of Louisburg Methodist church and S. L. Blanton, pastor of Louis-burg Baptist church. The interment was made at Oaklawn Cemetery, where a large crowd had gathered to pay a last loving tribute, and the remains were left resting under a huge bank of beautiful flowers. The floral tribute was sufficiently large to cover the graves of the wife and daughter of the deceased who had preceeded him many years, at well.

The pallbearers were S. P. Boddie,

The Church was a beautiful background for the wedding party. A great profusion of ferns and goldenrod and other fall flowers were banked about the altar and in the chancel, and blended perfectly into the color scheme of yellow, green and brown.

The ushers were Messrs John B.

Yarborough, Jr., of Hendersonville, Richard F. Yarborough, III, brothers of the bride, Robert Hunter Cross, of Gatesville, brother of the groom, and Thomas W. Costan, of Gatesville,

A large number of relatives and friends from North Carolina and other states were present for the cere nony.

The bride is one of Louisburg's most popular young women. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Yarborough, and is throughout the State.

The groom is the son of Mrs. W. T. Cross and the late Mr. W. T. Cross, who was for a number of years Clerk of Court of Gates County. The groom himself is now Register of Deeds of Gates County, and is well-known and
