

Heavy Vote Being Cast by Public Watching Progress of Entrants

$1,500 Contest Now In Full Swing

EXTRA VOTES LOWER STARTING MONDAY

Out-of-town Candidates in Franklin Times Big $1500.00 Subscription and Prize Contest Beginning to Realize Opportunity of Double Votes. Community Spirit Being Aroused as Surrounding Towns in County Boost Home Town Candidates. Campaign May Result in Battle Between Louisburg Candidates and Contenders From Rest of County. Votes On Subscriptions Will be Lower After Next Week.

The list of contestants in The Franklin Times Big $1500.00 Subscription and Prize campaign shows some new names, as well as those candidates whose entries were received in time to be published in the first list last week. As will be noticed by looking over the list the vote totals have increased considerably, for there have been a great many of the free votes brought in and sent in to the campaign office for the different candidates. Practical evidence of the interest that the folks of the County are beginning to show in the progress of their favorites.

A well known business man happened to be in the TIMES office the other day and when asked to name the candidate to whom he was going to give his subscription replied that he was going to wait awhile to see just who stayed in the race before he cast his vote. Perhaps this is an example of the response that the candidates are meeting in their quest for subscriptions. However, the minute you convince folks you ask that you are in the campaign actively to stay you will get their practical support. Candidates must have patience and confidence in their own ability to make possible the fulfillment of the promises given to them on their first call.

The out of town candidates are proving worthy rivals of the Louisburg contenders, and several excellent reports were made by them last week. Great interest is being shown by the folks in the surrounding towns in the progress of the home candidates, among whom there are several active workers. This is only natural and right. When the campaign was planned by the publishers of The Franklin Times the double votes were offered to encourage out-of-town contenders, and they owe it to themselves to make the most of the opportunity. If they make a diligent canvass of their own territory and enlist the support, the practical support, in the way of subscriptions, of their friends and neighbors, they will find plenty of subscribers enough to win a car.

The list of subscribers to The Franklin Times is now available and any candidate who wishes a copy of the list of readers in his or her home town, or in any town or rural route in the county should advise the Campaign office and the list will be sent at once. However, do not make the mistake of canvassing present readers alone. There is a big field of non-readers of The Franklin Times who will give a new subscription to help you win, and they should not be overlooked.

Some of the earlier entrants have already dropped by the wayside and the votes that their friends sent in for them have been wasted. But their places have been taken by others, determined to stay in the race till the last gun is fired—determined to win. You can't beat spirit like that—it refuses to acknowledge defeat. For the battle has just begun—the battle of ballots. The leaders have yet to emerge from the crowd. The field is hunched-places are changing constantly. The pace is getting a little warmer, perhaps, and as one observer remarked: "It is no place for a weakling." But the prizes are big—worth working for—worth a little spare time effort these next few weeks. The contest will be won on merit alone—merit derived from intelligent, earnest endeavor—the stuff real folks are made of.

Any candidate whose name has been taken from the list may be reinstated by making at least one subscription report. The list of candidates will be cut down to just the actual workers, as soon as possible so that the public will know whom to support.

This is an ideal time to start an active campaign, and there is still room for energetic, ambitious entrants. Public interest has been aroused, and it will not take long for a real worker to convince folks that he or she means business, and is out to win one of those autos. An opportunity like this does not come every day, and anyone who wishes to exchange a few weeks spare time effort for a fine, new automobile is invited to enter the campaign and try.

Active candidate realize, of course, the great importance of making a good showing this current week. Tomorrow night sees the end of the first extra vote period. It means that the extra votes on each twenty dollars turned in drop from fifty thousand to thirty thousand, starting Monday. So make it your aim to obtain and turn in as many of those sets as possible before the period changes.

A week from tomorrow night sees the end of the First Regular Vote Period. It means that the votes on subscriptions will be lower starting Monday November 26th and will remain so till the closing date, December 7th. Candidates are advised to study the vote schedule printed on each subscription receipt book. Do not fail to show the vote schedule to those whom you ask for subscriptions. Show them that they are giving you more by giving their subscriptions this week, or next. Quote the old saying: "Those who give quick, give double."

Candidates who live outside Louisburg, and do not find it convenient to call at the campaign office Saturday night, may mail their reports, and they will be credited with the high votes, if received Monday.

MRS. R. A. JENNINGS DEAD

Mrs. R. A. Jennings died at her home on North Main Street on Thursday of last week at 12 o'clock after having been in ill health for a number of years. She was in her 42nd year and besides her husband leaves one son, Richard Jennings, of New York, her mother Mrs. Bettie Humphries, one sister, Mrs. A. C. Barcliff, of Newhope in Perquimans County and two brothers, Messrs J. E. and George Humphries, of Elizabeth City.

Mrs. Jennings was a most estimable woman, was a consistent Methodist, moving her membership from Newhope to Louisburg when coming to Louisburg to live some years ago.

Her remains were taken back to her old home and interred in the cemetery at Newhope church, of which she was a former member, after the funeral services were conducted by Rev. — Smith. A beautiful floral tributes covered the new-made grave in token of the esteem she was held by her many friends.

The bereaved family has the deepest sympathy of a large number of friends.

JNO. W. KING MOVES TO MAIN STREET LOCATION

Mr. Jno. W. King, who has been conducting a most successful grocery and meat business on Market street for a long number of years, has moved to the room under the Union Warehouse formerly occupied by Peoples and Beasley. Mr. King informs the TIMES that in his new location he will be enabled to make a better display of his goods and give better service.

TOWN COMMISSIONERS MEET

The Board of Town Commissioners met in regular monthly session for the transaction of business, on Monday night.

On roll call there were present, Mayor L. L. Joyner and Commissioners F. H. Allen, Malcolm McKinne, A. W. Person, W. E. White and Dr. A. H. Fleming. The minutes of the last several meetings were read and approved.

The Clerk was ordered to pay $2,500.00 anticipation note due the First National Bank Nov. 10th.

On motion of Mr. McKinne and second by Mr. Allen it was recommended that a License fee of $50.00 be charged for the sale of fire works. On roll call those voting Aye, McKinne and Allen. Voting No, Fleming and Person. Not voting W. E. White. The Mayor cast the deciding vote in favor of the resolution.

Mr. S. E. Waters presented a bid for paving Bull Run Alley. His bid called for $986.09. There was much discussion over the project and it was finally agreed that the town would make the contract for 1,000.00 provided Mr. Waters would pay all engineering charges and adjoining property holders pay cash for one half of the contract price as stated, viz, 1000.00.

Mr. Hill was ordered to make water connections for C. A. Ragland at his residence on Main Street and keep cost of the expenditures and render a bill to Mr. Ragland for expense of same.

The report of the Chief of Police was read and approved.

The report of the Auditor was read and approved.

No further business the meeting adjourned.

NEW FIRM COMES TO LOUISBURG

A Lazarus, is the name of a new firm for Louisburg that will carry a full and complete line of mens and ladies ready to wear, shoes, yard goods, etc., and is occupying the store room on Main street formerly occupied by M. Rabl, next to the Farmers & Merchants Bank. The business is in charge of L. Lazarus, of Valdosta, Ga., and who formerly had charge of the business of Lazarus Brothers, of Raleigh. Mr. Lazarus is assisted by Mr. J. P. Joyner, of Valdosta, Ga. Mr. Lazarus informs the TIMES that he is going to carry the best there is in his line at reasonable prices. Read his advertisement in another column.

THE DEACON SLIPS

The Deacon Slips will be given in the Bunn High School auditorium Friday night November 15, at eight o'clock. It is a comedy in three acts—enough laughs to last a month. In addition to this main play there will be a trial of Mr. Ain't for the murder of Mr Good Evilah.

AT HOME

Complimenting Mrs. C. C. Alexander, the Louisburg College Faculty will be at home to their friends Tuesday afternoon, November, nineteenth, from four to five o'clock.

"COOL KNIGHTS" NOV. 26TH

American Legion Auxiliary to Stage Musical Comedy Benefit Show

Louisburg will laugh when "Cool Knights" and clever comedienne, present a rollicking, frolicking, College Comedy, under the direction of the Triangle Producing Co. at the Mills High School.

The Legion Auxiliary is busy now trying to assemble the best talent of town, and next rehearsals will start on the seasons theatrical treat. It is a benefit performance for the Disabled World War Veterans at Oteen Hospital.

The plot of "COOL KNIGHTS" is clever and attractive. Kollege Kids and Ko-eds will be seen in their most serious moods,—and what else could that be except comedy? Adventure, love, jealousy, and heroism, come near to making a tragedy, but comedy wins. For fear that it might cut down the attendance, this modern masterpiece will not be broadcasted.

In it's next issue the TIMES will carry the cast of characters, those who would make Hollywood hungry, if Hollywood but knew about 'em.

CHRISTMAS SEALS CAMPAIGN

The Christmas Seal Campaign opens November 30th.

The sale of seals last year exceeded that of any previous year. This year the workers anticipate a large gain on last years sales.

The good accomplished by tuberculosis Christmas Seals is told in many ways.

Diphtheria can be controlled through immunization; typhoid fever, through community-sanitation and immunization, small pox through vaccination, but there is no short cut to the control of tuberculosis.

The lessening of the disease is largely dependent upon the control of environment into which a child is born. The public must be educated to lead healthful lives, with especial attention to the children's health, if tuberculosis is to be wiped out.

The bulk of the funds raised by the annual Christmas Seals is used to educate the public; in community health education, annual physical examinations, open air schools, camps, sanitarium care, or supervision of a public health nurse for active cases.

Through the sale of Christmas seals, relief is brought to many suffering with the dread disease.

Franklin County hopes to gain sufficient amount this year to take care of at least one or two patients in the Sanitarium—$30.00 per month for charity patients.

The local organization is offering two prizes to County Schools this year selling largest number of seals—first prize $10.00, second $5.00.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

During this week, November 11-17, which has been set aside by the National Congress of Parents and Teachers as "American Education Week," special effort has been made at Mills High School in Louisburg to make the week a success here. Special programs and lectures are and have been held throughout the week. The programs for the week follows:

Monday, November 11—Education for Citizenship.—Col. H. A. Newell. Exercises—Primary Grades of Mills School.

Tuesday, Nov. 12—Better Citizenship Through Home and School.—Dr. C. C. Alexander. Exercises—Fourth and fifth grades of Mills School.

Wednesday, Nov. 13—Know your School—Superintendent E. L. Best. Exercises—Two minutes talks by Mills High School Students.

Thursday, Nov. 14—Educational Effectiveness.—Prof. J. J. Wolfe. Exercises—Demonstration by Home Economics Class.

Friday, Nov. 15—Education for Health.—Dr. H. H. Johnson. Exercises—Sixth and seventh Grades.

Sunday, Nov. 17—The pastor of each church has been requested to preach from an educational standpoint; and an effort is being made to get every man, woman, and child in church on that day.

These programs are open to the public and are being given for everyone's benefit. The programs that have already taken place have been very interesting and have aroused great interest among the people of the town in the Special American Educational Week.

AUXILIARY TO MEET

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet with Mrs F. B. Leonard on Tuesday afternoon Nov. 19th at 3:30.

Mrs. J. Forrest Joyner, Secy.

COTTON REPORT

The tabulation of the card reports show that there were 5,322 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales; ginned in Franklin County from the crop of 1929 prior to November 1, 1929, as compared with 11,071 bales ginned to November 1, 1928.

THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks and appreciation to the people who so kindly rendered their services and expression of sympathy during the illness and death of our wife and mother.

R. A. Jennings & Family.

SPECIAL ARMISTICE DAY SERVICES

A most impressive Armistice Day service was held at the Baptist Church in Louisburg on Sunday November 10. The Church was beautifully and appropriately decorated, a large gold star made of yellow chrysanthemums and a large red cross made of salira amidst a profusion of other flowers and the flags being displayed to advantage.

The pastor, Rev. S. L. Blanton, was himself in the World War having been actively engaged in the famous battle of September 29 which broke the Hindenburg line, and he spoke from actual experience, not from hearsay, on "What the World War Taught Me." An unusually large crowd from all parts of the county attended this service.

On Monday, November 11, at the Mills Graded School in Louisburg, an Armistice Day program was also put on, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. The first, second, and third grades of the school rendered the first part of the program which was very appropriate and carried out and showed the fact that Americanism is being taught the little children in the finest form. Col. H. A. Newell, of Henderson, was then introduced by Mrs. H. W. Perry, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, as being a man peculiarly fitted to bring an Armistice Day message, having served his country faithfully and efficiently during the war at home and on the battlefields and who was also serving in the same manner in times of peace. Col. Newell brought a most instructive message carrying one's mind back to that first Armistice Day and the reaction "Over There." Following Col. Newell's splendid and enthusiastic address, Professor W. R. Mills, Superintendent of the Louisburg Graded Schools, expressed the desire that an Armistice Day service would be held every year in the school and that the audience would increase year by year.

The large, enthusiastic, interested audience signified the fact that Franklin County people had not and would never forget those "who paid the supreme sacrifice."

HALLOWEEN PARTY

A class of girls of the Methodist Sunday School were joint hostesses at a Halloween Party in the Girl Scout Room on the Graded School campus Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

In the decorations, orange and black predominated—black cats and witches adorned the walls, while from every corner of the big dimly lighted room grinning jack o'lanterns welcomed the guests, and hand shakes from cold, clammy hands of the many ghosts on the scene started the fun of the evening.

Fortune telling, ghosts stories and Halloween games of every description were factors in a hilarious party.

These were followed by a weird costume dance by Miss Neva Hammond of New York, which entirely carried out the spirit of the season.

The costumes were unusually attractive, among which was that of a Pirate, which might easily have belonged to the much dreaded Black Beard of former fame, to which the old-fashioned fortune-teller in hoops and stays was a close second.

Appropriate refreshments consisting of roasted peanuts, pop-corn apples and ice cream cones were served from trays decorated with orange and black.

Mrs. B. N. Williamson, the class teacher and Mrs. Edward Perry were the chaperones for the young people.

Those who enjoyed the hospitality of the evening were: Patricia Holden, Virginia Pleasants, Josephine Rouse, Lucy Herman, Evelyn Matthews, Lydia Person, Josephine Perry, Doris Strange, Marie Parker, Mary Lillian Allen, Neva Hammond, Margaret Holden, Louis Wheelless, Douglas Perry, Stuart Davis, Francis Pleasants, Jack Taylor.

HALLOWEEN SOCIAL

On Thursday evening Oct. 31 the Senior B. Y. P. U. of Red Bud was entertained at the home of Miss Pearl Gupton. The guests were met at the door by two ghosts. Then they were carried into the living room, which was decorated with black cats, owls and pumpkins. After each one had been told their past, present and future by an old witch, many contests were enjoyed one was the peanut race, another the masked wedding which was very funny. Refreshments consisting of hot chocolate and sandwiches were served. After the refreshments many more games were played. About ten-thirty each one left declaring they had spent a delightful evening together.

FRANKLIN SUPERIOR COURT

Now in Session Trying Civil Cases— Judge R. A. Nunn Presiding

The regular November term of Franklin Superior Court convened on Monday morning with Judge R. A. Nunn, of Newberne, presiding. This is a two weeks civil term. There are no cases on the calendar of any special public importance, and no particular interest is being manifested.

Although Judge Nunn is directing the proceedings of the Court as rapidly and smoothly as possible, he is taking time enough to see that all facts are brought out.

The case of W. R. Mills, Jr. vs The Carolina Coach Co., was compromised by a consent judgment of $5,000.00 in favor of Mills.

Cases have been set for most of next week and no doubt the term will consume most of the time allotted.

TWENTIETH CENTURY BOOK CLUB

Mrs. J. B. Beasley royally entertained the Twentieth Century Book Club and other guests Nov. 12th, 1929. "Welcome Inn" was the place of meeting, and the place truly radiated a welcome. It was attractively decorated with lovely yellow and white chrysanthemums.

On entering the hostess presented each guest with a program attractively decorated with a hand-painted design.

The club president, Mrs. F. W. Wheelless, addressed a welcome to Miss Eleanor Collie, a new member.

The topic for the afternoon was—"Music." Three lovely musical numbers were rendered by Miss Helen Leigh Fleming. One selection was an original composition in memory of her mother, Mrs. Arthur Fleming. "Chopins' Prelude In C Minor," and "Sleepy Valley" were the other selections given.

"Musical Appreciation," a paper by Mrs. R. W. Alston, brought out the idea that a musical knowledge will greatly increase ones appreciation of music and that music is one of the best mediums through which to express and interpret ones feelings, moods and emotions.

"Jazz Music," a paper by Mrs. H. J. Hayes, gave a sketch of the life of Paul Whiteman—the famous "Jazz King." It also brought out the fact that jazz is truly American.

"American Women Composers," a paper by Mrs. A. B. Inasco, gave a sketch of the lives, and some of the compositions of Mrs. H. A. Beach, Mary Gall Clark, Dorothy Gaynor Blake, Theodora Dutton and Lily Strickland. She also spoke of our beloved towns-woman, Mrs. Helen Fleming, as a composer of music of the sweet, soul-satisfying type.

The delicious refreshments, consisting of a chicken-salad course, and a dessert course of ice cream and cake, followed by mints were served banquet style. The color scheme, red, white and blue, suggestive of the patriotic Armistice event was carried out in the table decoration and appointments. Miniature flag placards and attractive paper napkins, decorated with the stars and stripes and American Eagle greeted each guest at table.

Special guests of the occasion were: Miss Helen Leigh Fleming, Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Mrs. Levy Beasley and Mrs. Eugene Wilson.

PRICES CONTINUE GOOD

The sales of tobacco on the Louisburg market the past week have been especially good considering the weather and it is generally agreed that the prices are stronger and buying more liberal as the season advances. The prices Wednesday and yesterday being especially good with much satisfaction to all.

It seems that the demand for all grades are strengthening and that now is a good time to sell. Get yours ready and bring it to Louisburg, the popular market.

LARGE NUMBER GET CORRECT ANSWERS

Thirty-four answers were received to the missing letter feature of the community page in our last issue with thirteen having the correct list of words. Those having the correct list were Mrs. T. H. Dickens, Moseille Hill, Velma Schoonover, Joe Cheatnam, Jr., Mrs. B. F. Wheelless, Minnie Gardner, Mrs. E. J. Wheelless, Louise Gupton, Ida Mae Gilliam, Mrs. Robt. Wheelless, Mrs. J. K. Brewer, Mrs. E. J. Fuller, Benjamin Wheelless. Those names were all placed in slips of paper, wadded up into a ball and placed in a hat. Mr. W. E. Beasley kindly consented to draw out the four winners who in order of winning were: Velma Schoonover, Joe Cheatnam, Jr., Mrs. T. H. Dickens, Moseille Hill.
