OUR RALEIGH LETTER

By M. L. Shipman

Raleigh, Dec. 9.—The effort of Governor Gardner and his executive councillor, who is also commissioner of pardons, to review and pass upon all petitions for pardons before the latter steps down and out on the 15th; the annual meeting of the State Board of Agriculture, announcement of License Bureau that new plates will be on sale at branch offices in various parts of the State next week constitute the major items of administration "happenings" during the week. The Christmas spirit is showing itself in business circles and the "shop early" slogan is being passed along as usual.

Around thirty paroles have recently been granted by the Governor on recommendation of Judge N. A. Townsend, commissioner of pardons, who is desirous of clearing his desk of all applications for pardons before retiring on December 15th, to be succeeded by Odus M. Mull, of Shelby. The unusual number of paroles and commutations granted within the past two weeks is due to an accumulation of applications during the period Judge Townsend was engaged in investigations of labor disputes at Gastonia and Marion. There were no clemency dispensations during the Thanksgiving holidays, nor will there be any at Christmas, it is said, without "good and sufficient reasons." Eight of the persons benefitting by paroles recently were serving sentences of more than ten years. A few of the sentences imposed on the men paroled were for more than 23 years and one or two for 20 years. In practically all instances clemency was recommended by the trial judge and solicitor, either one or both of them. At present there are thirteen condemned men on "Death Row" at the Central Prison, but none of them are to be executed before the end of the year. The electric chair has "snuffed out" the lives of ninety-eight men since it was installed, four white men and three negroes during the present year.

Raleigh cannot quite figure out the motive which prompted Judge Townsend, the highest paid of State officials, to retire. His monthly "stipend" was $670.83, the same compensation received by Superior Court judges, and all traveling expenses on business for the State. Maybe the resignation has political significance. Time will tell.

"Live at home and board at the same place" is to be emphasized at a banquet at the Executive Mansion on the evening of December 19th when the Governor and Mrs. Gardner will be hosts to more than 200 newspaper men representing every newspaper published in North Carolina. Every item on the menu and all of the decorations are to be North Carolina products. Winter vegetables, pickles and other articles which can be grown in the State are to be featured at this luncheon and Mrs. Jane McKimmon, State Home Demonstration Agent, is to be "in command" in the preparation of these delicacies. The Governor figures that North Carolina is sending away annually for foodstuffs around a quarter of a million dollars which could and should be kept at home. The week of December 15-21 is proclaimed as "Live at Home Week" and the proposed luncheon is being planned to emphasize the idea.

The trial of eight McDowell County deputies charged with killing six Marion strikers before the gates of a cotton mill in Marion two months ago is to start in Burnsville tomorrow with Judge G. V. Cowper presiding. This will conclude the strike cases which have been on the front pages of newspapers all over the country for nine or ten months. Eleven lawyers are appearing in the trial and the trial is likely to drag along for a couple of weeks.

The Governor has named A. McL. Graham, of Sampson County, to succeed Judge Cowper as a member of the judicial conference from the Sixth Judicial District. This conference is composed of the Supreme and Superior Court judges, all emergency judges, the Attorney-General and one practicing attorney from each of the twenty judicial districts of the State. Mr. Graham is an outstanding member of the bar in his county and district and is considered well fitted for service on the tribunal to which he has been called.

A. Ludeke, of New Hanover County, a native of Holland, probably has the distinction of being the first naturalized citizen to hold a prominent position in the State government. Mr. Ludeke was recently appointed to membership on the State Board of Agriculture by Governor Gardner and assumed his duties during the week of the annual meeting here of the agricultural board. For fifteen years he has been a prominent member of the Dutch colony established at Castle Hayne near Wilmington and his agricultural activities reached the ears of the Governor with the result recently announced. He is expected to fit in nicely with the farm program.

In his report to the Board Commissioner Graham, of the State Department of Agriculture, reported encouraging progress in all divisions during the past six months. This year the six test farms will have for distribution around 1,500 bushels of pedigreed seed of different kinds which are to be distributed to the farmers over the state at reasonable price, the Commissioner told the Board. Touching the work of department inspectors Mr. Graham said that for the calendar year 1929 inspections have been made as follows: Strawberries, 975 carloads and 182,000 packages; sweet potatoes, 175 carloads and 64,000 packages; Irish potatoes, 2,581 carloads and 516,000 packages; peaches, 240 carloads and 88,000 packages; apples, 35 carloads and 5,800 packages; huckleberries, 17 carloads and 3,924 packages; peas, 13 carloads and 6,500 packages; cucumbers, 175 ty crates of citrus fruits were ordered returned to Virginia during October and thirty-seven shipments, found during November, were ordered destroyed or sent away from the State. According to a Government census taken in the fall of 1928, there was an average of 5.8 pigs per farm in this State a figure four tenths of a pig higher than the average reported in the spring of this year and another census has been started with the view to obtaining similar information in this respect at the present time.

Of the $73,125,000 authorized by Congress as Federal aid for road construction, North Carolina has been apportioned $1,722,673 for construction work in the fiscal year 1931. State highway departments are to proceed right away with preparations for the expenditure of this appropriation during the next construction season. The federal aid fund is apportioned among all states and Hawaii in proportion to their respective areas, populations and mileage of post roads, and the share of each state is available, it is said, for expenditure on roads included in the federal-aid system under the joint supervision of the State highway department and the United States Bureau of Public Roads. The State Commission plans the construction of 64 miles of highways right away and will receive bids here on December 17th involving $600,000.
