THIRD GROUP MASTER HOME MAKERS

Raleigh, N. C., July 21.—The rural women to be honored as North Carolina's third group of Master Farm Home Makers were announced at State College today, by Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, Head of the Home Demonstration Department.

Selected for their outstanding records as wives, mothers and community builders, the women will be publicly awarded their new titles and gold emblems by the Farmer's Wife, the national farm women's magazine of St. Paul, Minn. with the co-operation of the Home Demonstration Department of the State College Extension Service. The ceremony will occur Tuesday evening, July 23, during Farm and Home Week.

The five women are: Mrs. B. N. Sykes, Harrelsville; Mrs. Richard J. Ledbetter, Arden; Mrs. David B. Castor, Concord; Mrs. James F. Homewood, Burlington, and Mrs. William E. Moore, New Bern.

They will be North Carolina's representatives among nearly 100 other outstanding farm women to be honored this year by The Farmer's Wife co-operating with the State College of Agriculture.

With the recognition of Mrs. Sykes, North Carolina will have its first "Master Farm Family," for Mr. Sykes is a master Farmer. "Before we were married," she says, "we agreed that our home was to be a genuine partnership, and it always has been. Home to us is the place where the family begins, where joys and sorrows are shared and where love abounds." Mrs. Sykes sells $600 worth of food products a year including $200 worth of fruit cakes. The Governor's wife has been one of her customers.

When Mrs. Ledbetter and her husband were married they rented a farm and started farming with a horse, a wagon, a cow, ten chickens and $60. Two years later they bought the place and although they have had a family of eight children to support and times have sometimes been hard they never missed a payment.

Mrs. Castor has six children, two of them in the ministry. She is a Sunday School teacher and president of the County Council of Farm Women, Community club, home demonstration club and a Mother and Daughter club. She plans her meals a week ahead.

Mrs. Homewood has lived for 39 years on the same farm. In a home 127 years old that has been remodeled and modernized. She has six grown children. Mrs. Homewood helped organize the first Home Demonstration club in Alamance county, is president of a Country Life club, president of the Parent-Teacher association and active in a women's club.

Mrs. Moore believes that the function of a home is "to train children for good citizenship." Her chief ambition has been to educate her three children, and money has been spent for that rather than for certain home conveniences. She lives on a 239-acre stock and grain farm.

FIND LEGUMES PLANTED IN MOST CORN FIELDS

Returning from a field trip in eastern Carolina where he inspected 1,033 corn fields in seven counties, E. C. Blair, extension agronomist at State College, reports that 55 per cent of these fields had soybeans, cowpeas or some other summer growing legume interplanted with the corn.

"This is a wonderful showing and indicates that our best corn growers are realizing the importance of keeping up the fertility of their land through the use of legume crops," says Mr. Blair. "My trip was made through Wayne, Duplin, New Hanover, Brunswick, Columbus, Robeson, and Cumberland counties. This is not generally accepted as soybean territory; yet, 55 of the 1,033 fields of corn inspected were planted with either soybeans, cowpeas, velvet beans or snap beans with the soybeans being far in the lead of all other combined."

New Hanover county had the highest proportion of legumes in corn, or 64 percent, while Duplin came second with 60 percent.

Mr. Blair said as a general thing, the best and most thrifty looking fields of corn had legumes in them, while most of those on poor land, and those showing evidence of poor land, and those showing evidence of poor farming, did not have the legumes interplanted. It was also worthy of note, he said, that the most fields without legumes were found in the remote sections of the counties visited.

Some farmers argue, says Mr. Blair, that planting legumes in corn will cut the yield but results of field demonstrations does not bear this out. As a usual thing the yield of corn is maintained and the land made more fertile when the crop residue is thoroughly plowed under. Mr. Blair has some demonstrations which show an increased crop yield the following year. Planting legumes in corn is a good practice and should be more generally followed throughout the State, he recommends.

DR. CALDWELL'S THREE RULES

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not habit forming.

The Doctor never did approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Get a bottle today, at any drugstore and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open. For a free trial bottle, just write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois.

Middle Life Suffering

"THREE years ago, I was in bad health," says Mrs. J. B. Bean, of Kirbyville, Texas. "I was going through a critical time, and I suffered a lot."

"My back hurt almost all the time, and my legs and ankles ached. My head hurt me until sometimes I would be almost past going. As I had used Cardui before, and knew how much I had improved after taking it, I got a bottle and started taking it. I continued to use it for several months. After awhile I regained my health, and I feel that I could never have gotten through that awful time without Cardui."
