

JWELED ACCESSORIES

They can no longer be called a matter of whim or fancy. Today's fashion demands definite accessories — for they play as important a part as the costume itself.

At present, innumerable bracelets are shown adorning the arms of models in any authoritative fashion magazine, with artificial pearls of sharply contrasting hues about the neck.

The extreme simplicity of fashion today requires that women take much care in choosing their accessories — for accessories can create an incalculable charm.

Make your selections where you are sure of the best and most fashionable.

"THE DYNAMO"

Published by the students of Edward Best High School

Faculty Play a Big Success

That those dreadful twins certainly deserved their name was what the audience thought before the play was over. Being unable to keep out of mischief, the twins were the life of the play. They tripped the Deacon and Josiah Brown, they made the Sheriff sit down on glue and get stuck to the chair, they put fly paper on the table so that Josiah slapped his hands on it, and poured the Sheriff's pint of whiskey into the lemonade and caused Becky, the Deacon, and Josiah to get drunk. The parts of the twins were well played by Mr. Perry and Miss Jackson. Mr. Litchfield acted the part of Josiah Brown, and Mr. Sledge the part of the Deacon. While they were flipping a coin to see who would marry Becky (Miss Taylor), she was promising to marry the sheriff, (J. C. Bunn).

The part of Lynx, the detective who couldn't detect was well acted by Sidney Sykes. Other characters adding to the life of the play were: Mrs. Josiah Brown, Miss Upchurch, Miss Josephine Brown, Miss Gupton; Rastus, a negro out of a job, Mr. Charlie Stallings.

Most Popular Girl

During Thursday and Friday of last week a contest was held to find out who was the most popular girl in high school. Those nominated were: Nell Stallings, Rachel Wheelless, Elaine Sykes, Ophelia Pearce, and Danize Wheelless. The winner, when announced at the play Friday night, was in for an exceedingly close second. The winner got a box of candy as the prize for being the most popular.

Mrs. Martin Talks on P. T. A.

On Wednesday night, October 28, 1931, the members of the Parent-Teacher Association of Edward Best High School were invited to meet for the purpose of hearing a lecture on Parent-Teacher Association work by Mrs. W. W. Martin, a state field worker in that activity. Mrs. Martin told many interesting events and facts in connection with her work. Those who assembled to hear her feel quite benefitted by her talk.

The members of the Parent-Teacher Association of Edward Best High School were delighted to have Mrs. Mitchner, the district president, meet with them to hear Mrs. Martin, also.

Mock Faculty Meeting

A surprise in the form of a mock faculty meeting held in chapel was enjoyed by the student body as well as the faculty. Students taking part in the meeting were: Mr. Sledge, Brad Strickland; Mrs. Sledge, Thelma Gupton; Mr. Perry, J. C. Bunn; Mr. Litchfield, Leon Alford; Miss Upchurch, Mary Johnson; Miss Jackson, Nell Stallings; Miss Taylor, Placid Hayes; and Miss Gupton.

Rachel Wheelless.

The parts were well carried out, and the meeting thoroughly enjoyed.

Tubercular Test

On Monday, October 26, Dr. H. F. Eason, of the State Department of Health, was at the high school giving the tubercular test. Wednesday he came back and checked the results. Nearly all the student body, realizing the importance of such a test, overcame their fright and took it.

Welcome! Old Student

With joy we, the sophomore class, welcome Kathleen House, one of our old students, back with us. Now we have forty-nine sophomores enrolled, and may we bring forth every effort to keep this wonderful record. Our class is the largest one in school.

Many of us, both girls and boys, are practicing basket ball. Lots of us are venturing into numbers of new things. May our new member be a help to the up-building of our class, and may she aid us in reaching success.

Visitors at Our School

During the past week there have been quite a few visitors at Edward Best. Superintendent E. L. Best was at school for a while October 20. He observed several of the classes while present, and we hope he went away satisfied.

Lucille Stokes and Ethel Hayes, of the class of 1931 were visitors at the school October 28. Foster Cone, another member of the same class was at school October 29. The presence of the members of that class seems familiar.

Miss Grace Stevenson of McCullers was present Wednesday, October 28, also.

Seniors Select Invitations

It won't be long now, seniors! Just think, after working for ten years, more or less, for that title we've finally got it. And now we've got it we can keep it but six more months. But we should worry. Back when we were freshmen teasing cries of "little freshies, don't you cry, you'll be seniors bye and bye", used to make us fighting mad, but we're seniors now.

One thing that makes us realize it more is the fact that our invitations have been selected. The order is to be sent in after Christmas and we certainly hope that all will be satisfied. And—we might be willing to accept at graduation, the gifts Santa may forget at Christmas.

TARHEEL CLUB MEMBERS OBSERVE ACHIEVEMENT DAY

Saturday, November 7, from 12:30 until 1:30 P. M., 4-H club members in North Carolina will join with other rural boys and girls throughout the Nation in celebrating the achievements made in this work for the current year.

"The celebration will take the form of a nation-wide radio broadcast with 53 states joining in with the United States Department of Agriculture during farm and home hour," says L. R. Harrill, club leader at State College. "During the first 30 minutes there will be a radio program of talks and music from Washington with Mrs. Herbert Hoover extending greeting to the club members from the White House. The final thirty minutes will be a state program in each of the 53 states. The program for North Carolina will be given over Station WPTF at Raleigh and probably over WWNC at Asheville if arrangements can be completed."

The North Carolina program will consist of a word of greeting from Selma Harris of Weaverville, Pasquotank County, president of the state 4-H club federation. Following Miss Harris' short address, Dean I. O. Schaub, the first club agent in North Carolina, will give a brief history of club work in this State. Max Culp was recently awarded a two-year scholarship to State College as a result of his splendid efforts, Mr. Harwill says.

The final feature of the program will be a short talk by Mr. Harrill in which he will attempt to summarize the results of 4-H club work in North Carolina during the present year. Home and farm agents in all parts of the State will hold meetings of their clubs on Saturday to listen to the program.

BEEF CATTLE MOVE TO EAST CAROLINA

Approximately 3000 head of beef cattle moved from western North Carolina into the eastern part of the State during the fall of 1930 where crop farmers fed the animals and saved some of the best for breeding purposes.

"We believe that equally as many animals from the western part of the State and from southwestern Virginia will be purchased by eastern Carolina growers this fall and winter," says L. I. Case, animal husbandman at State College. "A number of carloads have already been shipped and indications are that many others will move into this territory in the next few weeks. The east has a good crop of forage and hay this year and this rough feed may be used in the production of beef in addition to adding valuable fertility to the soil."

Mr. Case says nine of the best Herefords shown at the recent North Carolina State Fair were purchased by eastern Carolina farmers. The animals went into Johnson, Pasquotank and Wayne counties and will be used for developing foundation herds. Most of the growers in that area will simply get in cars of beef animals to be finished for the market, thus utilizing the surplus roughage and forage at fair prices and building up the organic content of the soils. Some growers who fed out beef cattle last winter report that the manure secured was worth the cost and trouble of feeding the animals.

Beef production can well have a place on any well rounded program of farming in eastern Carolina and at the same time afford the producers Carolina an outlet for their surplus animals. Mr. Case and representatives of the State Division of markets will give considerable attention to this project for the next few weeks, he says.

Tobacco barns in Columbus County will be used for curing and housing sweet potatoes this fall because of good results secured last winter.
