FORM SELLING AGENCY TO MARKET POULTRY

A central sales office to handle poultry, turkeys and poultry products has been established with headquarters at Durham and with R. W. Galphin, formerly county agent of Pamlico County, as manager.

"For the past four years the 40 small mutual farm exchanges of North Carolina have handled some two million pounds of poultry and the growth of interest in poultry farming has shown the need for some efficient central selling agency," says C. W. Tilson, manager of the Durham Mutual Exchange and president of the newly organized North Carolina Producers' Mutual Exchange. "In some instances the small exchanges have grouped together to sell the poultry products of their members but as the work has grown, a strong central agency has seemed necessary. Mr. Galphin organized one of the first mutual exchanges in this State in 1925 and has had a part of forming others. He is known as an authority on this kind of cooperative effort."

Mr. Tilson says the new exchange will have its headquarters in the Durham Mutual Exchange building and will be partially financed by George Watts Hill, young Durham capitalist and livestock farmer. Mr. Hill and his father will guarantee the operating expenses of the central office for the first year.

The new organization will work with local exchanges in furnishing an ample supply of high quality chickens, eggs and turkeys to North Carolina consumers through local fatteners, dressing and packing plants. Surpluses will be sold to the large eastern markets. The State Exchange also plans to take surplus eggs from the market in spring and sell them in the fall when prices are higher.

"I just passed Bill Skidmore down the street and I never saw such a change in a man—he was walking along as if he owned the earth and he never even saw me."
"That's simple. I saw him, too, as he was parking his car in the only space available in the entire shopping district."

TEN AND TWENTY YEARS AGO

Items of Interesting Happenings taken from the columns of THE FRANKLIN TIMES this week ten and twenty years ago:

November 10, 1911.

The Board of County Commissioners met on Monday and Tuesday of this week when they elected the cotton weighers, several corrections were made to taxes and several reports received.

A friend of ours who recently paid a visit to Nash County reports the following item to us:

Willie Gaylor a colored man living on the land of J. T. Winstead, of Nash County, made on five acres of land with one horse, $1,340.00 worth of tobacco, eleven bales of cotton, and 35 barrels of corn. This is a record that will be hard to beat.

We take pleasure in informing the people that the "City Fathers" have turned the old tax books over to the new collectors, with instructions to collect same.

The teachers of Franklin County met in regular session last Saturday. The special feature of the day's session was practice classes in the first and second grades, the children being borrowed from the Louisburg Graded School.

November 11, 1921.

With the biggest lot of attractions the most interesting midway,

a large number of exceptionally creditable exhibits, a live stock show hard to exceed and a big crowd, the Franklin County Fair Association opened one of the best County fairs of the State in Louisburg on Tuesday morning.

The Board of County Commissioners met in regular session Monday with all members present.

Cotton sold in Louisburg yesterday for 17 cents a pound.

The Tuesday afternoon Book Club was beautifully entertained this week by Mrs. T. W. Watson at her home on Main street.

Hon. W. M. Person returned Tuesday from a visit to New York.

Today will be observed as Armistice Day in a most appropriate program which includes the biggest parade of the Fair and an address by Franklin's worthy son, Hon. W. H. Yarborough.

One of the most attractive exhibits at the Franklin County Fair which is being held here this week, is that of the North Carolina Geological and Economic Survey.

HINTS FOR THE HOME by NANCY HART

Prune Muffins
Delicious muffins are made from any reliable batter with a pitted prune thrust into the center of each muffin after the batter is poured into the tins. They are baked in the usual way.

Sautéed Carrots
Cut small carrots six times lengthwise, larger ones more times to make silver-like pieces. Parboil, drain, and then brown the carrots in hot butter, sprinkling a little sugar over them as they brown. Serve very hot. They are delicious with lamb chops.

Banana Pie
One cup milk, 1-2 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons cornstarch. Put milk and sugar on to boil; when boiling stir in cornstarch dissolved in a little water; let boil until thick and let cool. Bake crust first, put in a layer of sliced bananas, then put in above mixture.

Cocoanut Souffle
1 cup of milk
1 pinch of salt
3 level tablespoons of flour, softened in a little cold milk.
2 level tablespoons of butter
4 level tablespoons of sugar
Yolks of four eggs
1 teaspoon of vanilla
1 cup of shredded cocoanut
Whites of 4 eggs.

Heat milk, add salt and flour and cook ten minutes after it has thickened. Mix together, butter, sugar and yolks of eggs. Pour hot mixture, cover, stirring well and set aside to cool. Add vanilla and cocoanut. Lastly fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs.
Bake in buttered pan in moderate oven until firm. Serve hot with chocolate sauce.

Fish Omelet
Two tablespoons of shredded fish, one teaspoon of mixed herbs, one egg, 1-2 tablespoons of butter, salt and pepper.

Melt the butter in a stewpan till quite hot, but be careful it does not turn. Separate the yolk of the egg from the white, and beat up the yolk first. Stir this into the shredded fish, with the mixed herbs, a pinch of salt and a dash of pepper. Beat the white of the egg into a stiff froth, and stir lightly in with the rest. Now pour the mixture into the stewpan over a clear fire. Stir for one minute with a knife until it begins to set, shake for another minute or two, and hold over the fire until it rises, which it should do almost at once. Then fold it over on a hot dish and serve at once.

Sardine Toast
Skin and bone five or six sardines, and separate them into small pieces. Put two tablespoonfuls of milk into a small saucepan with a teaspoonful of butter; add to it the chopped sardine and a teaspoonful of essence of anchovy, with a little cayenne and salt to taste. Bring it just to the boil then stand on one side, while you make the toast. Now beat up the yolk of one egg and stir into the mixture. Immediately the egg has thickened, take it off and spread the mixture on to the toast.

FIDDLE'S CONVENTION
An old time Fiddlers' Convention will be held at Hickory Rock-White Level School on Friday night, November 20th, 1931. Prizes will be offered for violin, guitar and banjo solos, also for group playing. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the school. Come and enjoy a good time with us.

MEAL BETTER FERTILIZER THAN COTTON SEED

While cotton seed meal is a much better nitrogen carrier for fertilizer than is the cotton seed, it will not pay to swap the seed for meal unless a fair exchange is made. At present values of plant food, 1053 pounds of the meal is equal in fertilizing value to a ton of the seed and the grower should get from 1400 to 1800 pounds of the meal in exchange for a ton of seed.

"In making this exchange the grower must not only allow for the value of his seed as a fertilizer but must also take into consideration the expense incurred in hauling and handling the seed and meal," says C. B. Williams, head of the department of agronomy at State College. "If one decides that he cannot get a fair exchange for his seed, it might be wise to compost down the amount needed for fertilizer. This should be done this fall and the seed mixed with rich earth, manure or woods mould. Such a plan is better than waiting until next spring and putting the seed directly under the crops."

Mr. Williams has received hundreds of inquiries this fall asking for information about the value of seed and meal in exchange. Many of the inquiries indicate that the crushers are offering less meal than usual.

Based on the plant food that the two materials contain it will take 1.9 tons of cotton seed to equal one ton of the meal. The crop increases where cotton seed is used as a source of nitrogen is about 50 per cent of that secured where dried blood or nitrate of Soda is used as the source of all nitrogen in the fertilizer mixture. Tests also show, says Mr. Williams, that the meal used as a source of nitrogen will give 20 per cent better results than cotton seed. However, the grower must take into consideration the exchange basis offered him.

SLEDGE-DENNIS

Mr. H. M. Sledge, Jr., and Miss Virginia Dennis, both of Norfolk were quietly married Wednesday evening, November 4, 1931, in Norfolk.

Mr. Sledge is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Sledge of near Louisburg. The couple are now on their honeymoon and will make their home at 1391 Roger St., Norfolk after November 12.

From two yards of material you can make a most useful and attractive apron that you will find most useful for yourself or that may be used for a gift or a contribution to a charity sale or bazaar. You will need two yards if the material is 20 inches wide or one yard if it is at least 40 inches wide.

inches and mark D. This makes the distance from D to B fifteen inches. Draw a line at right angles at C, measure six inches and mark H. Make another line at right angles at D, measure seven inches and mark G and then measure three inches more and mark F. A line from I to G should pass through H. Draw a perpendicular line at B and mark E, eleven inches up. Curve a line from F to B as indicated. This makes half of the front on back and CB should be cut on a lengthwise fold of material.

In cutting your material allow half an inch for seams and hems or cut longer if a fairly long apron is wanted.

Join back and front at JI. Turn a narrow hem along edges and stitch or finish with blanket stitch or bind. The sides of the apron lap over and button or snap as shown in the sketch.
