FARM PROGRAM PLANNED AT GROUP CONFERENCE

Out of the group conferences of farmers, farm farmers, farm women and extension workers now being held in North Carolina there are emerging some definite plans for better farming methods in the State next year and the years to come.

"We are highly pleased with the way in which our sectional meetings have been received so far," says
Dean I. O. Schaub, director of extension at State College. "At each of the meetings there have been some 150 to 200 persons who have not met with us to hear the outook for farming next year and to help us develop definite and sensible suggestions to pass on to the State in our extension activities. At each of the conferences, we have had two or more good farmers from a county, two or more progressive farm wo-men and the county home and farm agents."

agents."

The dean says he has been gratified also at the attendance of bankers, merchants, fertilizer dealers and others at the special meeting called for these men proceding each farm conference.

At each of the meetings, a full morning is given over to a careful consideration of the outlook for farming next year. The crop outlook report has been explained by a government economist assisted by look report has been explained by a government economist assisted by experts from State College. ## District Agent's Conference

To Be Followed With Meetings in Franklin and Other Counties-

Miss Anne Benson Priest, Home Demonstration Agent of Franklin County and Mrs. M. M. Person, or Gold Sand Woman's Club delegate from the Franklin County Federation, attended the District Agents Conference at Rocky Mount on December 10th and 11th. The meeting was presided over by Dean I. O. Schaub, Director of the N. C. Extension Service, and Miss Pauline Smith, District Agent. Both Farm and Home agents from twelve counties with outstanding men and women from their counties were present. The meetings were held in the Sun Parlor of the Ricks Hotel. Carr Scott, of Alamance Coumty, who is president of N. C. Grange, and Dr. Bean, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, were speakers for the general meetings. The Rocky Mount Kiwanis Club and Rocky Mount Clearing House Association were joint hosts to the entire group numbering around three hundred for luncheon on Thursday, December 10th. The afternoon sessions were devoted to group discussions on various home and farm problems.

This meeting will be followed up citer Christmas with meetings in each County of the district, at which time business men, farmers, and women will be invited to attend and discuss the agricultural problems in the County. Such a meeting will be held in Franklin County and much interest and cooperation is sought.
