LOUISBURG, N. CAROLINA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14TH, 1932

NUMBER 34

PRICES ADVANCE AT LOUISBURG

Sales Averages of 14 1/2 Cents, With Individual Averages Up To 36 Cents—Quantity Still Small But Increasing.

To the delight of the many growers and others interested prices took a decided advance on the Louisburg tobacco market this week, when the demand for most grades strengthened considerably. On Wednesday the entire market sales averaged 14 1/2 cents around and many individual averages mounted to very satisfactory figures, going as high as 36 cents.

The quantity being offered for sale is still small, due to the fact that there is only about a twenty-five percent crop made in this section and the growers are still busy curing tobacco and picking cotton. The tobacco crop this year is about the latest on record for this section.

The many growers visiting the Louisburg market this week seemed well pleased with the sales and Louisburg is determined that tobacco offered here shall sell as well as elsewhere. Bring your tobacco to Louisburg.

Seed Loan Borrowers Recognized

Cotton Growers To Receive 9 1/2 Cents Collateralization On Loans—Must Be Stored

At the request of a large number of Senators and Congressmen, cooperative associations, and individuals in the cotton growing states, the Secretary of Agriculture has agreed to liberalize the terms of the Crop Production Loans in these states for the relief of the distressed cotton farmers. The plan will ease the burden of repayment of such loans and should result in improving the cotton market.

The purpose of this plan is to encourage the storage of cotton, relieve the pressure on the market, and assist the farmers to care for their families during the coming winter. This action is also taken in furtherance of the efforts of the Administration to aid the farmers of the country.

Cotton will be accepted as collateral for crop production loans of 1932 and unpaid balances on loans made prior to 1932 on the basis of 3 1/2 cents per pound middling, 7-8 inch. Borrowers who wish to take advantage of the collateral plan will be required to deliver their cotton to the Cotton Cooperative Associations or to Federal Bonded Warehouses. When delivered to the latter, cotton must be insured and warehouse receipts will be required to be delivered to authorized field agents of the Secretary or to the Regional Collection office on sufficient cotton to collateralize the loan at the price above mentioned rather than on the quantity required at current market prices.

Differentials will be prepared to provide premiums for staple longer than 7-8 inch and grades better than middling and likewise discounts for short staple and lower grades. All cotton deposited as collateral must be graded by Federal licensed classifiers.

When cotton is stored as collateral an agreement must be signed by the borrower whereby he reserves the right of selling such cotton at any time prior to March 1, 1933 and authorizes the Secretary to sell same in his discretion at any time subsequent to that date.

Warehouse receipts will be required on sufficient cotton to cover the amount of the loan together with storage and insurance charges, and any advance which may be made for picking and ginning expenses. When the cotton is finally sold the borrower will be credited with the proceeds of the sale. In the event that the proceeds are not sufficient to pay the full amount of the loan the balance will remain as an obligation of the borrower. If the proceeds of sales are more than sufficient to pay the loan and the interest, the balance will be refunded.

The above plan will permit farmers to fully collateralize their loans from the Secretary and to the same time permit them to dispose of the balance of their crops for cash.

Dr. W. W. Staley Called By Death

Venerable Minister, Former President At Elon, Passes Away

Dr. W. W. Staley, of Suffolk, Va., 84, former president of Elon College and a member of the board of trustees since the founding of the college, died at Virginia Beach, Va., Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Funeral services were held in Suffolk Tuesday at 2 o'clock.

He was born in 1849, in Alamance county, five miles south of Graham. In his boyhood and early young manhood he attended Dr. W. S. Long's old Graham Academy. About 1871 he entered old Trinity College, now Duke University, and was graduated with the bachelor of arts degree in 1875. Following his graduation he taught school for about seven years in Graham, during which time he studied mathematics as a graduate student in the University of Virginia. In 1882 he was called to the pastorate of the Suffolk, Va., Christian Church. In November he would have completed his 50th year of connection with the Suffolk church. During his latter years the church had retired him on full salary, and the use of a parsonage.

Dr. Staley married Miss Pierce, of near Franklinton, and was the father of Mrs. Ben. T. Holden, of Louisburg. He had many friends in this County to whom the news of his death will be a great shock.

Elon College first opened its doors to students on Sept. 2, 1889 with Dr. W. S. Long as president. Upon the resignation of Dr. Long four years later, Dr. Staley was called and served for 11 years as non-resident president. He found the college in a bad way financially; but during his administration he lifted the debt; and when he was succeeded in 1905 by Dr. E. L. Moffit, the college was unencumbered.

Dr. Staley was one of the prime movers in the founding of Elon College in 1889; served as non-resident president of the college from 1894 to 1905; and was a member of the board of trustees at the time of his death. He frequently went to the assistance of the college in time of need with generous gifts.

Scientists Wrong . . . Another Eclipse Due

Hoover or Roosevelt, which will go into eclipse on November 8? No man knows for a certainty . . . but the nation-wide straw vote being conducted by this newspaper, together with some 2,000 weekly newspapers throughout the country, shows which is favored to "shine on" . . . Have you cast your vote yet? Why not do so today?

Weekly Newspapers Everywhere Combine For Small Town Vote

Illinois and West Virginia First

New York, Oct. 10.—From north, south, east and west came reports of the launching of the nation-wide presidential poll conducted by weekly newspapers. These first-week returns cover reports from twenty states—and with 28 states yet to be heard from. More than 2,000 weekly newspapers are cooperating in the poll, the object being to show the choice for president in small towns and rural America.

The first official votes in the actual poll come from Editor Herman P. Dean of the Wayne County (W. Va.) News. The vote there registered, Roosevelt 831, Hoover 84. Counteracting this is the acceptance of The Milan (Ill.) Independent's straw vote, where Editor O. D. Kendall reports, Hoover 851 to Roosevelt's 223. Both these votes are of course from individual newspapers, with still many sections in their respective states still to be heard from.

In Ohio, Editor Charles L. Collett of the Ironton News, reports, Hoover 778, Roosevelt 1654 at the end of the fourth week of balloting. This nation-wide presidential poll by weekly newspapers, in which THE FRANKLIN TIMES is cooperating, gives promise of piling up a big final vote which should fairly accurately indicate the preference of voters in small towns and rural districts throughout the nation.

A minimum of five weekly newspapers, to a maximum of 25 weeklies in the following states have reported to the New York offices of The Publishers Autocaster Service that they are conducting this presidential poll. These weekly newspapers are located in the following states: Minnesota, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Arkansas, North Carolina, Michigan, Maine, Kentucky, Virginia, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Texas, Pennsylvania, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, Florida, Missouri and New York.

The reports from the above states is only an indication of the national scope in this weekly newspaper poll and how complete it will be when all the votes are recorded. The first tabulation of nation-wide straw votes should be possible in time for publication next week. Taking first reports from West Virginia and Illinois, as shown above, indicate that possible surprises are in store for many of the political minded.

In Iowa, The Des Moines Register and Tribune, has been conducting a state-wide poll . . . a total of more than 75,000 ballots having been received. The announcement of the total there, at the end of the first week in October, showed, Hoover 27,981, Roosevelt 45,509. This gives Roosevelt 60.5 per cent and Hoover 37.2 per cent of the vote cast, reversing the normal in Iowa, which ordinarily casts a 60 per cent Republican vote. It is very possible that the weekly newspaper poll from Iowa, as will be shown in this poll, will level out the Des Moines vote and show Hoover running much closer to Roosevelt in Iowa.

Clip out the TIMES ballot in another column of this week's issue; vote for your favorite candidate and mail or bring your ballot to the TIMES' office. It is a secret ballot. You do not have to sign your name, nor are you obliged in any manner. Clip the ballot, vote as you wish and rush it along to the TIMES today.

Blalock Talks To Growers

Mr. U. Benton Blalock, President of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Co-operative Marketing Association, made a most interesting and exhaustive explanation of the Government's decision to liberalize the re-payment of the Seed Loans made to cotton farmers of the South, in the Court House on Wednesday morning and was heard by a large number of growers. This plan provides for the government to receive warehouse receipts for cotton at 9 1/2 cents a pound basis middling 7-8 in staple as collateral, or credit against the loan of the individual farmer. After enough cotton has been delivered at this price to offset the loan the remainder of the crop is to be released to the borrower to use in the maintenance of his family or liquidating other indebtedness. The cotton is stored at the growers optional sale till March 1st, 1933, after which time the power of sale is vested in the Secretary of Agriculture.

Mr. Blalock strongly advised using the plan provided by the government, as it assists in holding cotton off the market which in turn influences the stabilization of the price. He also told the many ways in which the Cotton Growers Association could be of great benefit to the growers, showing how and why the government was favorable to the Cooperative Associations and advised their use. In speaking of the Association Mr. Blalock said he didn't think the people of North Carolina fully appreciate the Association, and proceeded to show what it had done for them, both those who are and who are not members. He stated the Association is 10 years old, and has handled on an annual average of 110,000 bales, that it had never lost a dollar until the bank failures last year, that it now has over $200,000 in reserves. Among the major things it has done for the cotton grower were to help stop the Western States from passing laws boycotting cotton seed products, launched movement to take seven and a half million bales of cotton off the market, is now promoting holding off large quantities this year, secured a reduction in freight rates of 42 1/2 cents a bale over last year, helped to restore seed loans this year, and promoted and secured the plan to collateralize cotton at 9 1/2 cents a pound this year, all of which benefits accrue to the non-member as well as the member.

At the conclusion of the address many individual questions were asked and answered, among which was the landlord, who received the remainder of the tenants crop after his loan had been collateralized, responsible for any remainder that might be due in the final settlement. The answer was no.

Spelling Match

A spelling match between the pupils and parents afforded much amusement at a meeting of the Justice P. T. A. held at the school building on Friday night, October 7th at 7:30 o'clock. Other features of the program were a talk on "Reasons for Affiliating with the National and State Associations" by the President, Mrs. M. J. Hayes and a talk on "What other P. T. A.'s are Doing" by Mrs. L. A. Miller.

The meeting opened with the song "America" by the Association and was followed by devotional exercises led by C. A. Long, chaplain. During the business session, there was a discussion of adopting a motto and a constitution; and the following ladies were decided upon to serve as grade mothers—First Grade, Mrs. C. A. Long; Second and Third Grades, Mrs. B. E. Jeffreys; Fourth and Fifth Grades, Mrs. S. R. Murray; Sixth and Seventh, Mrs. R. L. Harris.

The Fair Association is giving free passes to the Fair Ground, a pass to all the shows on the entire Midway, and Stevenson's Theatre in Henderson is giving a free ticket to their magnificent theatre to every driver of a Hoover Cart who comes to the Fair on Wednesday, October 19th.

One of the most interesting exhibits that will be seen at the Franklin County Fair will be the exhibit of the Youngsville Hosiery Mill, a new industry of which the entire county is very proud. The management of the Mill will transport one of its huge knitting machines to Louisburg and install it in the Fair building and the visitors at the Fair will have the unusual opportunity of seeing this machine in operation and of witnessing the process of manufacturing hose for men. Many other interesting things will be seen in the building, as well as on the Midway, and thousands of people are already talking and looking forward to Franklin County's biggest yearly event.

The Management of the Fair Association has reduced the price of admission to the small sum of 10c, which within itself, will insure the largest crowd that has ever attended the Fair.

Our County Fair has won an enviable reputation among Fairs of the State, and people come from all parts of North Carolina each year to enjoy the Fair and renew old acquaintances. The Fair will go on rain or shine and here's hoping we have a wonderful week of good weather and the people and business men of Louisburg will do everything they can for the interest of its visitors, and we hope everybody will enjoy our Fair.

Greensboro World War Veteran Gains Decision In War Risk Insurance Case.

Garland A. Ricks, Greensboro world war veteran, won a $10,000 verdict against the United States government in his war risk insurance case in federal court Thursday. The verdict was returned after the jury had deliberated the case throughout Wednesday and for considerable time Tuesday.

The petitioner, a lieutenant in the North Carolina national guard during the world war, filed claim for $10,000 against the government for disabilities attributed to his war experiences. It was alleged in the petitioner's complaint that he has not been able to work for several years because of the disabilities.—Greensboro Daily News.

Unusual Experience

Mr. L. R. Southall stated to the TIMES reporter this week that he had had an experience this year quite different from any he has ever had during 49 years experience on the farm. For the first time in his experience he is completing curing his 1932 crop of tobacco and picking his cotton both this week—the second week in October. He also stated that yields are very low this year. He usually makes around 25,000 pounds of tobacco, this year he will make about 6,000, and that it would take about four acres to make a bale of cotton. Mr. Southall who is one of Franklin's most successful farmers, considers his an expensive crop, as the short crop cost almost as much as a full crop. This year is his first year-curing tobacco in October.
