 Published by pupils of Epsom High School
 Helen Gray Kearney, Editor-in-Chief

When we hear of crowded conditions in schools we realize more forcibly the advantages the taxpayers of our District have made possible for us by giving us such wonderful facilities. And how proud we are of our beautiful auditorium, stage scenery, etc. The privilege of attending an eight months' accredited high school was beyond our dreams a few years back. We should strive to make the most of these advantages so that we can go out into life prepared to stand on an equal footing with the graduates of other county and city schools. In this way we can partly repay our parents for the sacrifices they are making for us in this time of depression.

Who's Who in the Senior Class
 Ever since the present Senior Class was the Fifth Grade, and was awarded a trip to Raleigh in a contest with the other grades, we have been rather a concealed set. Now that we are drawing to the close of our school days a dear Old Epsom High, it might be well for us to take stock of ourselves, and see if so much conceit on our part has been warranted. We want our readers to be the judges, so each week we will give a short sketch of some of our eighteen members.

MARY NELLE EAVES is a charter member of the class, small of stature, and for nine years was so quiet and studious we dubbed her "teacher's pet". Had she been of the Roman Catholic faith we would have predicted many years to be spent in a convent. But a certain young man crossed her path, and presto, a brand new Mary Nelle was created, and one who could talk as well as other members of the class. For all this Mary Nelle expects to become a "learned schoolmarm".

JESSIE JONES received her elementary training at Ingleside, but quickly became a popular member of the Freshman Class on entering high school. Unfortunately for Jessie her older sister Eleanor had been an A student throughout high school, and Jessie was supposed to follow in her steps, but... However, Jessie is an A basketball player and a good sport, and plans to be Private Secretary to the President-elect in 1936.

TALMADGE EDWARDS, another graduate from Ingleside, tall and slender with red locks, and considered by a certain senior to be "just too handsome for words". Talmadge holds the honors of being President of Student Body and President of Sidney Lanier Literary Society. He has not divulged what he expects to make his life work, but perhaps he is going to raise "cane".

The Freshman Class met recently and organized with the following officers: President, Robert Rowland; Vice-President, Lector M. Tutor; Secretary, Sallie Lon Thompson; Treasurer, Evelyn Ayscue; Sponsor, Miss Peele. Class colors are black and white, and class flower the dahlia. We are trying to do good work, and when the session is ended want to feel that we have accomplished something worth while.

The interest of the pupils in their work in the first grade has tried to be aroused in many ways. One thing that has proven to be of much value is the paint center. Through this the children have learned the primary and binary colors. They are beginning to appreciate and love colors more. Another thing that has proven to be helpful is the continuation of the doll project that was started before the Community Fair. The boys and girls have made many clothes for the dolls, and also some doll furniture. We are hoping to add more work centers later on, and trust they will prove as helpful as these we have already.

The Sixth Grade is working on their attendance this month. The boys and girls are working to see who can have the highest per cent in attendance during the second month. So far the boys have 94 per cent and the girls 88 per cent. Girls, you'll have to be 100 per cent from now on in order to beat the boys. At present we have 25 boys and 19 girls enrolled.

P. T. A. Meeting
 About eighty members of the Epsom P. T. A. assembled Thursday night for one of the most interesting meetings in its history. The new President, D. T. Dickie, presided over the meeting.

The Welfare Committee reported having been instrumental in getting 17 children in school. All of these have been supplied with clothes, and 7 are being given hot lunches. An appeal was made for help in supplying lunches for others, and several pledges were made. The Association voted to pay for magazines and newspapers required for high school, and to contribute $3.00 to County P. T. A. bookshelf.

Rev. C. E. Maddren spoke on the subject: "What parents can do for the Adolescent Boy and Girl". He discussed the wrong methods of dealing with the adolescent child, and plead for a more sympathetic understanding on the part of parents, stating that the child should have "freedom and advantages under the guidance of the parents".

What the Teacher can do for the Adolescent Boy and Girl was ably discussed by Miss Clark. She stressed the fact that boys and girls of this age are great imitators, and urged that the teacher "encourage, inspire and stimulate the adolescent boy and girl to become law-abiding, respectable and trustworthy citizens."

Mrs. W. B. Waddill, Vance County Superintendent of Public Welfare, spoke in her usual entertaining manner, her subject being, "How the Juvenile Court deals with the Adolescent child". She said that little is known of this court because no court record are made and no publicity is given it—that the purpose of this court is helpfulness, not prosecution. She emphasized the value of work and play in the lives of children. "The highest respect for authority should be taught" she said, "for as long as we live we will be under authority".

A beautiful United States flag was presented to the school by A. T. Wilson, in memory of his son, Perry Wilson, who was killed in France during the World War.

At the conclusion of the program the teachers and grade mothers of the first three grades served sandwiches and coffee.

Miss Mattie Sue Winn delightfully entertained a number of her little friends at her home last Saturday, the occasion being a party in honor of her birthday. After playing various games refreshments were served, and the time for departure came all too soon for the guests.

Miss Vergie Ayscue, who has been spending some time with friends and relatives in Henderson, has returned to her home.

The Christian Endeavor Society of Epsom Christian Church, is showing much improvement while the contest is going on. The members are taking great interest in the programs, and also in making perfect attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Swain returned Saturday from the mountains of western North Carolina, where they have been spending some time with Mrs. Swain's brother, Raymond T. Grissom.

The young men's class of New Bethel Baptist Church, entertained the young ladies' class at a fish fry last Friday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Ayscue. A most enjoyable evening was had by all.

Mrs. W. G. Kearney has returned from Jackson, N. C., where she attended court last week.

The Epworth League of Trinity Church was entertained last Saturday night in the home of A. W. Wilson.

The community was saddened by the untimely death of Mrs. Chester Smith at her home on Sunday night. Interment was at Liberty Christian Church on Monday afternoon. Her parents, husband and children have the sympathy of the entire community.

Second Grade News

The grade has added an aquarium to its room. This is very interesting; the children never tire of looking at the fish, tadpoles, water lilies, and the beautiful rocks in it. They have started a wild flower project. The grade is very much interested, because the children, with the help of their teacher, are carrying out this project.

Baseball (girls)

On Monday of last week we had a very interesting game of ball on our campus. The seniors vs. the Freshmen. Due to the fact that the senior girls had only three or four girls that were accustomed to playing, they lost the game by a score of 8-11 in favor of the Freshmen.

Fourth Grade Project

The fourth grade work for the year has been the study of seeds, plants, and our dependence on plants for life and food. The students have made quite a collection of seed etc. They have also studied rocks and the formation of soil for the growth of these plants. We find in their class room a collection of these rocks—illustrating their work. We hope to see them doing even better work in the future.
