YESTERDAY IS DEAD!

You young fellows just out of school. You have had a tough time the last two years. You were anxious to get to work. Nothing opened up. You felt you were banging your heads against a stone wall.

The Star passed on to you a phrase it saw the other day—to you and to the others who will join your ranks this spring.

The country has been bogged down before. It is going to begin to pull out shortly, just as it always has pulled out. But mark this. Business is not coming back just as it was before. It never does, after going through the wringer.

A lot of the old leaders and old methods have passed out. A new bunch of aggressive and resourceful young fellows will come stomping up to grasp new opportunities.

For yesterday is dead!

New opportunities, mind you. Not the opportunities of the last decade. Those are gone. If experience is a guide, recovery will not come in orderly fashion, along the old lines. Keen men will see business chances here and there even while things are at a low level. Chances that grow out of the depression with its changed demands.

Perhaps these will lie in new products of science, in inexpensive novelties, in house cooling, in cheap farm lands. Men who live in the past will overlook these opportunities. They will be thinking of things as they were in 1929. So they will fail to see the new conditions and take advantage of them.

But the alert young crowd will jump at the new chances, develop them, build up with them as business builds up.

Yesterday is dead!

Have you heard of the fu-fu bird that flies backwards? It wants to see where it has been. It doesn't give a darn where it is going. Don't be a fu-fu bird.

You youngsters, seize any decent job that offers. But keep your eyes open. Be ready for new conditions, new ideas. Your humble job may have possibilities that the old order did not reveal.

Remember, Yesterday is dead.—Kansas City Star.

Group Elects Officers

Fred U. Wolfe, teacher of agriculture at Gold Sand and Epsom High Schools, was elected president of the Franklin-Vance Group of Vocational Agriculture teachers for the year 1933-34 at a call meeting in Raleigh, July 27. J. B. Litchfield, of Edward Best and Louisburg, was elected secretary and reporter.

The Franklin County group spent the week of July 24-29 in Raleigh attending the annual conference of teachers of Vocational Agriculture at State College. The meeting this year was held in connection with the American Institute of Cooperation.

One of the outstanding features of the conference was the emphasis placed on Young Tar Heel Farmer activities. The training in leadership and citizenship which this organization affords is considered very important.

Members of the local group held a short meeting for the purpose of electing officers. It was decided to hold another meeting at an early date to discuss plans for the coming year.

The Franklin-Vance Group consists of Fred U. Wolfe, Gold Sand and Epsom, president; John B. Litchfield, Edward Best and Louisburg, secretary and reporter; T. D. O'Quinn, Bunn and Youngville; G. L. Winchester, Franklinton; George B. Blum, Middleburg and Aycock.

GEORGIA TOBACCO MARKET OPENS

There was no change in the value of the leaf at Vidalia. A large percentage of poorly cured leaves brought down the general average there. Today's estimated poundage was 40,000 with a low of three cents per pound and a high of 32 cents with an average of 11 cents.

Yesterday's satisfaction over prices was voiced throughout the belt again today by growers.

Before the opening of the market warehousemen and growers estimated the average price for the year's crop would be around 15 cents compared with 10.4 for last year. The total crop to be offered on the auctions was placed at upwards of 45,000,000 pounds.

MOEGISH

ETH HERMAN SEZ HE'S NOTICED THAT A SQUARE MAN IS SELDOM A ROUNDER.

Press reports from North Carolina as well as other parts of the United States read like the old time wild and woolly west.

Whenever conditions return to a point where the producer and laborer can get good pay for his product, prosperity will have returned.

The next big thing of interest in the National Recovery drive, is what will the authorities do with the fellow who refuses to co-operate.

Congressman Lindsey Warren is credited with saying "I believe all 48 States will vote for repeal." That sounds like it will be unanimous.

President Roosevelt has approved Naval building plans amounting to $238,000,000, which ought to have some influence on relieving the unemployment situation.

Dispatches from Washington show that it is not too late to adopt and enforce a tobacco processing tax for this crop and that the Departments there are making a study of the tobacco market openings in Georgia. Relief from low prices is what we so badly need.

If the government would condemn, take over and destroy the entire crop and stocks of cotton, tobacco, wheat and other farm products involved, so that the prices would rise to a fair point as compared with the returns from the manufactured products, the depression would break immediately without so much governing control.

General Hugh S. Johnson in charge of the enforcement of the National Recovery program is planning to speed up buying. One of the first things he should attempt is to require all people to trade at home. The second is to eliminate the mass buying of the governmental agencies, allowing the purchases to be made on a more widely distributed basis, where it can be of more benefit to all business and through it help the tax situation.

To Organize Loan Association

Charter members will be received without membership fee. All farmers in Franklin County interested in using their farm as collateral for money to relieve their farm conditions are invited to attend this meeting.

SAW DOUBLE Spanish War Vets Attend Y. T. H. Officers Named F. At Raleigh

He Didn't Buy Wood From That Farmer, It Was His Twin

Cliffside, S. C., July 31.—Robert Sparks thought he was seeing double—and he was.

Sometime ago he bought a load of wood from a farmer, Tell McCraw, and a few days later he saw McCraw in town. Walking up to him, Sparks said: "I want to pay for that wood." "What wood?" said the farmer.

"The wood I bought from you last week," said Sparks.

"Not me," said McCraw and walked on.

Two days later Sparks ran into McCraw again and this time McCraw started the conversation. "I'd like my money for that wood," the farmer said.

"All right," said Sparks, "but why didn't you take it when I offered it to you last week?"

"Who, me?" asked McCraw.

"It wasn't me."

"Then I'm crazy," said Sparks. McCraw thought a moment, then said: "It must have been my twin brother, Bell. People can't tell us apart."

Gold Sand Y. T. H. F. Delegates Report Good Meeting—Orchestra Receives Praise

Thomas Denton and Henry Edwards were sent as delegates to represent the Gold Sand Chapter in the annual state meeting of Young Tar Heel Farmers at Raleigh. Upon their return they report an interesting meeting and many worthwhile suggestions.

The two-day meeting at State College is principally a business meeting in which about two hundred delegates discuss various problems concerning the work of the state and local chapters. At the election meeting Thomas Denton, President of the Gold Sand Chapter, was made State Treasurer of the Association.

One night of the state meeting was devoted to a musical contest, which proved to be an interesting feature. Quite a number participated in the various contests. The regulations provided that in the group contest the membership could be composed of an equal number of Young Tar Heel Farmers and community citizens.

The Gold Sand orchestra, composed of Bill West, Perry West, H. D. Leavitt, of Asheville was Edgar Fuller, Austin Fuller, and named chairman of the legislative committee.—Raleigh Times.
