Allen Denton Burned to Death

Pink Hodge, Negro, Held Without Bail For Superior Court

Pink Hodge, 55-year-old Negro, is being held in jail in Louisburg charged with setting fire to Allen Denton, 63-year-old tenant farmer, who died of the burns in a Durham hospital Sunday afternoon. Kerosene had been poured upon Denton and all the clothing, except shoes, was burned from his body. Coroner J. W. Freeman of Youngsville, who held an inquest Sunday night, ordered Hodge held without bail. The coroner said feeling was high in the eastern section of Franklin county where Denton, the father of 11 children, lived, but no violence was anticipated. As reconstructed by the coroner, the crime occurred early Sunday shortly after Denton went to the home of Hodge, about two miles southwest of Newhope, Harris township, a reputed bootlegger to buy some whiskey. Evidence was brought out at the inquest that both men were drunk, Freeman said, when Hodge demanded money of the white man. When Denton refused Hodge became angered and apparently poured about a quart of kerosene on him and struck a match to Denton's clothing, the coroner added. The Negro notified some white men that a man had been burned at his home whereupon Denton was rushed to a hospital in Durham where he died at 12:50 p. m. two dollars in currency were found hidden in the victim's shoes. Hodge, who was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Will Privette, told several conflicting tales, admitting, however, that both men were drunk at the time, Freeman said. The Negro lives alone. About a quart of whiskey was found in his residence by officers.

County Council Meets At E. B.

The Franklin County Council of Parent Teachers Associations met at Edward Best High School on Friday, April 13th, at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. J. F. Mitchiner presiding. The meeting opened with the county song, Franklin. Mr. R. E. Timberlake, Principal of the Justice School, led the devotional, choosing a very appropriate passage from Romans 12, to which Dr. Branch, speaker on this occasion, referred time after time, in his talk on "The Health of the Child." The main thought in the selection was the presentation of our bodies as living sacrifices, holy, acceptable unto God, which is our reasonable service. Dr. D. T. Smithwick led in prayer. After the welcome by Mrs. Clifford Dean, President of the Edward Best P. T. A., and the response made by Mrs. Ben T. Holden, President of the P. T. A. of Mills High School, the speaker, Dr. E. A. Branch, President of the North Carolina Dental Association, was introduced by Dr. D. T. Smithwick as one who is lending his efforts toward bringing to the people of the U. S. the knowledge of prevention of health troubles, as one who is trying to contribute something of good to humanity. In his talk "The Health of the Child," after citing facts concerning the tremendously high death rate among the children in our state, which he said was due to ignorance, Dr. Branch stated that the first physical defect undernourishment and that undernourishment shows first in a child's mouth. With the use of slides picturing undernourished children and close-ups of their mouths and teeth, Dr. Branch endeavored to explain the above statement to his audience, saying that we can not raise children without proper food. He also stated that the school should be the clearing house for the whole community so far as disseminating knowledge is concerned. It is there that the child learns how to live bigger and better lives. Special music which was greatly enjoyed by those present, was rendered by a chorus of Edward Best High School boys who sang "The Blacksmith."

After the roll call and minutes Mrs. G. E. H. Stallings, of the Edward Best P. T. A. offered a very fitting tribute to Mrs. Martin, former Field Worker, who died this spring as the result of an accident. The nominating committee presented the following report of officers for the coming year which report was voted on and passed: President, Mr. D. T. Dickie, Epson; vice-president, Mrs. F. A. Read, Wood; Secretary, Adelaide Johnson, Justice; Treasurer, Mrs. B. C. Johnson, Bunn. At the close of the meeting, delicious refreshments were served by the Home Economics Department of the Edward Best High School.
