McMILLAN SPEAKS AT JUSTICE

At Biggest Tenth of May Reunion Held at Justice—Many Other Good Speeches—Big Dinner And Fine Occasion

One of the biggest tenth of May celebrations that the Justice community has witnessed in years occurred at the Justice school on Thursday of the past week. Besides the attendance of a record breaking crowd, an unusually interesting program was presented and a most bountiful and delicious dinner served.

Of course this celebration, as those in the past, was centered around the memory of the Confederate veterans, few of whom are with us now. More, however, than have attended the re-union at Justice for some years, were present on this occasion, there being a round half dozen. These men were presented to the audience by Mr. Lawrence Miller, who was Master of ceremonies, as follows: Messrs. John W. Bone and G. W. Joyner, of Nash County; Mr. Charlie Riggan of Warren County; and Messrs. R. V. Colie, J. H. Sledge, and J. L. Bowden, of Franklin county, the last named being a resident of the Justice community and chiefly responsible for this celebration.

Mr. R. L. McMillan, lawyer from Raleigh and speaker for the occasion, who was introduced by Mr. R. E. Miller, gave a most inspiring talk on the subject "Robert E. Lee". He began by reminding his hearers that this was an occasion which paid tribute both to the Confederate dead and to those Confederates who are now living among whom is one, namely J. L. Bowden of Justice, who about two decades ago started a movement for the erection of a memorial to his fallen comrades which now stands in the form of a monument on the Justice school grounds, the first such monument in Franklin county.

After having cited certain definite facts concerning Lee's life, the speaker centered the attention of his audience on the spotlessly pure life of Lee who was pronounced by General Scott at one time as the "greatest living American soldier". Some people think him greater than any soldier in history, stated the speaker. A sculptor once, preparing to make a bust of Lee, searched everywhere that he might find the best material, saying that he would use only the purest marble for this work.

Perhaps the biggest idea that the speaker stressed was that to Lee there was no higher loyalty than to adhere to duty. He possessed every virtue of other great commanders without their vices and being such a character, he is the finest representation of American citizenship that we know. The Confederate veterans were each called upon to speak. All declined except Mr. Bone from Nash county who together with Mr. Riggan was at Appomattox when Lee surrendered; and Mr. J. L. Bowden, of Justice, both of whom related many of the thrilling adventures that they experienced in the War between the States.

Among the other speakers were Messrs. J. O. Sledge, Frank Wheelless, W. L. Lumpkin, Charles Green, A. E. Spivey, Eugene Wilson, Edwin Malone, Frank Wheelless, Jr., Harold D. Cooley, George Ross Pou, and Miss Annie Perry Neal.

During the program, a letter received from Mrs. Joe Creekmore, wife of a Confederate veteran, was read by Mr. L. A. Miller.

Snappy musical selections were rendered throughout the program by a string band and such vocal selections as America, Dixie, Star-Spangled Banner, and Tenth of May, rendered by choir and audience lent to the occasion a truly patriotic air which was repeated in the decorations of red, white and blue. Spring flowers and wreaths completed the decorative scheme.

Prayer was offered by Mr. Frank Wheelless, Louisburg.

At the conclusion of the program, the audience adjourned and gathered about the monument in front of the school building for a salute fired by members of Battery "B" who were present to help make this an outstanding gala day for the veterans.

Immediately a most delicious dinner was served, thanks being said by Mr. Edwin Malone.

In the afternoon, the crowd witnessed an exciting ball game in which the Justice team beat Pine Ridge 5 to 7.

The thousand Mimosa trees planted along the highway out of Morganton three years ago were pruned recently under the direction of the Burke County farm agent.

Craven County tobacco farmers have received $49,703.45 in rental and equalization payments to date.
