Tobacco Prices Skyrocketing

On Louisburg Tobacco Market—Averages Reaching Around 50 Cents

The prices of tobacco on the Louisburg market made further advances this week with complete sale averages reaching in the 37 cent class and many individuals receiving averages of around 50 cents. The sales have been light, due partly to picking cotton, but the demand has continued strong on all grades and the bidding has been lively and full of pep.

Recorder's Court

Vice-Recorder Paul Strickland presided over Tuesday's sessions of Franklin Recorder's Court in the absence of Judge J. E. Malone and made disposition of several cases on quite a full docket. Judge Strickland made splendid presiding official, his rulings being accepted as especially fair and unbiased. The docket as disposed of is as follows:

J. H. Medlin, drunk and disorderly, continued under former order.
Foster Ball was given a 30 day suspended sentence for assault with deadly weapon, on payment of costs.
Nol pros with leave was taken in the case of Joe Harris, alias Joe Cooper, for abandonment.
The case of operating an automobile intoxicated and assault with deadly weapon against Joe Barnett, was dismissed.
The decision of the Court in the case of assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill against W. N. Fuller, was reserved till Saturday.
Fred Leonard was found not guilty of assault with deadly weapon.
Nol pros with leave was taken in the case of assault on female against Jack Wright.

ROBBIN'S CIRCUS

AT LOUISBURG ON WEDNESDAY, OCT. 17

Promises Novel Pageant—Newly Added Features Greatly Elaborate Performance

The Famous Robbin's Circus for over fifty years the favorite tented aggregation of Dixie will erect its tent in Louisburg for one gala day only on Wednesday, Oct. 17, and two performances will be presented promptly at 2:15 and 8 P. M. There will be ample free parking facilities for all and also the circus is going to offer the lowest prices in circus history.

Robbin's Circus has struck a solar plexus blow to the rest of the sawdust fraternity this year when they inaugurated popular prices, by doing this don't misconstrue the meaning that they reduced the quality or the quantity of the big show in any way. Instead the show has been greatly enlarged in every department, more people have been added, more animals, more canvas and seats, as well as more stars.

Among the interesting circus folk who are traveling with the Robbin's Circus this year is many oldtimers in the circus business, in walking down the aisles of the big dressing tent we find the Famous Peasley Troupe, who perform on the high perch and Captain Peasley also presents the exclusive feature of the World's Fair last year—THE CANNON BALL ACT, the most death defying performance ever seen under the big top and the first time it has ever been offered here. Then we see, THE GREAT WATERS TROUPE, sensational high wire act. Little Miss Karsey, said to be the youngest female elephant trainer, Bubbles Johnson, Miss Dainty Marie, Miss Mona Bell, Miss Cleo Patterson, Miss Ruth Gray, are a few of the dainty aerialists who perform high at the peaks of the big top on flying trapeze, rings and other novel contraptions of the circus. The Yoshida Troupe, of Oriental equilibrist and ji-jitsu artists. Prince Shippe, Chinese head balancer on a swinding trapeze proves to be one of the greatest performers of all time, there are hundreds of others.

Mapleville Supply Co.

The above is the title of a new business just begun in Mapleville in the old Uzzell store room and has for its management, Mr. H. M. Siegle, who for so long successfully conducted a mercantile business at this location. It will carry a complete line of general merchandise most adaptable to the country trade.

WELFARE CONFERENCE

As Cardinals and Tigers Battle in Series Games

DETROIT—The wildest baseball scramble in many, many years ended here Tuesday when the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Cardinals ended their fight for the world's championship. The Cardinals won 4 out of 7 games. Above are pictured brilliant stars in the headlines and world series scenes so near to hearts of all diamond fans. (Upper left), Paul Dean, younger brother of the firm of Dean and Dean, St. Louis-Cardinal pitcher supreme. Paul won two of the 4 games. (Upper right), Micky Cochrane, great catcher and fighting leader of the Detroit Tigers, greeting Henry Ford and son, Edsel Ford, at the Detroit opening of the series. (Below left) Frankie Frisch, great second-baseman and leader of the Cardinals. (Center) The one and only Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, red bird pitching ace, who won the other two games, the last one by a 11 to 0 shutout. (Lower right) The Detroit Tigers "million dollar" infield. Left to right, Owen, third base; Rogel, short stop; Gehring, second base and Greenberg, first base.

Duke And Georgia King Alexander Tech Set For Big Battle Saturday

Blue Devils Have Chance to Get Revenge for Tech's 6-0 Defeat of 1933, Only Loss Sustained by Wademen

Durham, N. C., Oct. 10.—With all the trappings and embellishments of a king's coronation, Duke and Georgia Tech, two "big shots" of southern football, will fight it out in Duke stadium Saturday in the "1934 Battle of the South."
Unprecedented interest has been shown in this important contest which gives the Blue Devils a chance to get revenge for that 6-0 defeat handed them by the Yellow Jackets last year after the Wademen had won nine straight games and were on the threshold of football glory.

WELFARE CONFERENCE

Officials expect a capacity crowd of 35,000 as a result of the record-number of tickets which have been sold in advance to fans from all parts of the South and East. Special trains and cars will be run from all sections to bring the fans to Durham.

Seldom has any game in the south attracted the attention that this battle has gained. The game was a "natural" since the schedules of the two teams were announced as a result of Duke's loss last year, and a great battle is expected when they attempt to get revenge in Duke stadium Saturday.

Tech lost to Vanderbilt, 27-12, but the defeat came because of three forward passes which should have been broken up but which instead were batted by Tech defenders into the hands of another Vanderbilt receiver than the one to whom the pass was intended.

The Yellow Jackets come to Durham equipped with probably the finest passing attack in the south and that will make the job of stopping the Engineers doubly hard for the Blue Devils. Tech's passing is a thing greatly feared by Duke with the expert Jack Phillips slipping them from and to any angle of the field. It was passing that led directly to Duke's defeat in Atlanta last year.

FRANKLIN COUNTY FAIR SUCCESS

The 1934 Franklin County Fair although dampened by rain on Saturday resulted in a successful season to the great delight of all interested.
Dr. A. H. Fleming, Secretary, informed the TIMES that he paid off all premiums on Friday and that the large crowds in attendance seemed to enjoy and appreciate the high quality of the midway performances.

Mrs. Annie Malone Dead

Mrs. Annie Fuller Malone, widow of the late Dr. J. E. Malone, died at her home on North Main Street Wednesday morning following a short illness. Mrs. Malone was 81 years of age and was one of Louisburg's most estimable and best beloved citizens. She was a sister of Edwin Fuller, the poet, and herself was especially gifted in writing. Her life has been that of the most consecrated Christian, blooming forth in the full flower of kindness and loveliness towards all and in attracting the highest love and esteem of all those with whom she came in contact. Her past will be a great inspiration not only to her loved ones who survive, but to others who enjoyed the pleasure of her acquaintance.

Mrs. Malone is survived by two daughters, Mrs. S. J. Parham and Mrs. E. L. Best, both of Louisburg, three sons, Edwin H. Malone and Judge James E. Malone, of Louisburg and J. Fuller Malone, of Shanghai, China, and the following grandchildren: S. Jones Parham and Ellis S. Parham, both of Washington, D. C.; Fuller Malone, Jr., of Shanghai, China; Edward Leigh Best, Jr., of Wake Forest College; Misses Rose Malone, Mary Malone Best, Anna Fuller Parham, Cornelia Richmond Malone and Mildred Lloyd Malone of Louisburg and the following great nieces and nephews, Maria Parham, Edwin Fuller Parham, Asa Parham, Jr., and Sumner Malone Parham, all of Henderson.

The funeral services were held from the Methodist Church, of which she was a most devoted member, and which she loved dearly, at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning and was conducted by Rev. O. P. Fitzgerald, her pastor, assisted by Rev. A. D. Wilcox, President of Louisburg College, and the interment was made at Oakwood cemetery. Large numbers of friends attended both services to pay a last and sad tribute. The floral tribute was especially large and beautiful and attested the great love and esteem in which the deceased was held by all.

To Sell Business Property

Mr. H. H. Halladay, representing the W. F. Ross Auction Realtors, Inc., of Greensboro, is in Louisburg this week arranging for the auction sale of the large Spot Cash Co. store building on Main Street now occupied by the Seaboard Store Co. This is one of the leading auction sale firms in the State and will no doubt attract a crowd. Read their advertisement on the last page. The property advertised is some of the best located in the business part of Louisburg.

Locates At Louisburg

Dr. C. P. Jackson, of Kentucky, has moved to Louisburg and opened Chiropractic offices at the Franklin Hotel. He is a graduate of the Palmer Chiropractic College, of Davenport, Iowa, and comes well recommended.

ST. LOUIS WINS "HERE COMES THE NAVY" CHAMPIONSHIP

Detroit, Oct. 9.—Completing the spectacular saga of the Deans with a history-making climax, the great Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean pitched St. Louis to the baseball championship of the world today with a record shutout triumph, 11 to 0, as the Cardinal clouting crew slaughtered the pitching staff of the Detroit Tigers in as wild and riotous a finish as any World Series has ever witnessed.

The National League champions blasted the last defense of Mickey Cochrane's battered Bengals with a smashing seven-run attack in the third. They bombarded six pitchers all told for a total of 17 hits, while Dizzy Dean, turning in the fourth victory for his team and family, emerged from the seventh and final game with the most lopsided series shutout margin since Christy Mathewson blanked the Athletics, 9 to 0, in 1905.

Before the clouting Cardinals dashed off the field with the final decision, four games to three, and their third world championship in nine years, they survived a riotous outburst by the left field bleacher fans, who let loose a barrage of missiles aimed at Joe (Ducky Wucky) Medwick. The demonstration interrupted the game for 17 minutes and subsided only after the St. Louis left fielder and clean-up clouter was removed from the game, mainly for safety's sake, by Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

The demonstration, one of the worst in series history, was prompted by a run-in at third base in the Cardinal half of the sixth inning, when Medwick slid into the bag after a booming triple to right and exchanged kicks with Marvin Owen, Tiger infielder. The two players almost came to blows before they were separated by players and umpires, but Medwick's return to his position at the end of the inning was the signal for a wild outbreak by the thousands packed in the temporary open stands off left field.

Medwick was the target of fruit, hot dogs and a few dozen pop bottles, all of which he dodged before beating a retreat to the infield, where his team-mates clustered around him. Yelling and shouting, the crowd quickly littered up most of deep left field with food or anything else they could get their hands on. Players, umpires and finally Manager Cochrane went out to plead for order, but on each of three times that Medwick tentatively started back to his position, after workmen had cleared the field, the bleacherites broke loose with another terrific volley.

Finally Commissioner Landis called the two players involved in the mix-up, as well as the managers and umpires, into a conference, and ordered Medwick to the bench after a short parley. From the stands it appeared Owen was to blame for the incident, as he kicked Medwick first, after which the Cardinal slugger shoved both feet sharply into the third baseman's legs. But Landis decided that the only way to continue the game was to remove Medwick and avoid the possibility of the outfielder being "beaten" by a pop bottle or otherwise attacked by the rampant fans.

AT THE LOUISBURG THEATRE, THURSDAY & FRIDAY, OCT. 18-19

With James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, Frank McHugh, Dorothy Tree, Maude Eburne and Gloria Stuart

"Here Comes the Navy," Warner Bros.' smashing drama of Uncle Sam's jack-tars afloat, ashore and in the air, opens at the Louisburg Theatre on Thursday, Oct. 18 for two days, with James Cagney and Pat O'Brien in co-starring roles.

Based on Ben Markson's exciting story which combines romance rollicking comedy, rapid fire action and breath-taking thrills, the picture is said to be one of the most tremendous productions ever put out by Warner Bros.

For the first time in pictures, the whole gigantic pacific fleet is seen, weighing anchor and steaming out of its harbor for the Atlantic Coast.

Many of the thrills take place aboard the Arizona, where the Warner Bros. company of players spent three weeks taking scenes. In one of these, Jimmy saves his gun crew, including his hated enemy, from sure death in a flaming gun turret by rolling his half naked body over a burning powder trail which has almost reached a bag of explosives.

Another hair raising incident occurs at the navy dirigible base at Sunnyvale, Calif., where the company took scenes with the U. S. S. Dirigible Macon. Here three men are carried aloft clinging to ground wires when the giant gas bag ascends after finding the wind strong to effect a landing. Two plunge to their death while the third almost exhausted, holds on in desperation.

Jimmy, who has been transferred to the dirigible, again comes to the rescue, sliding down the ground wire with a parachute strapped to his back, only to find the man is his deadly enemy. Nevertheless he ropes the sailor to himself and plunges to the ground in the parachute.

Louisburg College Homecoming Today

The annual homecoming day at Louisburg College will take place (to-day) Friday, October 12, it was announced here recently. There has been a varied program arranged for the visitors the main feature of which will be the foot-ball game between the Louisburg Trojans and the William and Mary (Norfolk Div.) team. The grid contest will start promptly at two-thirty in the afternoon. All the citizens of Louisburg and the friends of Louisburg College are cordially invited. The Alumni are especially urged not to miss this Home-Coming.

Prices Up On All Grades

Oxford, Oct. 10.—Farmers who have brought tobacco to the Oxford market this week have hardly been able to believe their eyes, so agreeably surprised have they been with the high prices on the tags behind the auctioneer.

Prices are up on all grades of tobacco. Market officials are of the firm conviction the present is the opportune time to market the best grades of tobacco. Lugs and tips are selling high, too, in the Middle Belt, but Oxford has been pacing the prices for all markets in the region.

The average for sales this week was said to approximate $37.00 for about 800,000 pounds of tobacco. The six warehouses of Oxford already have paid out $1,776,787.56 for 6,127,583 lbs. of tobacco offered the first month of sales.

The government grading service offered here, the only market in the Middle Belt with this service, is attractive to a large number of farmers who desire to see how warehouse prices are comparing with those on the tobacco exchange in New York.
