HOME - COMING DAY

Special Music and Varied Program Arranged—Special Program for Sunday School

Rev. D. P. Harris, pastor of the Louisville Baptist Church announces Home Coming Day services as follows:

Instead of the usual sermon, we will spend a few minutes reading together our Church Covenant. If you have a copy of the church covenant, it would be well for you to bring it with you. Many of our people are anxious to know more about the meaning of this covenant.

If you do not attend the Sunday School, please bring your offering for the Orphanage when you come for the eleven o'clock worship.

We are asking everybody to register his name and address upon entering the church Sunday morning. There will be a special book provided for that purpose, and two of our young ladies will be in the church vestibule to assist you in this. This roster will be kept, not only for our information now, but for future generations.

Our church choir with Mrs. Bailey as director, and Mrs. Uzzell as organist, will furnish the special music for the occasion. It will be a happy day and profitable hour for all who come. All members, former members, and friends everywhere, we urge you to be there.

7 P. M. Evening Worship.

6:30 P. M. B. Y. P. U. meeting. Our young people will be in session just 30 minutes down stairs, then will go up to main auditorium where they join all of us for 30 minutes more. They will make their reports after coming upstairs. Then the pastor will preach a short sermon closing promptly at 7:30.

Sunday School
At the close of the class period a short play will be given by the members of the young ladies class, assisted by others. This play will be under the direction of Mrs. R. G. Bailey.

Our annual Thanksgiving offering will be taken in each class. As we all know, this offering goes to our Baptist Orphanage in the State. The children in our Baptist Orphanage are dependent upon this contribution for their food and clothing. Our heavenly Father has enjoined upon us this duty, and our people have always accepted it as a great pleasure. Let each one do his best Sunday morning.

The last of this week the Louisville Theatre is installing the finest and most expensive sound system available, Western Electric, the sound that is required in America's finest theatres. This sound equipment is the most perfect reproducer on the market, being the result of year's of research and experience in recording and reproducing by the competent and highly trained staff of the Western Electric laboratories at New York City. Electrical Research Products, Incorporated, a subsidiary of Western Electric will have two experienced engineers in Louisville Saturday night to go to work tearing out the old equipment and installing the new, in order that there may be no interruption in the programs at the theatre. The new sound equipment, the latest and most highly developed type, will be tested and ready for operation on Monday night when Irvin S. Cobb's "Judge Priest" will open a two day engagement. For the first time you can now hear the incomparable Will Rogers really bring to life Judge Priest and for the first time really hear his voice as it really should be, with all the richness, depth and color heard only through Western Electric Sound. This improvement is only one of the many things Manager Davis has planned to make Franklin County's finest and most fully equipped theatre the acme in talking picture presentation.

Goodman Talks To Farmers

John W. Goodman, District Extension Agent, addressed a Court House full of farmers in Louisville on Wednesday morning in which he attempted to show the farmers the benefits the Bankhead Cotton Adjustment bill had been to the many cotton growers and explained that proper adjustments would be made from time to time that would bring the operation to a satisfactory basis. During his talk he discussed the question of soil erosion, telling of its benefits and the method of operation and how to get it for Franklin County.

During the meeting many gave expression to their views on the cotton situation, including Col C. L. McGhee, of Franklinton, who is well posted on the Cotton statistics as they apply to Franklin and it appeared that the audience was about evenly divided on its attitude for and against the measure.

Tar Heels Prove Bit Too Playful

Snavely Gets Pessimistic as Carolina Players Become Optimistic

Chapel Hill, Nov. 21.—The Carolina gridgers laughed and frolicked through a light practice yesterday—and a large time was had by all except Coach Carl Snavely.

The coach, seeing unmistakable signs of complacency and overconfidence as a result of the team's signal triumph over Duke, tears the Tar Heels may be on the other end of the upset at Virginia on Thanksgiving Day.

The squad had about recovered from its terrific battle with the Blue Devils, and Coach Snavely promised heavier work for Friday—with regular scrimmage Friday.

OPTIMISM AT VIRGINIA

University, Va., Nov. 22.—Virginia's football coaches are coming to believe that there is something almost magical that is inspiring the Virginia Cavaliers as they prepare to play their Thanksgiving Day game against North Carolina's Tar Heels.

Until last Saturday the Virginians regarded the Carolina contest as just another game. But the news that the North Carolinians defeated Duke seems to have gotten under their skins and infected them with a collective ambition to lick the team that licked Duke.

No practice was called for Monday and only a brief workout was held Tuesday. But despite a slow start and threatening weather the Cavaliers who reported Wednesday appeared to be keen to get ready to turn in their best game when they face the Tar Heels.

"Madame Du Barry"

Starring Dolores Del Rio And Victor Jory At The Louisville Theatre Thursday and Friday, Nov. 29th and 30th

"Madame Du Barry," the Warner Bros. production depicting the intimate life and loves of the famous beauty who ruled the court of King Louis XV, comes to the Louisville Theatre, Thursday (Thanksgiving) and Friday, November 28th and 29th, with Dolores Del Rio in the stellar role. Although the intrigues of the court, as in any story of Du Barry, will be apparent, Edward Chodorov, the author of the current screen play is said to have concerned himself with the lighter side of the king's favorite.

The picture, while billed as a comedy drama, with the emphasis on the comedy, also is a mammoth spectacle with its gorgeous reproductions of the court, the palace at Versailles, the famous Colonnade Gardens, where the grand ladies and resplendent courtiers disported themselves in gaudy and luxury, while the people starved.

Nor is the picture without its dramatic moments when Du Barry fights intrigue with intrigues, usually outwitting her enemies, who would gladly thrust a dagger through her beautiful back. Yet even in these more intense sequences, the irrepressible Du Barry usually manages to end them with a laugh—at the expense of the enemy.

There is a gorgeous and novel dance staged by the famous Albertina Rash dancers.

The picture has an unusually large cast of talented players in the principal roles and hundreds of others in minor parts. Dolores Del Rio has the part of Du Barry with Reginald Owen playing opposite her as King Louis XV.

Other include Victory Jory, Osmond Perkins, Verree Teasdale, Ferdinand Gottschalk, Dorothy Tree, Anita Louise, Maynard Holmes, Henry O'Neill, Hobart Cavanaugh and Helen Lowell.

Yarborough explained that the purpose of the meeting was for the organization of a Laymen's League, the object of which was to stimulate the activities of the men in the affairs of the Church and Sunday School. Hearty and enthusiastic approval of the ideals and objects of the Laymen's League was voiced by a number of those present, and under the direction of Mr. Pulley, who acted as chairman of the meeting, officers were elected as follows:

President, L. L. Joyner; Vice-President, Kemp F. Yarborough; Secretary-Treasurer, W. J. Shearin; Members of Executive Committee, R. C. Beck and Hill Yarborough.
