Cotton Growers Association In Franklin Hold Annual Meeting

Quite a good number of members of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Co-operative Marketing Association met in the court house Friday morning at 11 o'clock, to hear report from General Manager M. G. Mann relative to the past years business and to name delegates to the district meeting to be held in Louisburg on Friday, April 26th at 2:30 p. m., at which time a director will be nominated.

The meeting was presided over by A. E. Spivey with A. F. Johnson as Secretary and the object of the meeting was stated by Mr. Mann who also presented L. Bruce Gunter Director for the District, who stated that he accepted the position of Director with instructions to do certain definite things and he was glad to report that he had about accomplished what he had been instructed to do even though it had been a big and embarrassing job. He was especially proud of the success of his efforts to reduce the costs of handling cotton.

In addressing the members Mr. Mann stated that he welcomed this season, when he could come before them and tell them of the years business. He said the association had received more cotton the past year than the year before although competition had been greater, and that they are still receiving cotton and advancing 12 cents on it. He thought the price of cotton should be 15 cents minimum. He was sure it was worth that much to the grower, but considering the exports, local consumption and demand for cotton goods it was not worth 12 cents. He compared the one time cost of $3.00 per bale for handling the cotton with the present cost of $1.00. He stated that they had reduced the budget this year 3-10 per cent and had saved in rents alone the difference between $4500 and $1800 per year. In answering the question "When is it time to sell?" he said not now. Informed opinion says hold for above 12 cents, but when the prices reach 12 1/2 to 13 cents he advises to sell. He told how we are about to lose our cotton export market and pleaded with his hearers to plant only the best of seed this year.

The Chairman was instructed to appoint five delegates to the District meeting and he named the following: A. F. Johnson, H. F. Mitchell, J. W. Perry, N. M. Perry, and A. E. Spivey.

The meeting was enthusiastic and enjoyable.

Tests Whiskey

The regular and even procedure in the usual routine of Franklin Recorders Court, was interrupted on Monday to make a test for whiskey. The usual burning method was used in the evidence. In the particular case before the court the evidence would not burn but the evidence in another case used as comparative burned brightly. The courts rulings followed the tests. The docket was disposed of as follows:

J. E. Bailey was found not guilty of operating an automobile intoxicated.

Ernest Burwell was found guilty of public drunkenness and unlawful possession of whiskey, and was given 60 days on roads, upon payment of costs execution of roads sentence to issue only upon order of this court.

Eight new orchard and garden demonstrations have been started in Person County as a beginning of greater food production by tobacco growers.

House Passes Bonus Pay

President Makes Threat of Veto, but Senate May Pass $2,000,000,000 Bill.

The lower branch of the United States Congress Friday passed the administration - opposed Patman bill for paying off the soldiers' bonus by issuing $2,000,000,000 of new money. The measure was sent to the senate.

The North Carolina delegation in the house with the exception of R. L. Doughton and Walter Lambeth, voted for the bill.

President Roosevelt has threatened several times to veto the legislation if passed by Congress. The vote was 318 to 90, more than two-thirds required to override a veto.

Senate approval was freely predicted, but administration leaders counted on that body to refuse to pass the measure over a veto. That would require a two-thirds vote.

Before final passage the house rejected 204 to 207 the Vinson-American Legion bill for paying the bonus but leaving up to the government the method of raising the money.

It also turned down the Tydings-Cochran - Andrews measure for making the payments in negotiable bonds.

The vote was 82 to 318 against the Tydings-Cochran-Andrews proposal.

James V. Van Zandt, the commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said, "We are overjoyed and deeply grateful for the overwhelming vote."

Trojans Defeat High-Point Team

Homers Send Louisburg Off to Big Start in 11-1 Win; Weldon Whiffs 10

Home runs produced five of the first six tallies made by Louisburg in an 11-1 win over High Point College here Wednesday.

It was the opening test for the Trojan baseballers, who won handily behind the pitching of Captain Weldon. He gave 10 hits but kept them scattered, and he whiffed 10.

Weldon started the tallying by hitting a homer with one on in the second. West homered with one on in the third, and then Richards, drafted as a pinchhitter, smacked a Ruthian in the fourth. Batteries: High Point—Harris, Hyatt and Diamond; Louisburg—Weldon and Richards.

The Trojans meet Presbyterian Junior College at Raeford Thursday and Friday.

High Point moves over to Wilson to play Atlantic Christian College Thursday. The Panthers play State at Raleigh on Friday.

Dime-Store Heiress Through With Prince

NEW YORK... The dime-store heiress, the former Barbara Hutton of the Woolworth millions, is through with her husband, the Georgian Prince, Alexis Mdivani. At least so she said while making ready to sail alone from London for New York to ask divorce. They were married two years ago... She says they are parting "the best of friends" and that not a penny will be settled on the Prince. Photo shows Prince and Barbara shortly after their marriage.

Oxford Orphanage Singing Class

Announcement is made that the Oxford Orphanage Singing Class will give a concert in Mills High School Auditorium on Monday night, April 1st, 1935 at 8 o'clock. No admission will be charged, and every body is invited. A silver offering will be taken at the door.

The Singing Class of the Oxford Orphanage is again under the direction of Mrs. Sadie T. Hutchinson, and is composed of fourteen boys and girls. The program will be featured with delightful songs, recitations and drills with colorful costumes and splendid music. For more than fifty years the Singing Class has made annual tours all over North Carolina, each year bringing a new group of children with a new program, and the appearance of these children in the various communities has been a great influence in cultivating interest in the cause of the orphan.

In the sixty-two years of its existence there is scarcely a community in the State that has not sent some boy or girl to the Oxford Orphanage for care and training.

The Class is under the traveling management of Mr. L. W. Alderman who has traveled thousands of miles and his thousands of friends among Masons as well as others look forward to his coming with the Singing Class. The appearance of the Singing Class bus on the highway and on the streets has been an object of interest for the past four years. The members of the Class are entertained in the homes of Masons and other friends and the presence of the orphans in the homes of our people always gives an opportunity to see and hear about the splendid work done by the Masons and the state of North Carolina in taking care of children who are dependent.

Work is a tonic, whereas inactivity and worry sign many death warrants.

Roger Rolt-Wheeler and H. W. Hanemann wrote the screen play which was adapted from an original story by Rolt-Wheeler. Sally Blane and Charles Starrett head the cast and Hardie Albright and William Farnum also are featured.

The thrilling story deals with a history-making, non-stop, cross-country run of the Silver Streak from Chicago to Boulder Dam. In the photoplay the train carries the newly developed "Drinker Respirators," perhaps better known as "iron-lungs," on an epic errand of mercy, the respirators being used to save the lives of great numbers of workers who have been stricken with infantile paralysis.

Railroad officials claim that cross-country runs, such as the one depicted in this picture, will be a common occurrence just as soon as the streamline speed trains are generally put into service.

The American Legion Auxiliary will assist any family of an Ex-service man to obtain a Government grave marker. Let us have information at once so that headstones may be obtained before Memorial Day.

Heavy Storms Monday

VISITS SEVERAL SEC- TIONS OF STATE

Some Dead Several Injured and Much Property Dam- age Follow

Concord, March 25.—Winds of tornadoe destructiveness swept over wide sections of Cabarrus county this afternoon and early reports reaching Concord from the stricken areas indicated total damage would exceed $50,000.

The Jackson Training school, state institution for boys, was one of the storm centers and damage there will exceed $25,000, one of the officials stated after making a hurried examination of the damaged buildings.

In the Roberta Mill community a church was blown down, an operative's house was blown from its foundations and more than half a dozen other homes were unroofed.

Person living in the Poplar Tent section, seven miles west of Concord, reported a wind velocity sufficient to rip bark from trees. There also roofs were blown from houses, trees were snapped off and crops were ruined.

Rain of cloudburst proportions accompanied the wind and telegraph, telephone and electric wires were strewn across highways and fields. Concord was without electric current during the height of the storm but escaped damage from the wind. None of the 16 cottages at the training school escaped damage, and water poured into them as the wind ripped off their roofs.

Rockingham, March 25.—A wind, hail and rain storm of almost cyclonic proportions swept over this section at 4:02 o'clock this afternoon, causing one death and serious injury to another.

The dead man is Nelo Ormsby, carpenter, who was at work at the top of an 80-foot frame derrick along-side the new federal building being erected here. The derrick was just being completed when the cyclone struck, toppling the structure on to the concrete-steel building. W. J. McCormick, deaf-mute, of Laurinburg, engaged in carpentry work, was in the path of the falling derrick and was seriously hurt. Both men were rushed to the Hamlet hospital, where Ormsby died at 5:46 o'clock. He is a son of Adrian Ormsby, and nephew of Chief of Police Tom Ormsby.

The storm blew down the chimneys from a dozen buildings. The most serious property damage was the unroofing of a portion of the Fox drug store building in the center of town. No hail fell in town, but four miles east of here the hail depth measured four inches.

Wadesboro, March 25.—The most severe hail storm in the memory of Wadesboro people occurred here this afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock. Many of the pieces were about as large as guinea eggs, and the fall continued for several minutes, covering the ground.

Hundreds of automobile tops were riddled and great numbers of windows were broken. There was other minor damage, and the total loss will aggregate thousands of dollars. The hail was accompanied and followed by a high wind and heavy rain.

who has served the people of Franklin County as Liquidating Agent for the First National Bank in such an efficient capacity that he is now paying a dividend of 12 1/2 per cent bringing the total dividends paid under his management to 97 1/2 per cent, a record that he should be proud of having made and one that the many creditors of the Bank are also proud that he has made, it being so outstanding in the settlements of defunct banks. YOUNG PEOPLE'S BOOST FAMILY COW PROGRAM

A. C. Kimrey, extension dairyman at State College, is enlisting the help of school children to interest their parents in the family cow program for eastern North Carolina.

"This new way of reaching parents is the most successful we have found thus far," Kimrey stated, "and we hope to expand it to other counties in the future."

The movement was launched in Wilson, Currituck, and Greene counties, with Edgecombe next on the schedule.

Kimrey reported that he has been addressing between 2,000 and 3,000 school children, 4-H club members, and other young people each week, endeavoring to show them the need for more milk in the diet.

At the close of the address, those children who do not have cows at home are asked to remain for a discussion of the possibilities of their raising calves. Those interested are listed, together with the names of their parents.

The extension specialist and the local farm and home agents then carry the matter to the parents. If the parents are willing to buy a heifer calf for the children to raise, the agents and the specialist offer their help in securing calves at a moderate price.

"Right now," Kimrey explained, "we are not insisting that they buy expensive calves of the best breeding. The main thing is to place at least one calf with each family so that it may have an adequate supply of milk and butter in the near future."

"We find that those children who come from homes which do not have a family cow are, as a rule, undernourished and inferior physically to those children that have milk in their diet. In Wilson County, about 80 percent of the children to whom I talked came from homes where there were no cows."
