Timely Farm Questions

Answered at State College

Question: How can I control bud worms in my tobacco?
 Answer: The best known control for this damage is the poisoned corn meal bait. This is made by thoroughly mixing 50 pounds of corn meal with one pound of arsenate of lead. A small pinch of this mixture should be dropped in the center of the bud early in the morning when the tobacco bud is open. Begin applications as early as possible after the plants are set and repeat every week or ten days until the plants are topped. One peck or twelve pounds of the mixture will cover an acre of tobacco plants.

Question: Is it a good policy to cross breed poultry?
 Answer: Cross breeding is becoming very popular with large poultry producers. This crossing of breeds apparently steps up the vigor of the progeny and therefore gives a higher percentage of livability, especially if purebred parents have been used. This is especially desirable in broiler production work. In relation to egg production, a first generation cross should be advantageous but should not be carried further.

GOOD NIGHT, EDITOR!

When a plumber makes a mistake, he charges twice for it.
 When a lawyer makes a mistake, he has a chance to try the case all over again.
 When a doctor makes a mistake, he buries it.
 When a judge makes a mistake, it becomes a law of the land.
 When a preacher makes a mistake, nobody knows it.
 But when an editor makes a mistake—Good night.—Exchange.

From Poplar Springs

A week's revival meeting is to begin at the Church the 15th Sunday, June 30. Rev. W. L. McSwain of, Harmony, N. C., is to do the preaching. He is an able pastor and preacher, and you will enjoy hearing him. Time of services will be at 2:30 p. m., and 8 p. m. each day beginning Sunday afternoon and continuing through the week. The public is invited to attend all of these services. We are expecting many of the Church's "old friends" living in other communities to return for a visit that week and attend the services. We shall be happy to welcome you back home.
 Our pastor, Rev. C. E. Crawford, brought a helpful message to us last Sunday afternoon. He used as his subject, "The Making of A Life." Life is determined by its ruling motive. The highest motive is, obedience to the will of God. If a life is actuated by this, the supremest of all motives, it shall be lived most successful.
 We are glad to report that Mrs. Millard Hales, of our community, who has been sick for several weeks is much improved. Also Miss Kathryn Griffin who has been confined to her bed for the past two weeks is improving nicely.—Reported.
 Cowpeas and soybeans on all the small grain stubble not in lespedeza is a wise farm program, says P. H. Kime, State College agronomist.
 I have won every argument I ever had with myself.
 It's queer why a stock goes down the minute some people buy it.
