

The Family of the Late Beloved Will Rogers

Prize Winners

Winners in the June-July Sales Contest of the Norfolk Branch of the Ford Motor Company, have just been announced by J. H. Wood, Branch Manager for the Company.

Starting the first day of June every dealer in the Norfolk Branch territory went after first place honors in his particular group, and the free trip to San Diego to the Pacific International Exposition, in progress there now.

Rules for this contest gave dealers an equal opportunity. The dealers being classed in five different groups, according to the population of the territory their agency covered and the company's potential selling prospects.

The winners announcement by Mr. Wood revealed that the Dealer Prize Winners in their respective groups were Crowell-Dodson Auto Co., Danville, Va., John Flanagan Buggy Company, Greenville, N. C., Chatham Motor Company, Chatham, Va., Plymouth Motor Company, Plymouth, N. C. and Henry Vann Company, Clinton, N. C.

Mr. T. J. Nottingham, Jr., Zone Manager, will accompany the party on the trip, as the result of the zone over which he has control making the best record in the entire Branch territory.

These winning dealers were the guests of Mr. Wood in Norfolk at Hotel Nansmond, Ocean View Park, on August 15th. They will leave on September 1st for San Diego, by way of Chicago.

This contest was arranged by Mr. Wood, and according to the latest figures, was one of the most successful ever staged in this territory. Sales, instead of the usual summer slump off, held an even line over this ordinarily dull season in the South.

The party will arrive in San Diego, Thursday, September the fifth. While there they will be the guests of the Ford Motor Company, who have arranged a full three days of entertainment and tours for them. One of the personally conducted tour through features of this trip will be the mammoth Ford Exposition in progress.

While there the party will attend a special luncheon as guests of the Ford Motor Company, at which time they will be addressed by W. C. Cowling, General Sales Manager for the Ford Motor Company, who made his plans to visit the Exposition during their stay.

Farmers are urged to be extra careful in buying pigs this year. Disease outbreaks are becoming frequent in some areas. Every time a truck load of diseased pigs is moved, it may lead to another outbreak of cholera or other disease.

MISS MAUDE HOLMES

Sanford.—Miss Maude Holmes of Raleigh, died at Lee County Hospital Wednesday morning at 7 o'clock, following a brief illness.

Miss Holmes was the guest of her sister, Mrs. M. S. Davis, in Louisburg, when she suffered a stroke of apoplexy, early Sunday morning. She was brought to Lee County Hospital on Tuesday.

Miss Holmes, who was born in Franklin County, was the daughter of the late Rev. K. D. Holmes, former pastor of Steele Street Methodist Church, Sanford, and the late Mrs. Holmes. She received her education at Louisburg College and for a number of years taught in the Sanford Schools.

Later she graduated in nursing at the Central Carolina Hospital, Sanford, and practiced her profession here. For the past six years Miss Holmes has been in charge of the infirmary at the State School for the Blind in Raleigh.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. M. S. Davis, of Louisburg; Mrs. B. F. King, Jr., of Birmingham, Ala.; and Mrs. W. M. Cade, of Sanford; and a brother, Russell I. Holmes, of Louisburg.

Funeral services were held from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cade in Sanford Thursday afternoon at 4:30. Burial was in the family plot, in Buffalo cemetery.

By Patricia Dow

Designed in Sizes: 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 38 requires 5 1/4 yards of 39-inch material, with 1 1/2 yard of ribbon 3 inches wide for bow.

A SHIRTWAIST DRESS
Pattern 8458—The shirtwaist style of frock has captured the devotion of women near and far, and with good reason for it is the most becoming and satisfactory design for almost any occasion—depending on the material in which it is made.

The style pictured has the small rolling collar and bow tie so much in demand, together with the saddle shoulder and flaring sleeves which are most desirable in warm weather. Inverted pleats at the end of the front panel and side seams give plenty of fullness in the skirt.

This design would be effective in either silk or cotton. A checked design in rayon crinkled crepe in tones of brown and yellow would be striking with brown accessories.

For PATTERN, send 15 cents in coin (for each pattern desired), your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE to Patricia Dow, The Franklin Times, Patterns Dept., 115 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Welding

... the best way to make a perfect union of two pieces of metal is by welding them together.

... and the best way to get a more pleasing flavor and a better taste in a cigarette is by welding together the different types of tobacco . . .

That is just what we do in making CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes—the three types of mild ripe home-grown tobaccos, that is tobaccos grown in this country, are welded together. Then they are welded with aromatic Turkish. When these tobaccos are welded together you get a combined flavor which is entirely different from any one type of tobacco.

It is this welding of the right amounts of the right kind of tobaccos that makes CHESTERFIELD a milder and better-tasting cigarette.
