BIRDS . . . on the move I am impressed every Fall by the aptness of the expression "Free as a bird." I know of no other living thing that enjoys the liberty the birds have.

Just now the crows are "packing up" for their southward migration, taking their new families with them. The hummingbirds, loveliest of all our feathered friends, have already started for their winter home in Mexico. The wrens that have nested in a hole over our kitchen door for ten years, set off last week with their second brood of the season. The orioles and the bluejays have gone South, the bobolinks have started for South Carolina, where they become "rice birds."

Who does not envy the birds their freedom and their ability to travel as they please?

CONTINENTAL . . . 1782
Everybody has heard worthless things denounced as "not worth a Continental." Just what that means was brought home the other day when a neighbor of mine, repairing an old house that dates from Revolutionary days, found some old letters in a crack in the attic floor.

One of the letters said that oats were bringing $36 a bushel in Continental currency, in Boston.
That was in 1782, when our first great period of inflation was at its height. The Continental Congress was printing money, which had nothing back of it but a very doubtful promise.
Horses sold for above $2,500, cows as high as $3,000 a head, bacon at $8 a pound, and so on—in Continental money. The few who had faith in the future of the young nation, sold their goods for those high prices and kept the money they received, were the fortunate ones, for the Continental currency was eventually redeemed.

THE HOUSE OF HAZARDS

I HEAR MR. HAZARD'S FAMILY IS STILL VACATIONING. NOW IS MY CHANCE TO PUT THE THEORIES OF THIS BOOK ON SALES PSYCHOLOGY TO A TEST.
