FRANKLIN COUNTY STUDENTS PRESENT AT STATE B. S. U. CONVENTION

The B. S. U. State Convention was held in Raleigh from October 25 through October 27. Mr. Linwood Griffin, Raymond Moore and Miss Marcell Parrish were Campbell College's representatives from Franklin County. All three of these are on student council and has already shown a good Christian spirit in working with their school.

There were many good speakers present and a very good program. The students were carried through by members of the Baptist church. Each one came back to Campbell with a better spirit and proud of the fact that they had a chance to attend this convention.

Deacon Pinchpenny—Yes, suh, he got mad and called me a darned old bareface scoundrel.

Baptist State Convention

(By CHARLES H. DICKEY)
Asheville, Nov. 6.—The 105th annual session of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention will convene in the First Baptist church of Asheville on next Tuesday, November 12, for a 3 day session, the concluding program being rendered on Thursday night November 14.

As is this denomination's custom, the Baptist pastors of the state always meet in their annual session at the convention city a day earlier. Accordingly, the Baptist pastors of the state will meet in the same place on Monday afternoon, November 11, and will carry their sessions through that afternoon, that evening, and through Tuesday morning, adjourning at noon Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock.

The Baptist denomination is the largest in North Carolina, and each year when the Pastors' Conference and Convention meet this constitutes the largest religious meeting of any denomination to be held anywhere in this state. It is expected that twelve to fifteen hundred delegates and visitors will be present at the Asheville meetings. Notable speakers will be present, among whom are Dr. Ellis Fuller, pastor First Baptist church, Atlanta; Dr. Board, Richmond.

The Baptists number nearly one-half million in this state, and have 2,400 churches with as many Sunday schools. All indications point toward a great meeting in Asheville. This is the first time the annual sessions have been held there in 15 years.

Twenty samples of Scotland County seed sent to Raleigh for a germination test showed clearly the waste of buying cheap seed. Only 56 per cent of the seed in one sample germinated.

As AAA Affects Locally

Featuring latest developments in the AAA, as they affect farm commodities produced locally, the November issue of our State Farmer Section, appears with this issue of our newspaper.

Much has transpired within AAA circles since the last issue of our State Farmer Section. Steps have been taken to increase potato prices prior to the time the Warren potato bill becomes operative. The corn-hog referendum has given the administration a resounding vote of confidence, and a new contract is in course of preparation for 1936, based on fair profits to the producer and reasonable prices to the consumer.

A committee within the AAA is preparing alternative measures designed to substitute for any adverse ruling by the Supreme Court on processing taxes or on the constitutionality of the Agricultural Adjustment Act itself.

All of these happenings are interpreted by expert special writers, in terms of local application.

In addition, there is a wealth of news and feature articles dealing with every commodity produced in this area, and with national activities in the field of agricultural progress which have a local bearing. Among these are the National Future Farmer Congress; the National 4-H Club

Congress; the American Royal and International Livestock Expositions; the National Dairy Show and other events.

In this issue will be found something of interest to every member of the farm family, all of which has been specially prepared with many illustrations. Read feature carefully and let us have your comments.

Give a politician a free hand, and he will put it in your pocket.
