

SCHMELING KNOCKS OUT JOE LOUIS

Yankee Stadium, New York, June 19.—Former Heavyweight Champion Max Schmeling of Germany, tonight scored one of the most thundering upsets in sports history by knocking out the mighty "Brown Bomber" Joe Louis, in the 12th round after smashing the erst-while unbeaten negro superman to the floor twice.

Schmeling again became the world's No. 1 heavyweight challenger as Referee Arthur Donovan tolled the full ten-count over the Detroit negro at 2:29 of the 12th round. They were scheduled to fight 15 rounds, but Louis—winner of 27 consecutive professional victories—had suffered such a beating from 30-year-old Max that his handlers had virtually to carry him from the ring.

Changed Places
Thus, it was the mighty Joe Louis, 10 to 1 favorite to "execute" the ancient battle-scarred bull dog of the Rhine, who changed places and went to doom instead.

More than 60,000 frenzied fans screamed and yelled as the smiling, but battle-red Maxie finished his man in the same stadium where Maxie Baer stopped Schmeling in 1933. They could scarcely believe the ring miracle that was occurring there in the white patch of light between second base and the pitcher's box.

The knockout had been expected after the fourth round when Maxie—who in the first three sessions appeared to be in for a pasting—suddenly lashed out with his right from a backward crouch and smashed Joe flush on the chin. Two more rights to the same spot put Joe down on the canvas in that fourth round for the first time in his professional career.

Louis never completely recovered from those triphammer smashes in the fourth. And he took only one round thereafter, as Maxie hammered and hammered the brown boy's cupid face until the left side was puffed and distorted like a brown balloon.

End in Twelfth
So, the end came in the 12th, when the grim-visaged Schmeling whirled out of a clinch and smashed Joe with right and left hooks to the chin. He battered Louis—staggering on rubber legs—into a corner and smashed and bashed him to the head. They clinched and moved to mid-ring. Then Maxie landed five hard right smashes to the reeling bomber's chin and Joe wilted to the floor. He came down on his knees, and keeled over on his stomach, holding his head sort of up on one elbow. He was trying futilely to rise as the count went on. He had given a game show—despite two fouls called against him—but he had met a better man.

HORTON-JOHNSON

Yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, Miss Annie Lois Johnson of Raleigh became the bride of Charles Phillip Horton, also of Raleigh. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Forrest C. Pezor, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist Church, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. L. B. Eisenhart on Breeze Road.

An improvised altar was arranged before the fireplace in the living room, palms and ferns forming a background for the candelabra, which held slender tapers. On either side of the mantel were hob-nail vases of English ivy and in the center was a crystal bowl of white snapdragons and fern.

The bride and bridegroom entered the living room together and were unattended. She wore a lovely suit of navy triple-sheer crepe with a jacket of white embroidered organza. Her accessories were of blue and white, and she wore a shoulder corsage of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Horton left for a wedding trip to unannounced points.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Johnson of Louisburg. She is a graduate of Edward Best High School in Franklin County and attended Miss Hardbarger's School here. For the past two years she has made her home here, where she has held a position with the WPA.

Mr. Horton is the son of Mrs. Annie Horton and the late C. T. Horton of Raleigh. He received his education in the Raleigh

Randolph Denton Wins

Raleigh June 25.—Randolph Denton, of the Gold Sand High School in Franklin County, has been declared Central district winner of the ninth annual cooperative essay contest from a field of more than 2,000 contestants from 22 counties.

The announcement was made here today by M. G. Mann, general manager of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association and the Farmers Cooperative Exchange, the two organizations sponsoring the contest. At the same time Mr. Mann pointed out that by virtue of his victory Denton will come to Raleigh on July 10 to compete with three other district winners in the final contest for the State championship and first prize of a one-year college scholarship.

Denton is a student in the Gold Sand High School where W. O. Read is principal and J. M. Hagy is vocational teacher. He was declared district winner after his essay had been adjudged best by an impartial judging committee from State College composed of: J. W. Johansen, economist in farm organization, chairman; Dr. Jane S. McKimmon, assistant director of extension; and Frank Jeter, agricultural editor.

"We tried a new idea on the essay contest this year," commented Mr. Mann. "Instead of having the usual one subject, this year we asked 10 leading agricultural authorities in the State to submit pertinent questions in regard to an improved agricultural program, and these were given to the contestants for them to answer. Many of the answers are outstanding examples of clear thinking."

The following are the agricultural leaders who submitted questions: Dr. Frank P. Graham, President, the Greater University; Dean I. O. Schaub, director State Extension Work; Dr. Jane S. McKimmon, assistant director state extension work; W. A. Graham, State Commissioner of Agriculture; Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer; T. E. Browne, State Director of vocational education; Roy H. Thomas, State supervisor of vocational education; Dr. G. W. Forster, head, department of economics, N. C. State College; J. W. Johansen, Extension economist in Farm Organization and Credit at State College; and Dr. Joseph G. Knapp senior agricultural economist, Farm Credit Division.

The counties in the Central district, of which Denton is winner, are: Alamance, Caswell, Chatham, Davidson, Durham, Forsyth, Franklin, Granville, Guilford, Harnett, Johnston, Lee, Montgomery, Moore, Orange, Person, Randolph, Rockingham, Stokes, Vance, Wake, and Warren.

schools and at State College. He is now employed by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company here.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Johnson of Louisburg, parents of the bride; Mrs. T. P. Dean, grandmother of the bride, and Miss Martha Grey Dean, both of Louisburg; Mr. and Mrs. George Selby and Miss Katherine Weathers of Louisburg; Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. A BIRTHDAY PARTY

One of the most unique and altogether delightful events of the season was the Birthday Party for Mrs. J. A. Beam, given by her daughters, Mrs. R. G. Bailey and Mrs. G. M. Beam, at the home of Mrs. G. M. Beam.

The house, lovely in its appointments and decorations was arranged for four tables of Boston Rock. The guests had gathered and everything seemed to smile a welcome. On this day, 17th of June, which marked the beginning of a new chapter in the beautiful story of Mrs. Beam's life, the celebration was planned. She had no intimation of a party.

The genuine joy and surprise pictured on her countenance was a pleasure to see. After four rounds of the game was played, and when the prizes were to be awarded, high score to Mrs. J. L. Palmer, second score to Mrs. E. J. Morgan, a shower of gifts, dainty and beautiful fell to Mrs. Beam.

When she recovered from the joy and surprise, she rose, and in her own gracious and charming manner expressed sincere appreciation for the love and good wishes of the occasion which brought to her such gladness.

Refreshments were served by the grandchildren present, Miss Mamie Beam, little Misses Racheal Ann and Sarah Beam Bailey; and the party was over, each friend as they departed wished for Mrs. Beam many more birthdays. The following were present:

Mesdames J. A. Beam, M. C. Pleasants, C. K. Cooke, Levy Beasley, J. H. Boone, M. S. Davis, G. M. Beam, E. J. Morgan, W. H. Allen, W. N. Fuller, Fess Fuller, Mc Furgerson, J. L. Palmer, Cheatham Austin, R. G. Bailey, Mr. G. M. Beam.

Rid Yourself of Kidney Poisons

DO you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination; backache, headache, dizziness, loss of energy, leg pains, swellings and puffiness under the eyes? Are you tired, nervous—feel all unstrung and don't know what is wrong?

Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly for functional kidney disorder permits excess waste to stay in the blood, and to poison and upset the whole system.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They are recommended the world over. You can get the genuine, time-tested Doan's at any drug store.
