It has been some time now since a kidnaping for ransom has been pulled off in the United States. The G-men seem to have thrown terror into the would-be kidnapers who are still alive and out of jail—if there are any such rats.

All through dinner Percy sat silent. It worried his parents. At last they began to wonder what was troubling him. The boy was doing some very hard thinking. Finally, the silence was broken by the boy:

Percy—Daddy, do school teachers get paid?

Daddy—Of course they do, sonny.

Percy (indignantly)—Then it ain't fair. Why should the teachers get paid when us children do all of the work?

A very nice old lady had a few words to say to her granddaughter:

Old Lady—My dear, I wish you would do something for me. I wish you would promise me never to use two words. One is swell and the other is lousy. Would you promise me that?

Girl—Why sure, Granny. What are the words?

Enemy (at maneuvers)—You are my prisoner!

Sergeant Blinks—Nonsense! How did you get here?

Enemy—Over the bridge.

You're foolish! Why, you are drowned! We blew up that bridge yesterday.

Mother (to little son), Son to what kind of school do you go?

Little Son: I go to an immoral school.

Mother: What do you mean, you go to an immoral school?

Son: Why we don't have no principle.
