It Looked Like This 19 Years Ago

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE... The first Armistice Day was greeted something like this. Today we face East and pause in homage to those whose names mark white crosses in Flanders Fields. 19 years ago these Doughboys were glad the War To End War was over. Today new war scares make millions wonder, "can all this happen again?"

COLLEGE FACULTY ENTER-TAINED

The members of the Louisburg Kiwanis Club had as their guests at their weekly luncheon Tuesday evening, the faculty of Louisburg College.

Miss Mary Finch won the attendance prize for the women guests and Mr. J. L. Cameron won the prize for the visiting men.

Quite a good deal of laughter arose when everyone introduced him and herself, especially when the Kiwanians told their profession. As one woman told as her profession, "to keep up with her husband." It just happened that her husband was there and his profession was "to keep ahead of his wife." Also there were quite a few "town farmers" who everyone thought were lawyers or doctors.

Dr. D. E. Earnhardt, President of Louisburg College and a Kiwanian also, gave the main address of the evening as only Dr. Earnhardt could have. His topic for the occasion was "You." He asked some questions and then answered them himself. Also he read and explained some maxims which he had run across. Although his talk kept everyone laughing from start to finish, he spoke from the heart and plenty of meaning in every word he said which would be of great benefit to everyone present.

WHERE IS HE?

- The Merchant in Louisburg who would refuse to sell a customer from another town?
- The Doctor in Louisburg who would refuse to treat a patient from another town?
- The Lawyer in Louisburg who would not take a case from a client because he was from another county?
- An Undertaker in Louisburg who would refuse to sell a casket for and bury a person in some other county?
- The Druggist in Louisburg who would refuse to fill prescriptions or sell drugs, to people outside of Louisburg?
- A Warehouse in Louisburg who would refuse to sell for customers because they were from another county?

YET

A Newspaper who will sell advertising to a firm in other towns is an ungrateful enterprise that should be run out of a community, even though the majority of it's home enterprises and businesses do not patronize it, but buy in other towns.

But such is life!

Co-operation, in business as well as anything else, is a two sided game.

ELECTIONS TUESDAY

New York Defeats Tammany—Connecticut Returns Three Mayors—Kentucky Has Row

New York, Nov. 2.—Florence H. La Guardia was re-elected mayor of New York today on a Republican-Fusion-Labor ticket—the first so-called "reform" candidate ever to beat the city Democratic machine twice in a row.

Jeremiah T. Mahoney, his Democratic opponent, conceded defeat shortly after 9 o'clock tonight, as the mayor's lead mounted to some 80,000 votes out of a total of 615,000 counted at that time.

The leaders of Tammany hall, which in the century and a half of its life always had been able heretofore to beat down any second term challenge to city hall control, were silent for the most part, but Tammany Chieftain Christopher Sullivan commented that the returns were "bum figures."

Dewey Also Wins

With La Guardia into office went Thomas E. Dewey, a special rackets prosecutor who defeated the Tammany candidate for district attorney of the borough of Manhattan, Harold W. Hastings.

The mayor, squat, hot-tongued and politically unconventional, went into power four years ago when the Democratic party was split. This time, it was united outwardly at least, with Postmaster General James A. Farley, the Democratic national chairman, coming home to New York to go to the stump for Mahoney ticket. Tammany's loss of the district attorneyship made its defeat all the more crushing.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 2.—Incumbent mayors, two of them Democrats and the third a socialist, were returned to office today in Connecticut's three biggest cities.

Mayor Jasper McLevy, first socialist ever to be named chief executive of a Connecticut city, was re-elected in Bridgeport by about 19,000 votes.

Hartford returned Mayor Thomas J. Spelacy to office, by an unofficial plurality of about 15,000, and Mayor John W. Murphy was re-elected in New Haven by more than 14,000 votes.

The 59-year-old McLevy, son of a Scotch dominie and a roofer by trade, was re-elected for a third successive term by a margin which exceeded the combined vote of his two rivals, George M. Coughlin, Democrat, and Henry Greenstein, Republican.

Mayor Murphy, for years prominent in Connecticut labor circles, was re-elected for his fourth successive term, the fifth man in the history of New Haven to achieve that honor. He defeated George F. Barnes by an unofficial vote of 36,203 to 21,491.

Harlan, Ky., Nov. 2.—State police and Kentucky national guardsmen patrolled Harlan county tonight after arresting High Sheriff T. R. Middleton, three of his deputies and 31 precinct officers in election day disturbances.

State police who guarded the Harlan county courthouse, where the men were held incommunicado, declined to say what charges had been placed against them or who ordered their arrests.

Approximately 100 national guardsmen were rushed to Harlan to augment the local troop. Capt. Ben Herndon, of Barbourville, was in charge of the combined units.

Circuit Judge James M. Gilbert came from Pineville late today and conferred with Commonwealth Attorney Daniel Boone Smith but declined to comment.

Arrested with Middleton were Special Deputies Ben Unthank, Lee Fleenor and Frank White. The 31 voting officers were arrested at precincts in Verda, High Splint, Tway, Cawood and Yancey.

The precincts all were closed by state police.

BEGGING TABOOED

It is not permissible for anyone to solicit funds from the public without written permission from the Welfare Department, unless for a religious cause. If a man loses his house by fire, he or his friends asking help must have written permission from the Welfare Superintendent. For the protection of the public, anyone found to be violating this right should be reported to the Welfare office. There are occasions when a friend needs help, but promiscuous begging is a nuisance and it must be stopped.

The Salvation Army people visit the county, but they cooperate with the Welfare Department and contribute to the support of a number of needy families.

A professional is a person who is more interested in money than praise.
