

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Cotton was worth 9 1-4 cents a pound in Louisburg yesterday.

A certain lady, not far away after hearing her husband commended for being a very indulgent man, said: "O, yes, he is indulgent all right. The only trouble is that sometimes he 'indulges' too much."

HERMAN PERRY DAVIS

Herman Perry Davis, eight months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Davis of Rocky Mount, died in Park View Hospital after ten days of critical illness of Spinal Meningitis and Pneumonia Thursday night.

The body was brought to the home of his grandfather, Mr. W. H. Perry near Louisburg Friday morning, and services were conducted by Rev. John Edwards, Friday afternoon at three o'clock, and burial took place at Maple Springs by the side of his grandmother, who passed away only three weeks ago.

Herman Perry is survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Herman Davis, and was an only child. The parents have the sympathy of their friends and neighbors. The flowers were profuse and lovely.

And there was the boatswain's mate who chirped that his wife should be in Congress—she was good at introducing bills into the house.

$10,500,000 of Work So Far on New York Fair

NEW YORK (Special).—Such is the speed and enthusiasm with which the New York World's Fair of 1939 is being created that Grover A. Whalen, President of the exposition, has announced that it is now a month ahead of its construction schedule, with $10,500,000 already expended or committed in the great task. The total expenditure on the Fair and related projects will be between $125,000,000 and $150,000,000.

Work is in progress on 46 separate projects. Twenty are already completed and thirty-three are being designed or are ready for the beginning of construction. The total of projects so far set up by the Fair Corporation, the State and the City is 155. At present only 56 have yet to get under way.

Eight exhibit buildings being erected by the Fair are now under construction, one, the Hall of Communications, rapidly nearing completion. Steel framework is being set up for the Community Interests, Shelter, Mines and Metallurgy, Medicine and Public Health and Business Administration Buildings. Designs for nine additional buildings have been finished and three others are in process of design. It had been planned to put up most of these exhibit buildings next year, but the rapidity with which construction has been accomplished made possible a considerable advance in schedule.

The Fair Corporation has under construction ten miles of sanitary sewers, twenty miles of storm water sewers and fifteen miles of water mains. Work of laying approximately fifteen miles of electrical conduits has been begun.

Seventeen miles of roadways are to be built within the Fair grounds by the Corporation, most of this task being planned for 1938.

An example of unusually rapid construction is furnished by the Fair's Administration Building, now occupied by 600 officials and executives and their staffs. It was completed and ready for its tenants in 575 working hours held to be something of a record in concrete is now being poured to form the massive foundations of the 200-foot Perisphere and 700-foot Trylon, dominant architectural group of the exposition.

Work is also going on apace by the State and City on the improvements of the site to be permanent when it is cleared of Fair-built buildings and becomes a great public park.

WASHINGTON, D. C. . . . His friends say Paul V. McNutt will resign as High Commissioner to the Philippines next August to begin campaign for the 1940 Democratic presidential nomination. White House silence is interpreted as tacit approval.

Hitler Annexes Austria Without A Shot

VIENNA. . . Acting on orders, Austrian troops fell back before the German forces who rumbled across the border in motorized units. Simultaneously, 100 huge airplanes flew 3,000 heavily armed soldiers to the Capitol where they immediately took possession of all public buildings, newspapers and communication offices. Here a squad rams the gate to the Ravag building which houses the radio broadcasting company while Vienna police stand by.

Life At Its Worst

A pessimist was holding forth on the shortcomings of the rising generation. "Where today," he demanded, "can you find the youngster who will just go on smiling when everything is going wrong?"

"To which a more optimistic friend replied: "On the links this afternoon, carrying my clubs."

City Girl: "What is this stuff that I've just picked?"

He: "Wow! that's poison ivy!"

City Girl: "Don't get excited, I'm not going to eat it."

"Are you the man who gave my brother a dog last week?"

"I am."

"Well, mother says to come and take them all back."—Star Dust.

True greatness is predicated upon the basis of true goodness.

Only fine fertilizers could have made so many fine friends

YOU have known men who were only "fair weather" friends, and probably you have come across "fair weather" fertilizers—fertilizers that failed you when you had to count on them most. We at Smith-Douglass do not make "fair weather" fertilizers. We cannot afford to—because our entire business is based on the confidence and trust that our customers place in us. We would not risk having our customers think of us or our fertilizers as only "fair weather" friends. That is why we make fertilizers that grow better crops—quantity and quality crops—top-money crops. That is why so many of our customers are not only loyal friends—but lasting friends. We would like to have you as a friend. You will be, if you use S-D goods.
