LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Cotton was worth 8 7-8 cents a pound in Louisburg yesterday.

Many of our people attended the tobacco opening on the eastern markets yesterday.

The editor extends thanks to Mr. Raymond Tunstall for a bushel of nice pears.

The Rocky Mount and eastern Carolina tobacco markets opened yesterday.

The grading on Spring Street and the Cross Streets adjacent to Spring is progressing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Layton announce the birth of a son, Joseph Earle, on Tuesday morning.

Reports from the active area shows that much progress is being made on the Louisburg-Rolesville-Raleigh highway.

FROM INGLESIDE

Mr. and Mrs. William Wilson and sister, Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Mr. John Willard Wilson and sister, Miss Mildred Wilson, left the first of the week for an extended and interesting visit. First, through the Valley of Virginia, on to the National Capital, and many other points of interest, including Norfolk and Virginia Beach on their return.

Mrs. Pattie Shearin has been confined to her home by illness the past week or more. Her many friends wish for "Miss Pat" a complete and early recovery.

Mr. E. S. Merritt lost a tobacco barn in the early morning of last Thursday, making the fourth to be destroyed by fire near Ingleside during the present curing season.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Faulkner, of Bessemer City, were week-end visitors with the family of his father, Mr. H. A. Faulkner. Mr. Faulkner is principal of the Bessemer City schools.

Mrs. Willie P. Wilson returned Monday evening from a visit with her brothers, Messrs. Marvin and Arthur Ellington, in South Carolina.

Henry Dickerson, of Richmond, Va., is visiting his mother, Mrs. Lonie Dickerson, this week.

Mrs. W. R. Walters, of Mount Airy, has returned home after visiting relatives and friends in Franklin and Vance counties.

Mrs. Vernon Phillips, of Vienna, Md., returned to her home last week from a visit of three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Catlett.

The Rev. D. Ralph Freeman, of Pulaski, Va., accompanied by Mrs. Freeman and their three children, were pleasant overnight guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Manning on Monday night. They left Tuesday for Norfolk and Richmond, Va. It was in the latter city where they first met some fifteen years ago and, (it is presumed), did their courting. So they wished to review the scenes of past happy events. Mrs. Freeman is a native of Missouri and they were married in Texas. Mr. Freeman is a brother of Mr. Frank Freeman, husband of the former Miss Elizabeth Manning.

Another good memory test is to try to remember the things you were worried about yesterday—that didn't happen.

All bachelors at one time or another have thought of marriage—and maybe that's why they're still bachelors.

Miss Laura Mae Hilliard, of Cary, was a guest the past week-end of her sister, Mrs. J. B. Wilson. She was accompanied by a young lady friend, whose name was not learned.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie E. Fuller, of Pensacola, Fla., announce the birth of little Jay Elvis. The Fullers formerly lived at Bobbitt. Mrs. Fuller is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hayes, near Ingleside.

Mrs. H. L. Alford left Wednesday to stay a few days with her sister, Miss Etta Woodlief, who is sick, at the home of their father on Route 2, near Wake Forest.

Mrs. C. H. White and little daughter, Frances, of Richmond, came last week to spend some time with her mother, Mrs. Lonie Dickerson.

Now, how would you like to miss the favorite family cat, to discover several days after that you had been "drinkin' off'en him all through his absence? Well that's what has happened to neighbors twice here—and more than that, to go back a little.

Kind friends are sympathizing with Mrs. George Manning in her serious accident of last Friday morning, in which she slipped and fell in her cook room, and suffered a broken arm. She was in the act of taking a pot of coffee from the stove which was dropped, the contents covering the lower part of her body, with no serious results from burns, however. Sustaining a sole fracture to the left arm Mrs. Manning was taken immediately to a physician, and after his services she appears to be doing reasonably well.

Farmers of Union County who used poison on their cotton regularly have a low infestation of boll weevils.

Timely Farm Questions

Answered at State College

QUESTION: Can oats be sowed in cotton anytime before picking?
ANSWER: Yes, oats may be sown in cotton at the last cultivation by using a narrow drill or by sowing broadcast. The growing cotton will furnish shade for the oats until the leaves fall when the oats will be sufficiently large to make a good growth for grazing in the late fall or early spring. The cotton stalks should be cut as soon as picking is completed as they will then protect the oats from winter killing. If not grazed the oats may be cut for hay or grain or turned under for soil improvement.

QUESTION: Do laying birds change appearance when going into a molt?
ANSWER: When the laying bird goes into a molt the comb and wattles lose their bright red color and become pale and shriveled more and more as the egg production lessens. This is the only change to the eye, but an examination of the bird will show a narrow spread between the pelvic bones and the skin on the abdomen will feel thick and hard when laying ceases. The most accurate indication of whether or not a hen is laying is the appearance of the vent. In the laying bird the vent is large, moist, and dilated while in the non-layer it becomes small and dry.

QUESTION: Is it necessary to use fertilizer on fall crops seeded after tobacco, corn, or cotton?

ANSWER: In many sections the practice has been not to use fertilizer on such crops in the belief that enough is left from the spring application for these crops. This is true to some extent, but except on very fertile soils, a special application will more than repay the cost of the extra fertilizer. An application of 400 pounds of a 10-4-4 mixture is recomended for the Piedmont and Mountain soils and the same amount of an 8-4-4 for Coastal Plain soils. Where a good coat of stable manure is applied during the fall or winter the commercial fertilizer may be left off.
