DOLL-WAISTED FROCK

It simply melts into your waistline, thanks to cleverly contrived darts that work their magic almost invisibly—and the shirred, high-shouldered sleeves make the doll-waisted effect even more so! Two big buttons at the scalloped closing, a little patch pocket on the skirt—that's all the trimming it needs because the line is so utterly lovely and youthful!

Best of all, the pattern is as easy and pleasant to make as a date for tea! Velvet, wool crepe, moire, challis are excellent fabrics for this design.

Pattern No. 8274 is designed for sizes: 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Size 14 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39 inch material, with either long or short sleeves.

Pattern 8282—Not often can you find a house frock design with as much real charm and style as this new one (8282). The square, high neckline, the Victorian sleeves, the perfectly beautiful princess line—all cooperate to make this dress as becoming and attractive as your choicest afternoon frock.

Calico, percale, gingham, linen and pique are nice materials for this design. Trim it with rickrack.

Pattern No. 8282 is designed for sizes: 14, 16, 18, 20; 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4 5/8 yards of 35 inch material, 4 1/2 yards of rickrack.

Timely Farm Questions

Answered at State College

QUESTION: What is the best fertilizer for the home vegetable garden?

ANSWER: As a general-purpose fertilizer, a mixture containing 5 percent nitrogen, 7 percent phosphoric acid, and 5 percent potash is the most satisfactory. Leafy crops, such as cabbage, lettuce, and kale will require more nitrogen than most other vegetables, but this can be supplied in the form of side applications of readily available nitrogen fertilizers. The time of such application will depend upon the vigor and maturity of such plants and the grower is the best judge as to when to make such applications.

QUESTION: How soon after hatching should baby chicks have access to feed?

ANSWER: Chicks should be fed buttermilk or sour skim milk as soon as they are put in the brooder house and should have access to dry mash and water at the same time. Grain feed, however, should not be fed until after the first seven to ten days. This should be given two or three times a day in the mash hoppers on top of the mash. It is very essential that sufficient mash hopper space be supplied so that all chicks can eat at the same time. This will eliminate overcrowding and a resultant loss in crippled and dead chicks.

QUESTION: When should rose plants be pruned and treated for insect and diseases?

ANSWER: Prune the plants early in the spring before growth starts and then spray the bushes with dormant strength lime-sulphur. This can be made by using one gallon of commercial lime-sulphur to seven gallons of water or one pound of dry lime sulphur to four gallons of water. As soon as the first leaves open, dust the plants with a good grade of dusting sulphur and repeat at weekly intervals throughout the season. For sucking insects, 12 ounces of forty percent nicotine sulphate solution should be mixed with two pounds of hydrated lime and eight pounds of dusting sulphur. Where chewing insects are present, arsenate of lead should be included in the dust.

CROP ROTATIONS HAVE EFFECT ON FERTILIZER NEEDS

Largely as a result of the agricultural adjustment programs which have been in effect in recent years, cropping practices are undergoing important changes in the southern states. During the past ten years the acreage in the long established cash crops has shown a downward trend, while food and feed crops have made substantial increases. More attention is being given each year to restoring and maintaining soil fertility, and systematic plans of crop rotations are probably being followed to a greater extent now than at any period in the South's history.

Changes in crop plans are being accompanied by widespread revisions in methods of fertilization. Winter legumes are new to many farmers and they are aiding greatly in building up the soil and controlling erosion, but when they are followed by cotton it is being found that a different fertilizer is needed. Since the cover crops add only nitrogen, experiment stations have found that more potash and phosphate is needed to balance it properly, and unless this is done the cotton is likely to rust and fail to yield up to expectations.

The increase in the acreage planted to hay crops is also creating a problem due to the fact that these crops are usually removed from the land thereby taking off large quantities of plant food. While these crops are usually referred to as soil building, they become among the most depleting when utilized for hay, and when removed increased amounts of both potash and phosphorus are essential for the succeeding crops.

A large acreage is being planted to peanuts in most of the southern states and where they are harvested by grazing they are regarded as a soil building crop. However when the entire plant is taken off the average crop removes as much potash as is applied in three years to cotton at normal rates. For this reason farmers in peanut areas usually use not only a high potash mixture for cotton, but also generally side dress with potash.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts!
The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods, your stomach often pours out too much acid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain and sour stomach. You feel sick, sick and tired all over. Don't say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Sol-u-sol for indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in the time and get you back on your feet. Sol-u-sol is so easy to use and so safe that you can take it every day. Ask for Sol-u-sol for Indigestion.
