TOP-DRESS GRAIN

There is greater than usual need to top dress all small grain with sulfate of soda this season, find extension specialists of State College who say that from 100 to 125 lbs. of the soda or its equivalent should be used immediately. Continuous heavy rains over most of the State have caused much leaching of available plant food.

Timely Farm Questions

Answered at State College

QUESTION: When should cotilaria be seeded for soil improvement?

ANSWER: The best time to plant is from April 1 to May 15. The seed should be scarified to insure quick germination. From 15 to 20 pounds of seed are used to the acre when broadcast and 8 to 10 pounds when seeded in three-foot rows and cultivated. The latter method gives the largest growth. It will pay to fertilize the crop, using 400 pounds of a 4-8-4 mixture to the acre with the fertilizer applied to the following crop decreased in a similar amount. The crop is especially good on very light sands and will make about three times as much growth as will soybeans or cowpeas on similar soils.

QUESTION: What can I do about naked back chickens in my flock of young chickens?

ANSWER: This trait is usually inherited and all young birds showing such a trait should be eliminated. Only those birds showing a tendency for fast feathering should be used for breeding purposes and the other birds culled from the flock as quickly as possible. To get rid of the inherited trait may take two or three years of close culling and the work should be started as soon as possible. Mark the birds that feather out early and use these in the breeding flock.

QUESTION: When should the fertilizer be applied when planting cotton?

ANSWER: The fertilizer should be mixed with the soil and bedded on ten days prior to planting if possible. It is extremely important to mix the fertilizer thoroughly with the soil to prevent seedling injury and a poor stand. Where proper equipment is available Side Placement is recommended. The kind of fertilizer for different soils together with other pertinent information is given in Extension Circular No. 234, "Approved Practices for the Production of Cotton" and copies may be had free upon application to the Agricultural Editor, State College.

Things even up. Mother doesn't growl like Dad, but she gets the same effect by changing gears.

PIG CHAIN

The Hampshire pig chain sponsored by the Onslow County Kiwanis Club continues to grow, says J. Y. Lassiter, assistant agent. Three boys were given gilts in 1937 and returned two gilts each. These pigs have been distributed to seven 4-H club boys for this year and the agent has four more pigs for distribution. Every Onslow 4-H boy who wants to raise pure bred hogs will eventually get a pig, the agent says.

HOGS

The present seasonal reduction in slaughter supplies of hogs probably will continue through March, but the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics expects a rather marked seasonal increase in supplies after March.

BUILDS SOIL

Crotalaria has proved a valuable soil building crop on the thin, sand soils of Martin County. A demonstration by T. B. Slade of the Poplar Point Township shows that the crop is improving his land and makes good growth where soybeans and other legumes had failed.

RURAL LINES

In Union County 400 miles of electrical lines to serve 1400 rural homes will be constructed at once. The Union Mutual has been allotted $400,000 from the Federal REA to construct the lines.
