DO YOU KNOW OUR MR. PAUL?

Charlotte Roundup

By C. A. Paul

HERE NOW THERE: Bob Reynolds needn't worry about when making a speech... the audience, if any, will lay out loud... On Elizabeth Avenue the other day a man's friend "Hey, bud, you got a drop me on the raw?"... Many people turn first riding the most stream of all to his daily column in the Charlotte News, many more never fail to read him sooner or later. And besides Paul, an exclusive Charlotte News feature, we have our own Dorothy Knox (She Believes Everything), the Rev. Herbert Spangh—"The Everyday Counselor"—New York columns by Charles B. Driscoll and Alice Hughes; Dorothy Dix and her sage advice; "The Worry Clinic" by Dr. George Crane, famous psychologist; political hot stuff by Washington Merry-Go-Rounders, General Hugh Johnson, Heywood Brown and Dorothy Thompson—

Not to mention Associated Press full trunk service (which no other city in North or South Carolina has), Burke Davis and his sports talk, a staff of capable reporters, forceful editorial writers and a full complement of comics, including Pop-Eye, L'il Abner, Dan Dunn and Out Our Way.
