WAKE UP And Live!

By DOROTHEA BRANDE

It is a matter of observation that there is hardly one person in a hundred who does not, in some fashion, deliberately cripple and thwart himself.

We dream either consciously or unconsciously, awake or asleep, of a situation in which we feel we should be happier than we are in real life.

Sometimes the dream is of a life of luxurious idleness, the childish Unconscious determined on refusing to leave the safe shelter of the nursery, where all wants were remedied as soon as felt.

At other times, ludicrously enough, the life-wasting revelry is about success: the mild man is a Napoleon of war or finance, the mouse-like woman a siren.

The inveterate dreamer will struggle only just as much as he need, and no more. He will do anything half-heartedly to get his bread and butter. Then, when his daily task is over, he will be back at his dreams again, whether he realizes it or not.

Take the case of a woman, left a widow while she was still very young. She came of a scholarly family, and had been a brilliant student at college. With the little money left to care for herself and her small daughter, she returned to the campus to take degrees as Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy in preparation for a career as an educator.

Actually she delighted in being a student again, in continuing to live in the condition of a child in an adult world, and therefore strung out her period of preparation as long as she dared. After her Ph.D. was earned, she made what looked to herself and her friends like a good honest effort to find a suitable niche for herself.

Only she invariably engaged in fringing acrimoniously with those who would have to be her superiors, and always about some rather remarkable and original economic ideas of her own. These ideas had nothing whatever to do with the subject she was to teach.

She went from one post to another. She was a good teacher, she had much to give, but she carefully saw to it that she would never be in a position to work very hard for very long. Her hopes of a professorship faded.

She went from good colleges steadily down to obscure little schools, and as she slipped steadily down she worked out a philosophy which reconciled her to her steady decline. She held that we all live much to luxuriate.

At last she reached the place where she felt justified in taking an apartment in a tenement district of a large city. Her defiant self-justification broke down, however, when it came to inviting friends to visit her. She grew more and more solitary, more and more eccentric, her running fire of bravado continuing all the while.

Fortunately for her, her one child was a girl, and a girl who grew up to be extremely bright and attractive. She was quite unimpressed by her mother's pseudo-philosophy.

When at last she sought help from a psychologist she discovered to her dumbfounded astonishment that she had actually thrown all her energy into failing.

Unconsciously she had resented having to go out into the world to work. She wanted to remain either a child or become again a cherished and petted wife. Her wrangles had been, as the analysts say, "overdetermined"; they were intended partly to make it certain that she would be discharged so that work would become impossible, partly to engage the attention of men.

Since she could not acknowledge to herself that she was cold-bloodedly "husband-hunting", she had fallen on the technique—quite as effective in challenging attention as being charming—of starting quarrels. She had a long, hard pull to right the situation she had brought upon herself, but she was eventually successful.

C. M. T. C. CAMPS
Maj. Edward F. Griffin, of Louisburg, N. C., Chairman of the Military Training Camps Association for Franklin County, announced yesterday that the Commanding General, Fourth Corps Area has allotted four (4) scholarships to the Citizens Military Training Camp to be held at Fort Bragg, N. C., June 15th-July 14th. These scholarships have been given through the efforts of the Military Training Camps Association by institutions of learning for award to this summer's trainees from this district. These scholarships are as follows:
1. Furman University, Greenville, South Carolina. Two scholarships, value $75.00 each. Period 1 year. For Freshmen primarily, if no Freshmen apply, then applicants from other classes may be considered. Additional expenses, approximately $370.00.
2. Newberry College, Newberry, South Carolina. Two scholarships, value $100.00 each. Period—throughout recipient's college course if merited. Additional expenses, approximately $275.00. These scholarships will be awarded in each instance to outstanding trainees who expect to matriculate at the institutions noted. In all cases, the award of scholarships will be dependent upon the trainees' ability to meet the entrance requirements. Applications of all trainees of the camp will be given careful consideration in making the final selections for the award of scholarships.
Young men attending these camps are no more likely to be called to the colors in time of war than other men. However, in a National emergency if they volunteer or are selected for service they are likely to secure more rapid advancement and to be able to defend their country effectively.
A candidate must be an American citizen or one who has taken out first papers for naturalization.

physically-qualified, and of good character. He must have reached his seventeenth birthday by the day camp opens and not have passed his twenty-ninth birthday.
A physical examination, inoculation against typhoid, vaccination against smallpox, and a certificate of good moral character are required.
Prospective applicants may write direct to the C.M.T.C. Officer at Fort Bragg, N. C., for any information they desire or apply to the County Chairman of the Military Training Camps Association. The County Chairman will furnish application blanks and the names of doctors who will give the medical examination without charge.
There are 7 vacancies for enrollment in the Citizens Military Training Camp for Franklin County.

BLACK WALNUT CLUB
Thirty Rutherford County 4-H club members have joined the recently organized black walnut club and have planted 500 seedling trees to start the project, reports the county agent. Many walnut trees are already growing on Rutherford farms and it is planned to conserve the trees and market nuts through cooperative shipments.
Nobody likes anybody who has achieved complete economic independence.
