HEADLINERS ON AMERICAN LEGION

Raleigh, June 20. - Three important figures in the American Legion convention which will be held in Raleigh June 25-27 are pictured here against the backgro und of Raleigh's handsome, commodious Memorial Auditorium, where the annual department meeting will convene. A memorial service here Sunday evening will begin the formal convention program.

General chairman of the Raleigh Post No. 1 host committees is R. L. McMillan, active Legionnaire and prominent attorney. For several weeks he has given practically all of his time, working with scores of local compatities to arranging an interesting program for the Legion and Auxiliary. Commander Burgin Pennell of Asheville, who has cooperated closely with Chairman McMillan, will preside over the department convention.

One of the many distinguished guests will be Senator James M. Mend of New York, outstanding Democratic member of Congress. Ambassador Josephus Daniels is scheduled to introduce Senator Mead, who will address the convention Monday morning.
