LEGION SPEAKER

SENATOR JAMES MEAD OF NEW YORK

Raleigh, June 22.—One of the highlights of the annual convention of the North Carolina Department of the American Legion in Raleigh, June 25-27 will be the address next Monday morning by Senator James M. Mead, above, New York Democrat, and an outstanding member of Congress.

Ambassador Josephus Daniels is scheduled to present Senator Mead to the convention, which is expected to draw the record-breaking number of 5,000 Legionnaires, Auxiliary members and members of the junior organizations. Special emphasis is being laid by General Chairman R. L. McMillan on the attendance of "one-gallus" veterans.

Registration for the convention will begin Saturday afternoon, and the convention proper will begin Sunday evening at 8 o'clock with the annual Memorial Service in Memorial Auditorium.

WEEKLY TOBACCO NEWS LETTER

Henderson, June 19.—Contrary to releases sent out this week by the State Agricultural Department that crops over Eastern North Carolina are considerably below normal, observations by the writer in covering this territory reflect normal to better than normal conditions. Tobacco, cotton and grains have shown up unusually well up to now, and farmers everywhere are most optimistic over conditions.

Tobacco in Vance and surrounding counties is advancing rapidly now, and with the exception of slight hail damage in some sections last week, little damage has been noted over the area. Farmers have had excellent weather conditions for working and for growth of the plants. Leaves on advanced plants are filling out and very little premature budding has been noticed.

With the annual meeting of the U. S. Tobacco Association only two weeks off, all tobaccoists and farmers are anxious to see what changes, if any, will be made in selling this fall. All Middle Belt markets are planning to send at least one representative to the meeting in White Sulphur Springs, and the Henderson Market is sending two delegates to represent local warehousemen and farmers. For this reason, our next report will be sent out on Monday, July 3, and full particulars of the U. S. Tobacco Association meeting will be announced for your information at that time.—Fred M. Allen, Jr., Supervisor of Sales, Henderson Tobacco Market.

Calmness automatically provides a solution for many problems and it never makes any more difficult.

New Court Ruling

Raleigh, June 19.—The North Carolina Supreme Court, in an opinion handed down Friday without dissent, held that two or more corporations "owned and controlled by legally enforceable means or otherwise, directly or indirectly by the same interests," are, for purposes of determining liability to have their employees counted, one employing unit within the meaning of the State Unemployment Compensation Law.

The point at issue was whether or not the employees of two or more such corporations are to be counted in arriving at the minimum number of eight for 20 weeks in a year for firms required to pay contributions under the law.

The case is that of the Commission against the City Ice & Coal Co., the City Dairy Farm, and the Carolinas Ice Co., all of Durham. In the agreed statement, the City Ice & Coal Co. had sufficient employees to bring it under the act; the City Dairy Farm was not liable unless non-working officers are counted in the number of employees; and the Carolinas Ice Co. did not have a sufficient number of employees, even counting the officers. It was also agreed that the officers, managers, directors and stockholders are members of one family, and are the same individuals, with the exception of the ownership of ten shares of stock in one of the corporations.

Associate Justice Clarkson, writing the opinion, referred to the case as presenting the familiar inter-locking directorates and as a "typical example of a particular pattern of inter-related corporate organization made subject to contribution in the interest of alleviation of unemployment." The Unemployment Compensation Law, as enacted by the General Assembly, "regards corporate organization objectively and realistically, unencumbered by fictions of corporate identity, and thus, brushing aside form, deals with substance.—It tends to aid in a more effective administration of the Act in that the number of smaller units from which contributions are to be made will be reduced, while the benefits to be derived from the unemployment insurance will be extended to a larger number of individuals," Justice Clarkson wrote. Adrian J. Newton, general counsel, Ralph Moody and J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Jr., appeared for the Commission

LIFE INSURANCE IS SCREWY!

"Life insurance is screwy," writes an insurance authority. "You have to buy it when you don't need it because when you do need it, you can't get it. It is designed to take care of the two major hazards of life; i.e., either you will not live long enough or you will live too long." It's easy to postpone buying life insurance—anyone can have a lot more fun with money than paying premiums. But there's no fun in waking up some morning with the knowledge that it's too late to obtain adequate insurance protection—and to have to face a dependent old age.
