This is a one week special term called to assist in clearing the docket of criminal cases and Judge Harris and Solicitor Bickett are doing a nice job of disposing of a number of cases.

The docket was taken up with the following dispositions:

James Young plead guilty to home breaking and larceny, and was placed on probation for two years and to pay costs.

On account of death in the family necessitating the absence of the deputy clerk the minutes for Tuesday and Wednesday were not available for this report.

The retrial of the W. C. Gilliam case for the assault on C. Hayward Harper and attempted robbery was taken up after the noon recess Wednesday and was in progress as this report closed at noon yesterday.

Following our report last week of the regular February term the following disposition of the business of the Court was recorded:

Jack Patten was found guilty of temporary larceny and given 14 to 24 months on roads.

The case against William Gilliam for assault with deadly weapon and attempt at robbery on C. Hayward Harper, was completed Saturday and given to the jury after the charge of the Court at 6 o'clock in the evening and after debating it for seven hours it was found that a verdict could not be reached and a mistrial was ordered. The jury in this case was composed of the following: D. M. Tant, E. G. Joyner, Aubrey Bullock, J. H. Joyner, Z. T. Joyner, W. R. Richards, R. M. Duke, W. F. Conyers, Ernie Allen, D. V. Ellington, J. A. Huff, R. W. Sawyer. The defense was represented by Yarborough & Yarborough and E. F. Griffin, and the State was assisted by W. L. Lumpkin.

All other cases on the docket were continued until Monday, February 12th, 1940.

The Grand Jury for February Term of Franklin County Superior Court, 1940, respectfully returns and reports the following as a true report of the acts, activities and works of the Grand Jury for this term:

1. The Grand Jury has given careful consideration to all bills of indictment presented and have passed on such bills to their best judgment and with diligent effort.

2. The Grand Jury made a visit to the common jail of Franklin County and found the jail in good condition. However, it was noted that the water system needs repairing but every effort is being made to have same repaired immediately.

C.F. PARRISH

Franklin County farmers are invited to hear Mr. C. F. Parrish, Extension Poultry Specialist from State College, discuss "Poultry as a Cash Income" at the Franklin County Short Course for farm men and women to be held at Louisburg College, Wednesday and Thursday, February 28 and 29, 10:30 A. M. - 3:30 P. M. ed by the Grand Jury and found to be in excellent condition but it was noted that the Home was filled to capacity. However, the inmates are properly cared for under the circumstances and conditions.

5. All of the public offices of Franklin County were visited and in so far as this Grand Jury was able to determine were in good condition and properly conducted.

6. The Grand Jury was unable to visit all of the schools due to the bad roads and the schools are now closed because of the road condition which renders it unsafe for buses to travel and transport the children. The Grand Jury learned that the county superintendent and his assistants are making every effort to get the school buses in proper mechanical repair in order to insure safe transportation for the school children when school reopens on next Monday, 12 February 1940.

7. It was called to the attention of the Grand Jury that Lillian Cooke of Youngville Township, Franklin County, North Carolina, who is non compos mentis and also afflicted with epileptic fits, is not being properly and adequately cared for and it is recommended that proper authorities investigate this case and see that she is committed to some public institution for proper treatment.

The members of this Grand Jury wish to thank his Honor, Clawson L. Williams, presiding over this session of the Court, for his splendid charge and instructions, and the other courtesies which he has shown us during this term of Court.

We also wish to thank the Solicitor for his excellent performance of his duties at this term of court. Respectfully submitted, this the 8th day of February, 1940.

Nazi's Threaten U. S. Ships

Washington, Feb. 14.—United States displeasure over Great Britain's detention of American vessels at blockade control ports was levelled with equal force against Germany tonight after the latter announced that "theoretically," at least the ships in question might be considered fair prey for Nazi U-boats.

Indications were that if Germany torpedoed any American ship forced into belligerent waters by British blockade regulations, the United States would hold both Britain and the Nazi government responsible. American vessels are forbidden by the United States neutrality act to enter belligerent areas voluntarily.

Hardly had the German threat of reprisals for the British blockade reached this country than Secretary of State Cordell Hull went into a hurried conference with Lord Lothian, the British Ambassador, to discuss anew this nation's demands that Britain stop taking United States ships into forbidden war areas.

Lothian spent more than an hour with Hull and said, on leaving, that his government will take up with Canada the feasibility of establishing a contraband control point for American ships at St. Johns, New Brunswick.

Such a control point, far out of the European war zone, has been under discussion for some time.

The ambassador said that he and Hull canvassed the entire contraband problem, but that "no final decisions were reached."

NEW MOTION PICTURE PAYS TRIBUTE TO SOUTHERN AGRICULTURE

A 45-minute sound and color motion picture entitled "The New South," portraying the agricultural and industrial development of the Southern states, has been released for showing in the coming months in all parts of the South. The showings are sponsored by the distributors of Arcadian Nitrate.

This remarkable picture represents months of work by a production crew which toured the Southern states in search of local color. All scenes in the picture were filmed on the actual places depicted; those who took part did so without pay, and all action was natural.

After showing pictorially how the South has grown agriculturally and commercially since the coming of the first white man, "The New South" introduces four Southern farm experts who point out the need for more scientific farming. The importance of self-containment to the South is pointed out, especially in times of war.

Later scenes in the picture include sequences of the production of Arcadia Nitrate from the raw materials. The film closes with a tribute to Southern farmers, and a salute to the future of Southern agriculture.

This picture will be presented at the New Louisburg Theatre on Monday, February 19th at 1:30 p. m. FREE to all.

Fish in lakes are increased greatly in size and vigor by the addition of nitrates to the underwater vegetable growth. This is one of odd facts taken from the film "The New South," presented by the distributors of Arcadian Nitrate.

The nation's first plant for making starch from sweet potatoes, located in Laurel, Mississippi, reports a steady growth and in 1940 expects to turn out 3,400,000 pounds of starch.

OBSERVES 30th ANNIVERSARY

DINNER GIVEN BOY SCOUTS

Dr. Patten Delivers Splendid Address on "The Worth of a Boy"; Malcolm McKinne, County Chairman In Charge

The Louisburg Troup Boy Scouts observed the beginning of the 30th Anniversary Week celebration with a dinner at Franklin Hotel. There were about thirty guests present who participated in entertaining the twenty Boy Scouts.

The meeting was presided over by County Chairman, Malcolm McKinne, and was assisted by Scoutmasters Phil Insoe, of Cedar Rock, Fred Blount, of Franklin, and J. G. Phillips, of Louisburg. C. M. Calhoun, Assistant Scout Executive of the Occaneechee Council, of which the local Troop is a part, was also present and led in scout singing.

John Hodges led the Scouts in repeating the oath and laws of the Scouts and Dr. Bagby pronounced the invocation.

Dr. L. F. Kenb introduced Dr. Walter Patten, President of Louisburg College, who made the main address using as his subject "The Worth of a Boy."

This address was a wonderfully impressive and instructive presentation of a new view of this important question. He says boys are human beings and illustrated his point that they can think and exercise choice by saying that he can't run as fast as a rabbit, but can make a machine that can. He can make a machine that can fly faster than an eagle, the power of thought put in to action. He said that for one to get the most out of a thing, he must be responsible. He must be able to respond to the influence of thought in the development of ideas. The speaker suggested that we are probably raising our folks too soft and flabby to make the strong and virile men and women that the future requires. They need to be hardened by examples of experience to be able to measure up to the hardships in future responsibilities.

The address was full of thought and advice and suggestion and was greatly enjoyed by all present. The dinner was well balanced, pleasingly served and greatly enjoyed and the evening was a glorious success for the beginning of the celebration of the 30th Anniversary Week of the Boy Scouts of America.

These loans will be made, as in the past, only to farmers whose cash requirements are small and who cannot obtain a loan from any other source, including production credit associations, banks, or other private concerns or individuals.

As in former years, the money loaned will be limited to the applicant's necessary cash needs in preparing and cultivating his 1940 crops or in purchasing or producing feed for his livestock.

Borrowers who obtain loans for the production of cash crops are required to give as security a first lien on the crop financed.

Twenty million head of cattle graze Southern fields, says the film "The New South."

LOUISBURG BAPTIST CHURCH

On Sunday morning, February 11th the pastor, Dr. A. Paul Bagby spoke on "When Love Surpasses Greed" using as his text 1 Sam. 9:5. All of Kish's asses had strayed away and young Saul has been sent for them. After much searching for some time Samuel proposed to return remarking, "Come, and let us return; lost may father leave caring for the asses, and take thought of us."

There were three things that the pastor brought to the attention of the congregation from this passage: (1) Kish cared more for his son than for his property. Real love shows itself in the concern for others' welfare. The argument is sometimes taken that the boy's welfare depends upon the prosperity of business. No business will take the place of time with the boy in the home.

(2) Kish had concern for the son and he let the son know it. (3) The son cared for the father. Sunday morning at eleven o'clock Dr. Bagby will speak on "The Little Life".

Sunday evening at seven he will begin a series on "The Three Bible Poets", the first in the series entitled, "The Athelst".

Sunday School at 9:45 A. M. B. T. U. at 6:15 P. M. The Junior leader is Mrs. H. Grady Harris, intermediate leader is Miss Elizabeth Lassiter and the new College B. Y. P. U. Fleming requested the Board to reimburse him the sum of $534.16, in settlement of the cost of damage done to the fences, buildings, etc. at the Franklin County Fair Association grounds, when the WPA Street forces removed certain property in order to widen Cedar Street. Since the Town Attorney was absent from the meeting, the Board deferred action of Dr. Fleming's request until its next meeting.

The Board awarded the annual contract for liquid chlorine to the Matheson Alkalin Works, Inc.

The Board passed the following motion: "That the paving of all driveways or alleys leading to and around the Armory Building, and the construction of a retaining wall in the rear of this building, be delayed until much work is authorized by the Board."

Statistics compiled by the National Safety Council reveal an increase of more than 150 per cent in rural highway fatalities in the nation in the past 15 years, against an increase of less than 30 per cent in city traffic deaths. This shift in emphasis from city streets to rural roads is probably the most important change in the past decade in the traffic accident problem.

"Speed 'too fast for conditions' is held accountable for a large proportion of the highway fatalities in rural areas.

"There are too many folks who regard an open road as an invitation to see how fast their cars will go," Ronald Hocutt, Director of the N. C. Highway Safety Division, declared after a study of statistics relating to rural and urban traffic fatalities. "Through a statewide educational program and stricter enforcement, we can reduce materially this wide margin between deaths on our city streets and those on our rural highways."

The South raises one third of the nation's pigs and cattle; one fifth of the eggs, milk and butter; one-seventh of the hay; one-eighth of the potatoes; one-twelfth of the oats. These figures are by Arcadian Nitrate's film "The New South."

EUROPEAN WAR NEWS

Instanbul, Feb. 14.—The Turkish press turned sudden attention today to the strategic position of Soviet Russia's rich Caucasian oil fields, lying along the Turkish frontier, and openly discussed the possibility of war over them "by April."

One inspired newspaper, the usually well-informed Son Telegraf, suggested that Great Britain, France and Turkey, with combined Near Eastern forces of nearly one million men, may be considering an attack on these fields.

Several newspapers featured reports that Germany was sending a number of troops to the Caucasus to help Russia defend the oil supplies.

All this coincided with reports that large forces of British Indian and Moslem troops had arrived in French-ruled Syria from Egyptian bases. This would free French troops now quartered there, and was interpreted in foreign military quarters as meaning that the French Near Eastern army, already more than $500,000 strong, was being concentrated even closer to Turkey.

Helsinki, Feb. 14.—Finland, calling more men to the colors and still holding an unbroken Mannerheim Line against the greatest assaults since the World War, has no choice but to fight on regardless of how the battle goes, President Kyoosti Kallio declared tonight.

"Everyone knows we are outnumbered 50-to-1," the veteran chief executive told news correspondents in an informal chat at the presidential residence.

"But the issues at stake are clear. We appreciate the sympathy shown us by Americans in our struggle to be free—in order to live at all—but we really hope our cause might stir onlookers abroad to offer us material help.

"For, after all, we are defending the interests common to all civilized people.

"If, however, such help does not arrive, we cannot change our course. Regardless of the overwhelming odds, we would still carry on our fight—if it must be alone.

"The alternative is extinction for our nation.

"If the world ignores us in our need, we have no choice but to fight to the last man."

HIGHWAY FATALITIES INCREASE

Slow-moving farm surpluses make living harder and fast-moving automobiles make dying easier in rural areas of North Carolina.

For evidence of the ease with which one can meet death on the rural roads and highways of this state, you need only to have a look into the records of the Highway Safety Division — records which reveal from four to five times as many people are killed in traffic accidents in rural areas of the state as are killed in cities and towns. And this despite the fact that the total number of accidents, fatal and non-fatal, is approximately the same in cities as in rural areas.

Last year, for example 182 fatalities occurred in 4,026 traffic accidents in North Carolina cities and towns, while 761 people were killed in 4,131 accidents in rural areas of the state. In 1938, there were 425 fewer accidents in rural areas than in the cities, but there were 759 rural fatalities against 178 in the cities. Yes, indeed, it's a whole lot easier to get killed out on the open road than it is on the crowded city street.

Statistics compiled by the National Safety Council reveal an increase of more than 150 per cent in rural highway fatalities in the nation in the past 15 years, against an increase of less than 30 per cent in city traffic deaths. This shift in emphasis from city streets to rural roads is probably the most important change in the past decade in the traffic accident problem.
