WORK ON BUDGET

Commissioners Fail to Increase Sewing Room Budget, But Increase Old Age Benefit Appropriation on Conditions

The Board of County Commissioners met on Monday to give attention to building the budget for Franklin County for 1940-41. All members were present.

Mrs. John Yarborough, Supervisor of the WPA Sewing room, was before the Board with reference to an increase of appropriation for $300 for 1939-40 to $3,100 for 1940-41. After considering the existing financial condition of the tax payers, and that an increase in appropriation would necessitate a raise in tax rate the Board approved a motion to appropriate $300 for 1940-41, the same as for the year before.

The budget request for the Welfare Board was presented by Mr. Ben T. Holden, President. A motion by Terrell and seconded by Winston that the County increase the old age assistance fund and aid to dependent children fund $347 since the State and Federal Governments would insure the said funds $3,102.00 and it was further moved that the County make no increase in any salary in the Welfare department.

The Bookmobile project was discussed, but met with disapproval.

The Clearing project presented by Mr. Mills was not approved. Bids on the Audit of the County Accountant's office, Register of Deeds' office, and the Tax Settlement were received but action was deferred to Monday, July 1, 1940.

The Board adjourned to Monday, July 1st.

REPUBLICANS IN CONVENTION

Convention Hall, Philadelphia, June 26.—The three pace-setters of the 1940 Republican national convention were placed in nomination tonight at a session punctuated by cheering demonstrations, occasional fistcuffs around state standards, and adoption of a peace, preparedness and prosperity platform.

Tops for excitement was the nomination of Wendell L. Wilkie. Loud cheers and scattered boos interrupted the nominating address of Rep. Charles A. Halleck, of Indiana.

Delegates tussled and traded punches around state standards when Halleck had finished. Police rushed in to quell outbreaks around the New York State and Virginia banners.

Candidates nominated tonight were: Wilkie, Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Robert A. Taft of Ohio, and Frank E. Gannett of New York.

Dewey supporters gave their candidate the longest demonstration of the session—26 minutes. But it lacked the punch and excitement of the Wilkie show.

Wilkie's was second in length at 18 1-2 minutes and Taft's was third at 18 minutes.

Balloting Begins Today

After the Wilkie outburst the convention quit until 10 a. m. tomorrow, when the remainder of the nominations will be made. If the convention stays continuously in session then, the first presidential ballot may be started sometime after 4 p. m. tomorrow.

The nominating speech of Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana for Wilkie drew tumultuous applause from spectators in the galleries. A small section of delegates on the convention floor booed at some points in Halleck's speech and Permanent Chairman Joseph W. Martin gavelled for order.

Anti-War Plank

The unanimously approved platform carried a keep-out-of-war declaration; a manifesto for Republican-planned national defenses, a denunciation of "provocative" speeches by President Roosevelt; and a demand for a constitutional amendment to limit Presidential service to two terms.

It was whipped through in lightning order and the convention turned to the traditional oratory and whoopla of the nominating speeches. Balloting will begin tomorrow.

John Lord O'Brian of New York offered Dewey's name and touched off the convention's first demonstration. It lasted through 26 minutes of shouting, stamping and parading, but political veterans rated it as only a medium display of convention enthusiasm compared with performances of past nominating sessions.

The galleries seemed apathetic and more than half the delegates remained in their seats.

Frank E. Gannett, Rochester newspaper publisher, was offered next and was given a short demonstration.

Taft was up next. Grove Patterson of Toledo nominated the Ohio Senator. Delegates gave him an 18-minute send-off. Taft floor managers cut the parade off after sergeants-at-arms found themselves unable to clear the center aisle at orders from Martin.

Republicans For Cabinet of FDR

Henry L. Stimson New Secretary of War, Frank Knox Becomes Secretary Navy

Washington.—In a move that created a profound sensation, President Roosevelt the past week appointed Henry L. Stimson and Col. Frank Knox, Republican advocates of unstinted material assistance to the Allies, to be Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy respectively.

Congress members who have been demanding more aloofness from European affairs angrily charged that a "war cabinet" was being created; administration men issued denials and interpreted the appointments as a move to sink "partisanship" in our hour of crisis.

Apparently taking cognizance of the criticism, Mr. Roosevelt issued a statement saying:

"The appointments to the cabinet are in line with the overwhelming sentiment of the nation for national solidarity in time of world crisis and in behalf of national defense and nothing else."

Earlier he had stated that the defense program was "not aimed at intervention in world affairs which do not concern the western hemisphere."

In hurried conferences, political leaders sought to assay the effect of the appointments on the third term issue and the coming election. Former President Herbert Hoover expressed the belief that the 1940 campaign would be unaffected because the "national issues remain exactly where they were."

Not Coalition

He added that the appointments did not spell a Republican-Democratic coalition; that the two men were "entering the cabinet to give personal service and not representing the Republican party."

On Capitol Hill, reporters asked Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, whether he believed the President had assured Stimson and Knox that he would not seek a third term. Barkley replied that he did "not believe the subject was even discussed."

The path of greatness is always found in the path of gentleness. Greatness never comes by force and never will.

EUROPEAN WAR NEWS

The following news from the European War Center is taken from daily paper reports:

London, June 27.—(Thursday)—Britons were cheered today by reports from Gibraltar that powerful units of the French fleet—perhaps the greater part of it—have steamed to North African ports for a "fight to the finish" despite the Petain government's armistice.

They received the news as they fought off another of the German pre-dawn raids fast becoming a nightly circumstance of British life. The raids from southeastern England to northern Scotland, were the sixth in nine days. Bombs were dropped in north-eastern Scotland.

From Gibraltar, it was reported reliably that French warships and fighting planes of the West Mediterranean command left the strait to a rendezvous in Casablanca harbor, on the Atlantic coast of French Morocco.

There General Auguste Nogues, French North African commander, has declared "We'll fight it out" despite the Bordeaux government's surrender.

Will Fight

Commanders of the French warships were reported to have assured General Nigues that they would back up his pledge to fight.

(It was believed by observers that the greater part of the French fleet had been stationed in the Western Mediterranean, near Gibraltar).

Spanish sources from Algieras, near Gibraltar, confirmed that the French fleet had left Gibraltar for Casablanca and Algiers, in French North Africa.

At Gibraltar unconfirmed reports also were heard that General Nogues had ordered immediate arrest of Edouard Daladier, former Premier of France, who went to Casablanca to confer with him.

(Daladier was replaced by Paul Reynaud as Premier and later was replaced also as defense minister by Reynaud, who strongly criticized the situation at the war ministry).

Official circles in London also heard that Charles Corbin, French Ambassador in London, had sent his resignation to the Petain government.

Bucharest, June 27.—(Thursday)

—The Rumanian airlines suspended all commercial service from the capital to Cernauti, Jassy, Cetatia-Alba and other Bessarabian cities today following a report of a clash between a Rumanian and a Russian plane which invaded the border.

Reports from Cernauti said four Russian machines were fired on near there. One was shot down and others were said to have dropped bombs in a nearby village.

Meanwhile, Soviet Minister Lavrentieff, recently appointed to the post from Bulgaria in a move interpreted as one to strengthen relations between Bucharest and Moscow, still had not been received officially.

He had asked for an immediate audience, but two tentative dates had been postponed.

The reported clash between Russian and Rumanian planes followed a report in Bucharest last Monday that 100 Russian planes scouted the Bessarabian province and that several clashes between groups of soldiers had taken place across the Dniester river, dividing line between Rumania and Soviet Russia.

London, June 26.—General Charles De Gaulle, leader of the French National Committee in Exile, tonight accused Marshal Henri Philippe Petain in a radio broadcast of major blame for the "enslavement of France" because the 84-year-old Premier refused to mechanize the French army.

A few hours earlier, De Gaulle, former French Under-Secretary of War, had announced the mobilization of a French volunteer "Foreign Legion" in England to fight on against the dictators alongside Great Britain.

The British government will give "full support" to the French legionary army and will arm and billet its first volunteers, he said, including many from among the French soldiers who escaped to Britain from the Dunkerque trap.

De Gaulle's radio address tonight, in French, was in direct answer to Petain's radio speech of Tuesday night asserting that despite its armistice with Germany and Italy, the government
