

Around The Town

In answer to last week's question—A dollar can be changed 40 different ways without using pennies.

Many are the stories, both printed and verbal, about the draft registration Wednesday and the funny experiences of registrars and registrants on R-day.

Practical jokers had a holiday in New York recently. The pranksters would ask an unsuspecting friend if he would like tickets to the opening of the Burma Road.

Then there was the National Guard recruit in camp who was on his first visit to the rifle range.

An eating place in Sanford has little cards on each table inscribed: "God Bless America—Love it or leave it."

During Registration Day the 16th, PM believes that 99,476 aspirants for the honor of being first to register competed for early starts.

Borrowed with reservations from E. A. Fesch's column in the Chatham News. The country has gone mad over football picking.

Roosevelt will get his third term and the Republicans will get their third trim.

Rex Ingram will play the title role in "The Thief of Bagdad" on the Kate Smith hour, Friday at 8 P. M.

When we see something priced at $199.95 we wonder what becomes of that nickel.

Local Officers Invited

To Institute Police School Exercises; Franklin County Officials Asked to Attend Closing Awards By Institute of Government at Chapel Hill Saturday

Chapel Hill.—All state and local enforcing officers and other city and county officials in Franklin County are invited to come to Chapel Hill Saturday morning for the closing exercises of the Institute of Government's Police Training School, beginning at 10:30.

At that time certificates will be awarded to police chiefs and department heads completing the seven-day training course. The exercises will feature an address by Hugh H. Clegg, Assistant Director of the FBI in charge of the vital National Defense Division.

On Friday evening, October 25, following the State Bar meeting in Raleigh, Judges and Solicitors of Supreme, Superior and Recorder's Courts are invited to Chapel Hill to the first of a series of Institutes for judicial officers and prosecuting attorneys.

CROP ROTATION

Crops that farmers plant within the next 30 to 60 days will largely determine the rotations they will carry out during the next year, according to County Agent W. C. Boyce and William E. Adams, Assistant Agronomist of the Soil Conservation Service in the Tar River Soil Conservation District in Louisburg.

One of the most important crops from the standpoint of establishing a rotation is small grain. A very good rotation in which small grain forms the foundation crop is a three-year rotation consisting of small grain, lespedeza, and cotton or corn.

Fulfilling A Pledge

On May 18, 1939, when the Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors Committee was formed, a definite and sincere promise was made to the public.

We pledged the beer industry's aid to law-enforcement agencies to the end that retail beer dealers operate lawfully and in the public interest.

The committee believes its pledge has been fulfilled. During the past 17 months it has aided the authorities in ridding the state of 131 undesirable beer outlets—107 by revocation, one by surrender and 23 by refusal to renew licenses.

You can help by restricting your patronage to those places which obey the law.

Carolina - Tulane Vets Renew Brilliant Rivalry

Tied 14-14 Last Year and All the Heroes Will Be Back Saturday—Caps Big Homecoming Celebration—Last Chance to See Tar Heels Unless Fans Have Tickets to Duke Game—Expect Big Crowd

Chapel Hill, Oct. 23.—The Carolina-Tulane Homecoming classic here Saturday will find 17 Tar Heel and 19 Greenie lettermen taking up where they left off after last year's 14-14 tie, and all the signs point to another brilliant battle by ground and air.

Harry Hays and Fred Cassibey, who led the Tulane ground gainers to a 14-0 lead last year, and Jim Lalanne and Paul Severin, who pitched Carolina to its 14-14 tie, will all be back and holding the center of the stage again.

This will be Carolina's last game on Tar Heel soil except for the Duke battle. Since the latter is already a sell-out, Saturday will be the last chance any fans who do not have their Duke tickets will have to see the colorful Tar Heels, and a near-capacity crowd is expected.

The game, which will match two perennial leaders in the Upper and Deep South, one noted for its air and the other for its ground power, will climax a colorful Homecoming week-end of pep meetings, reunions, and other features, and Chapel Hill will be decked out in festive trimmings for the occasion.

The Carolina-Tulane rivalry is one of the hottest and closest on the books. In their five meetings since 1922, each team has won two and tied one, and the difference in their total scores is only three points.

Women's "Build-Up"

Women's headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain may be symptoms of functional dysmenorrhea due to malnutrition, so often relieved by CARDUL. Principal way it helps is by increasing appetite, stimulating flow of gastric juices, and so improving digestion and helping to build physical resistance. Another way you may find CARDUL helpful in reducing periodic distress: Take it a few days before and during "the time." Used for 50 years.

LeRoy Martin Indorses Nine Month School Term At Franklinton Farmers' And Business Men's Club

The Franklinton School, Friday, October 18. The guest speaker for this occasion was Mr. LeRoy Martin, former Secretary of the State School Commission and now Vice President of the Wachovia Bank & Trust Co. Mr. Martin's address had to do chiefly with the economic outlook for the south as a whole and North Carolina in particular.

Especially significant was the statement that he believed that the State of North Carolina should adopt a state financed nine month school term. He cited the program of the schools in recent years and expressed a hope that the adoption of the nine month term would be the next step in the educational program of the state.

and permanent improvements of farm conditions. He also declared that North Carolina offered exceptional advantages for the location of the more skilled industries and that an effort should be made for the location of such industries in the state.

G. B. Harris, President of the Club, appointed a nominating committee to report at the next meeting composed of L. W. Henderson, R. D. Collins, and A. B. Allen.

A delightful supper was served by the ladies of the local Baptist Church.
