'EXAMPLE'

Washington, Nov. 15.—A Federal district judge sentenced Edward de Baulhac Blount, former government worker, to a two-to-six year prison term today as "an example to others" who would threaten the life of the President.

Blount, 30-year-old former clerk in the Census Bureau, had pleaded guilty to uttering threats against President Roosevelt on two occasions. He was alleged to have made obscene remarks about the Chief Executive and to have said that he would kill him at the first opportunity.

Secret Service and District of Columbia police arrested Blount aboard his motor boat on October 9.

Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts, a former Republican Representative from Iowa, said that "these are difficult times and make the offense more grievous than in peacetime." He added that the punishment should be "substantial" and serve as an example to others throughout the country who might be inclined to "abuse the rights of citizenship."

ENJOYS FRANKLIN TIMES

New York, Nov. 19.—If you were to visit Burrelle's Press Clipping Bureau in downtown Manhattan, you'd find a hundred young girls doing nothing but reading newspapers and magazines. The offices, which overlook the Hudson River, are as quiet as a library reading room, and all you see are newspapers stacked in piles ready to be read and clipped. Harold Wynne, a young college graduate, who is the president of this unusual organization says: "Our girls enjoy reading the FRANKLIN TIMES, Louisburg, N. C., because it contains so many interesting items about our clients."

Burrelle's Press Clipping Bureau was started back in 1888 with two readers and a handful of papers. Frank Burrelle, the originator of the clipping bureau idea and founder of Burrelle's, overheard one man ask another if he had seen the article in the morning paper which mentioned his name. From this conversation began an organization which today has branch offices all over the world and spends more than $40,000 a year for newspaper and magazine subscriptions.

The loss of European markets as a result of the war cut exports of American food products to $15,279,000 in September as compared with $28,693,000 in the same month a year ago.

The 1940-41 world's cotton crop is placed tentatively at 23,500,000 bales as compared with 28,900,000 last season, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Forum Urges America Mobilize Economic Strength

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., Chairman of General Motors, sets forum theme, "Mobilizing America's Economic Strength," at luncheon given by him for 500 of the country's leaders to hear an expert discussion of this important phase of the national defense program. Participating in the forum (left to right) were: Paul G. Hoffman, president of Studebaker Corporation; C. F. Kettering, of General Motors research fame; George V. Denny, Jr. (standing), Town Meeting of the Air, who served as moderator; Mr. Sloan; Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of Brookings Institution, and Dr. Sumner H. Slichter, Harvard University economist.

With its vast untapped resources of men and materials America has an economic potential of sufficient reserve power to take the defense program in its stride and emerge stronger and greater than ever before in its history.

This was the ringing challenge issued recently to 500 of the nation's leading industrialists and business men in New York at a forum discussion of the subject

"Mobilizing America's Economic Strength."

As guests of Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., Chairman of General Motors, the luncheon gathering heard two prominent economists, an industrialist and a research engineer, join in urging industry not to curtail unnecessarily the normal flow of goods and services in this period of emergency but to mobilize its strength on all fronts.

A strong right arm and a rugged constitution to back it up was the prescription recommended by these authorities. Defense has first call on the country's resources, they said, but America has sufficient reserves of power to build high its defense ramparts without having to neglect those foundations of normal productivity which underlie both the ramparts and the way of life behind them.
