SENATOR PAT HARRISON DIES

Second President Pro Tempore of Senate To Die Within Year

Washington, June 22.—Senator Byron (Pat) Harrison (D. Miss.), president pro tempore of the Senate and chairman of its powerful Finance Committee, died here early today from exhaustion following a major intestinal operation performed a week ago.

Death came to the 59-year-old Democratic statesman—affectionately termed the "Gray Fox" and "Senate Gadfly"—at 6:35 a. m., as he rounded out 30 years of service in the national Legislature. His body will lie in state in the Senate tomorrow afternoon and will be sent to Gulfport, Miss., on Tuesday for burial Wednesday.

Lauded by Roosevelt
Messages of sympathy from President Roosevelt, Secretary of State Cordell Hull and other national leaders poured into the Harrison home tonight. The President paid tribute to Harrison's legislative talents and said that his death is a "great sorrow to all of us who were his close friends."

Keen of intellect, sound in principle, shrewd in judgment, he had the rare gifts of kindly wit, humor and irony which delighted all," the President said. "He will be sadly missed in this hour of grave emergency."

Hull, who served with Harrison in Congress and was one of his closest personal friends, said the nation mourned "the passing of one of its most useful and finest citizens." He said the late Senator was "a statesman of unexcelled ability and the personification of loyalty to principles and to friends."

Long illness
Harrison was the second president pro tempore of the Senate to die within a year. His immediate predecessor in this high Senate post was Chairman Key Pittman (D. Nev.), of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, who died last winter.

GATHER WASTE ALUMINUM

PATRIOTIC CITIZENS URGED TO COOPERATE WITH BOY SCOUTS IN GATHERING THIS MUCH NEEDED METAL

The Louisburg Boy Scout Troup is sponsoring the collection of old Aluminum for the government to be used in the National Defense program. Every person in Franklin County is urged to look around their home and premises and gather all the old aluminum—that has served its usefulness and bring them to Louisburg and deposit it in the place arranged for it on the Court Square, or to one of the Boy Scouts who will see that it gets to its proper destination. The Boy Scouts are giving their time and work and are asking the cooperation of all patriotic citizens of the County to join them in this effort to assist the government in time of need.

An appeal has been made over radio from Washington stating that at the present rate of production it will take ten years to make enough aluminum for our required defense effort.

If the citizenship of the County will take a little time out, and bring the waste aluminum to Louisburg, along with other sections of the country doing likewise, a great help to the government will be rendered.

W. J. Shearin, Scoutmaster, says the Boy Scouts will call for the articles in Louisburg if those having aluminum will call him.

HOME GUARD LOCAL UNIT

Now that the rifles are here the men of the Louisburg unit of the Home Guard are having a nice time learning the new manual of arms.

Quite a few of the new men who have had none of this training in the past are having some fun in learning. Others who are used to the old drill are getting as much fun getting into the new manual of arms.

As far as information is obtainable the uniforms are to be here by the first of July or the next drill. The men are very anxious for these and are also trying to be in fit form for these when they arrive to show the people of the community what real patriotism Louisburg and Franklin County men have.

The public is invited to attend any or every drill and observe the progress the men are making and the value these men will be to the community.

Berlin, Monday, June 23.—Smashing air assaults on the Russian Black Sea base of Sevastopol and destruction of at least 40 Soviet bombers trying counter-raids against German positions were claimed by Germany today as notable first thrusts of the great new war Adolf Hitler declared at dawn Sunday against Russia.

Boasted by vengeful Finland and Rumania, the night of the German army was loosed against the Soviet Union on a 2,000-mile front-ranger from the tepid waters of the Black Sea to the wastes of the Arctic North—a battle zone which the Germans said at the outset was the most extensive continuous line in the history of warfare.

Russians Losses Heavy
First official news, delivered by DNB, official German news agency, dealt almost entirely with war in the air, however.

In less than 24 hours, DNB said, the Luftwaffe smashed hard at Sevastopol, which was occupied by German troops May 1, 1918, near the close of the World War; destroyed numerous Russian airports, hangers and barracks all along the lines; destroyed unnumbered Russian planes on the ground; and smashed columns of Red Army tanks, railroads and munitions stores with bombs of all calibers.

The Russians tried at least twice to raid the Germans, DNB said. The first attempt, directed against East Prussia, cost them seven out of nine attacking bombers, while the second, in the general government area of former Poland, saw 33 of 35 Soviet bombers destroyed. DNB claimed, the full Soviet losses are not yet determined, it added.

At sea, in "Russian waters," DNB said German speedboats sank a 4,000-ton Russian freighter and a fishing boat. The first military communique was issued from the German-Rumanian front in the south, stating that these allies had joined battle with the Russians from the mountains of Bucovina to the shores of the Black Sea.

This indicates a 250-mile battle-front in that region alone.

Berlin, Thursday, June 26.—Swarms of Stuka dive-bombers were reported today to have smashed Soviet troop and munition trains moving up to the Balkan front as Nazi tanks sliced eastward in their attempts to encircle great masses of Red Army soldiers.

Successes "baffling the imagination" were claimed by Germany, and one informed quarter expressed belief the Red high command already had been cut off from contact with some of its armies in the vast battle surging from the Baltic to the Black Sea.

The official news agency DNB reported that a German squadron attacked six long freight trains loaded with war materials and troops in an unnamed southeastern Russian town.

Freight cars were bombed off the buckled rails, and hundreds of Red soldiers scrambled from the overturned cars and then were sprayed by German machine gun fire.

The depot became a shambles and resulting fires spread to nearby gasoline stores, the agency said.

Helsinki, Thursday, June 26.—Premier Johan Rangell told parliament in extraordinary session early today that Finland had "taken a defensive measure" against Russia with all the military means at her disposal.

After the premier had spoken, revealing the gravity of the situation in which the nation found itself because of the Russian-German war, parliament gave the government a rousing and unanimous vote of confidence.

The disclosure of the parliamentary proceedings in the long secret session followed an official statement that up to 6 p. m. Finnish pursuit planes had shot down 21 Russian planes and that anti-aircraft accounted for two more.

Nineteen Soviet bombers were said to have attacked Turku, the southern port west of Helsinki, slightly wounding 12 persons, including two women and three children, and destroying several frame dwellings. The official statement said windows of a hospital were smashed.

Washington, June 25.—President Roosevelt decided today not to apply the Neutrality Act to the Russian-German conflict, and thereby left American ships free to carry arms or any other materials across the Pacific to the Soviet Union.

Summer Welles, Acting Secretary of State, announced the President's decision at a conference. (Continued on Page Eight)
