PRISONERS DIE

Washington, June 21.—Disease and malnutrition have killed 300 Americans in Jap prison camps since the fall of Bataan and Corregidor, the War Department disclosed tonight.

The announcement was based on reports received through the International Red Cross. Chief causes of death, in addition to beri-beri, a disease of malnutrition, were malaria, diphtheria, dysentery and pneumonia. Previously the Japs had reported 300 American deaths due to battle wounds.

The department released the names of 136 of those who died. Others will be published later.

The deaths occurred among a total of 11,307 Army personnel thus far reported as prisoners of war. This would indicate a death rate of 25 out of every 1,000 per year. In comparison, the over-all death rate in the entire United States in 1940 was 10.8 per cent, not including deaths among infants and the aged.

The War Department had no comment whether the mortality rate was exceptionally high and whether it indicated mistreatment or neglect.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Beans

So long as a soldier can eat and think up disparaging names for his equipment the Army will do all right. Food is either "beans," or "chow."

"Chow" may consist of a well cooked meal or if circumstances demand our fighting men have learned to subsist on "Ration K," the concentrated food that all of them carry into battle.

With millions of men and women in the services it will require a lot of War Bond buying on our part to keep them happy.
