

War Food Head Lauds Work of AAA Committees

Work of Franklin County and community AAA committeemen in the present food production program received a note of praise in a recent address by War Food Administrator Marvin Jones, according to Ire T. Inscow, chairman of the County AAA Committee, and the County USDA War Board.

Urging all Americans to give their fullest support to the national food production program, Jones declared that "our greatest hope for a full production of food, for its proper distribution, and conservation and best use lies in getting all the American people on the team."

Turning to the 1944 production program, Jones said, "we are announcing step by step a program for the greatest production in our history for 1944. It takes hard work to produce food.

There is no other way. It cannot be produced by directives. We already have the local organizations throughout the country at state, county and community levels, with the committeemen selected by the farmers themselves. I believe in the work of the county and community committees.

With these hands I wrote the language into the various farm bills that provide for county and community committeemen selected by the farmers themselves, not only as the best method of administering a program, but in order that we may have the benefit of their experience and knowledge in shaping the program. They know how to administer this program, and we can depend on them in this emergency. The State and county war boards have been doing unusually fine work. These boards will be continued."

Pointing to the increasing need for food for wartime uses, Chairman Inscow said all-out production will be necessary next year to reach 1944 goals.

"As yet, we do not know what these goals will be, but it is likely they will be as large, or larger, than they were for 1943. Reaching levels of production we have reached in the past is due, in a large degree, to excellent work of the county's 125 community committeemen and agencies making up the County USDA War Board. These men will be called upon again next year to conduct a campaign for food production, and we owe them our full support," he declared.

Full details of the 1944 production program will be announced as quickly as they are received at the County AAA office, he said.

The sweet potato crop in the U. S. is estimated to be one-fourth larger than last year and growers should plan to grade, cure, and store the crop.

U. S. D. A. WAR BOARD FRANKLIN COUNTY

Ire T. Inscow, Chairman

Under a new plan recently put into operation by the War Production Board and the War Food Administration, each county is given a quota of electrical copper wire which may be used only for approved farmstead wiring which will increase food production, such as for wiring brooder houses, barns, etc. It cannot be used for wiring a dwelling.

Your County USDA War Board has been authorized to distribute this quota among the farms in this county, so if you need copper wire for farmstead use (other than for wiring your house) come to our office and make application right away. Of course, there are certain requirements which must be met but if you qualify, the County War Board can issue you a certificate which will enable your dealer to sell you the wire.

The County USDA War Board can also authorize your farm for an electrical service connection, provided certain requirements are met. The main requirement for purchasing copper wire or getting a power line connection is that your farm have at least 5 animal units. On the back of this letter you will find a table you can use for figuring the number of animal units on your farm.

However, if you need only a small amount of wire, you don't have to have five animal units nor do you have to come to our office to get a certificate. You can go directly to your dealer and by signing a certificate that you are a farmer and the wire is to be used on the farmstead, you may purchase up to 75 feet.

GRADUATES

Youngsville, Sept. 3.—Pfc. Grover G. Holden, son of Mrs. Amanda W. Holden, of Youngsville, has been graduated from the radio school of the Army Air Forces at Scott Field, Ill.

Care in picking cotton so as to keep it dry and as free of trash as possible can materially improve the grade and the price.

FINE WINES

Announcement

I am glad to announce to my many friends that I have opened a full stock of select wines in the store room next to Dr. Eagles' office and will be glad to serve you. I am now operating this store for myself and am not connected with any foreign concern.
