

Driver Unhurt After Hour In Wreckage

Louisburg rescuers and firemen teamed up with men and equipment from the County Sheriff's Department and two local garages about 11 o'clock Friday morning to free a W. W. Nash pulpwood truck driver from the cab of his overturned truck.

After nearly an hour of cutting, sawing, jacking and pulling amid a blanket of foam laid down by firemen to prevent fire the rescuers finally managed to remove James Rogers from this crushed truck cab virtually unhurt.

Rogers, 34, and a co-worker, Sam McDougald, also 34, both Route 1, Louisburg negroes, were taken to Franklin Memorial Hospital for check-ups and treatment of minor injuries.

The spectacular accident occurred at the intersection of US 401 and NC 39 at Ingleside when the brakes on the heavily loaded pulpwood truck failed. Faced with the choice of continuing across the "T" intersection and into a house or trying to make the turn, Rogers chose the latter only to end up in a pile with his logs in a clump of trees at the edge of the yard.

The busy highway was totally blocked while efforts were made to free the trapped driver.

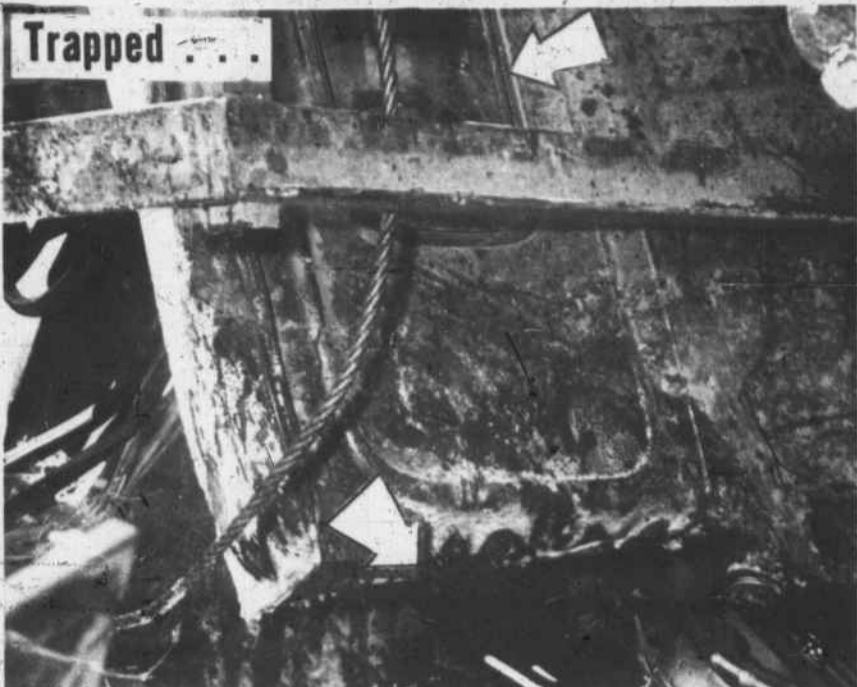

Louisburg Rescue Chief V. A.

People had words of high praise for several local public and private agencies and individuals for their speedy response to the call for assistance.

Besides the local fire department, there was a Griffin Motor Co. wrecker, operated by owner Floyd Griffin himself. An acetylene cutting torch and operator from Champion Auto Sales, rushed out by Chief Franklin Deputy Sheriff Wallace

Champion, who intercepted the call for and on his radio, and others who fished out to offer their assistance if needed.

Chief Peoples frankly admitted that the Rescuers had neither the personnel or the heavy equipment needed to cope with an operation of this magnitude and that they would have been sorely put to effect the rescue had it not been for the speedy and effective assistance received.

Arrows point to driver pinned upside down in crushed cab of pulpwood truck following spectacular wreck at Ingleside last Friday morning. Photos by T. H. Pearce.

Local Rescuers swarm over wreckage of truck as dramatic rescue attempt begins amid hazard of spilled gasoline from overturned truck.

After an hour of cutting, sawing, prizing and pulling, Rescuers carefully remove victim from crushed truck cab, feet first and virtually unhurt.

The Franklin Times

Published Every Tuesday & Thursday
Serving All Of Franklin County
93rd Year—Number 101
Louisburg, N. C., Tuesday, February 12, 1963
(Six Pages Today)
Five Cents

For Town Cooper, Allen On Committee

The Louisburg City Council appointed two former councilmen to fill vacancies on two important local committees Friday night.

Former Town Commissioner W. J. Cooper, Jr., was appointed to a 5 year term on the Redevelopment Commission and Planning Board. Cooper, a local insurance broker, succeeds Roger A. Kornegay, whose term expired and was not considered for re-appointment at his own request.

The other new appointee was former City Councilman J. M. Allen, Jr., who was named to fill the unexpired term of local insurance man G. M. Beam, Jr., resigned, on the Citizens Advisory Committee. Allen is a local oil dealer.

Both of these committees figure heavily in local urban renewal and slum-clearance planning.

The Council also authorized Town Administrator E. S. Ford to pay the expenses of one representative of the town, to be designated by the Council, to the Go East Industrial Mission to New York next month, and voted to close the town office on Wednesday afternoons beginning immediately until further notice.

Mrs. James Clayton and Mrs. K. S. Isley of the Louisburg Provisional League of Women Voters, were present as observers at the meeting.

Mrs. Lavender YDC District Vice-President

At the recent installation ceremonies of the Young Democratic Clubs of North Carolina held in Greensboro, Mrs. Betsy Lavender, Deputy Clerk of the Superior Court, and President of the Association of Assistant and Deputy Clerks of Superior Court of North Carolina, was installed as Vice-President of the Eastern District YDC of North Carolina.

By virtue of her election, Mrs. Lavender becomes a member of the State Executive Committee of the organization representing all Young Democratic Clubs in eastern North Carolina. Mrs. Mary East of Franklin County is the only other Franklin County native ever to hold a position of such importance in the state-wide organization.

Locals On Honor Lists

Doris Baker Hill of Route 4, Louisburg received top honors with fifty other students at East Carolina for the fall quarter of this semester for scholastic achievement in an "All A's" list.

Nancy Jane Collins of Franklinton and Alford Jesse Holton of Louisburg made the Dean's list which is composed of undergraduates who made at least two and one-half quality points per credit hour on all work taken, with no grade below "C".

Richard H. Cash, Jr. of Louisburg and Emily Dolores Harris of Franklinton made the honor roll which is composed of undergraduates who made at least two quality points per credit hour on all work taken, with no grade below "C".

The man, who refuses to take a rest until he gets sick usually gets sick.

Dr. Stone To Head Alumni

Dr. Raymond Stone of Raleigh Executive Secretary of the North Carolina Citizens Committee for Better Schools, became president of the Louisburg College Alumni Association Saturday evening at the meeting held in the College Union.

Dr. Stone, who has served the past two years as vice-president, succeeds Mrs. James B. Clayton of Louisburg as president of the association.

Dr. Stone is a native of Louisburg, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stone of Route 1, Louisburg. He attended Louisburg College, and received his BA, MA and PhD degrees from the University of North Carolina.

Miss Emily, Burt Person, Home Economics teacher in Warrenton, was elected vice-president. She is the daughter of Mrs. M. M. Person, Sr. and the late Mr. Person. She was graduated from Gold Sand High School, Louisburg, College and received her B.S. degree from East Carolina, Greenville.

Miss Evelyn Harrison, Head Librarian of Women's College at Duke University, succeeds Charles H. Mercer as member-at-large of the executive committee of the Alumni Association for three years.

Dr. Stone urged the alumni to give all the support possible to the college in these years to come and to participate in the organization of more alumni chapters throughout North Carolina.

During the business session of this homecoming event presided over by Mrs. Clayton, it was voted that an Alumni Day be established and held each fall. During the halftime activities of the game played by the Louisburg College Varsity and Roanoke Business College, Nancy Forbes of Wake Forest, representing the cheer leaders, was crowned "1963 Homecoming Queen."

Nancy was competing with twelve other contestants, who represented various clubs and campus organizations.

The Varsity team won by a score of 113 to 75.

Just prior to the varsity game the Alumni team won a game over the College J.V.'s by one point.

An informal social hour was held for the returning alumni Saturday afternoon from 4 to 5 in the Faculty Parlor in Main Building.

Woman Files Guilty Plea

A Epsom Community woman pleaded guilty in U.S. Eastern District Court in Raleigh Monday to embezzlement and making false entries in transactions totaling more than $134,000 from the First National Bank of Henderson.

Mrs. Mildred H. Fuller entered pleas of guilty to 10 of 11 charges against her. Her husband, Fletcher Fuller, pleaded guilty to four counts of aiding and abetting her.

Judge Algerton Butler said he would sentence the couple Tuesday.

Mrs. Fuller was charged with embezzling $3,500 over a seven-week period ending April 2, 1962. She was also charged with failing to record more than $12,000 in deposits and listing the bank's accounts at $134,177.89 lower than they were.

In Play Cast
Pictured above are Bottom, played by Umphrey Lee, head of the English Department at Louisburg College, and Titania, played by Jean Jones of Louisburg, as they will be seen in the forthcoming production of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream by the Louisburg College Players on February 14, 15, and 16 in the Louisburg College Auditorium at 8 P.M. - Photo by Tom Rogers.

Captain Brown Speaks To Rotary Club

A man who served as Chief of Staff to the Base Commander, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, spoke to the Louisburg Rotarians at their last meeting. Retired Naval Captain James Brown, now a member of the Louisburg College faculty, reviewed the history of this important military installation and told of its present importance as a vital link in defense of the shipping lanes via the Panama Canal.

Captain Brown stated that the base has been used since 1903 as a result of agreements signed by the President of Cuba and President Theodore Roosevelt. The treaty signed in 1934 guarantees our country's rights to its use as long as we see fit, he said.

He further told fellow Rotarians that Guantanamo Bay area "is an ideal area for naval training because of ideal sunny weather, the bay is large and deep and can accommodate the largest ships of the navy."

At times we are convinced the secrecy is the best publicity.

Channel 5 All Stars
Among the Channel 5 All Stars, who will play Louisburg College at 8 P.M. here Wednesday are: front row, L. to r., Everett Norton, Tommy Little and Denny Lutz. Back row, 1. to r., Whitey Bell, Bob McGilivray and Nick Pond. Not pictured are Bob "Moose" Distefano and Roman Gabriel.

Carolina Power & Light To Repeat Atom Youth Prize

A public school award designed to encourage budding scientists and their teachers will be repeated by Carolina Power & Light Company in 1963.

The award, made for the fifth consecutive year, will be an expense-paid trip for two science students and their teachers to the National Youth Conference on the Atom to be held in Chicago next fall.

The conference is sponsored by CP&L and 60 other investor-owned companies to demonstrate peaceful uses of the atom. More than 600 students and teachers from throughout the country attended last year.

C. P. Bazemore, manager for CP&L, said competition for the atomic award is open to all high school juniors and sophomores whose families are served by CP&L. Selections are made by the company from among participants in the physical science division of the district science fairs held each spring in the two Carolinas. The science fairs are sponsored by the North and South Carolina Academies of Science in cooperation with the public school systems and are supported by CP&L and other corporations and groups in the two states.

Dr. Forrest Lancelot, N. C. State College, Raleigh, N. C.; and Dr. James Loftin, Wofford College, Spartanburg, S. C. Additional information on the

Bunn Blaze Damages Room

Bunn Rural Volunteer firemen were called to G. V. Leigh's place in Bunn Thursday afternoon about 2:45 when the place became filled with smoke. The firemen traced the cause of the smoke to a motor on a heating plant.

Scout Site

A lakeside camp site has been made available to local Boy Scouts by the generosity of a local attorney.

W. W. Warren, local Scout leader, said that Louisburg Attorney W. B. Compton had made a campsite available to the Scouts near Mitchiner's Pond.

Warren, a district Scout Committeeman, is in charge of camping activities for the Scouts.

Youth Conference itself is available through the local CP&L office, the CP&L manager said.

Home Burns

A negro residence burned to the ground near C. E. Edens store about 2:45 Monday morning, but Centerville firemen were successful in efforts to save several out-buildings.

The house, was occupied by John L. Johnson and family, belonged to Hudie Sills, local negro. The Johnsons lost all their possessions except a freezer locker.

Following the fire the Centerville firemen enjoyed a sausage and eggs breakfast at the fire station at 4 a.m.

People who think they are too smart to be governed by the laws of their land are overestimating their smartness.