Since today is Valentine's Day I thought I'd say a few words on this time of year. In case you wonder what Valentine's Day is for, it is a time for Sweethearts to be together and celebrate. I'm sure that most girls know this. In fact, they would be terribly unhappy if they didn't get a box of candy or at least a Valentine from the one they admire most. I also think that boys had rather there would not be a Valentine's Day. Nevertheless, it is a season of love, so enjoy it while you're young! Happy Valentine's Day everyone!

Speaking of Valentine's Day, if you think you could get along fine without those few extra pounds that the candy puts on, why not try this suggestion. Choose something else that you had rather have and tell him a-out it. This is exactly what Donna Weaver and Earl Smith have done. They plan to go to Raleigh, buy some record albums, and just spend the day together, sure sounds nice to me!
