

Book Clubs Meet

Mrs. Umphrey Lee was hostess to the Edwin Fuller Book Club on Tuesday afternoon at her home on Sunset Avenue. Mrs. L. M. Word was a special guest for this meeting.

Following a short business meeting, presided over by Mrs. R. G. Bailey, the president, Mrs. W. T. Sanderlin read an interesting paper on the Moravians in North Carolina. The Moravians came to North Carolina in 1752 and settled in Salem in 1759. The college in Salem was founded in 1772 and these people are noted for the character of their schools and their excellency and wide scope in Education.

Mrs. W. D. Jackson read an article for Mrs. A. B. Perry entitled, "How to go to Church," which stated that mere attendance at church is not enough - the worship of God demands and deserves complete and active participation at all times.

At the conclusion of the program the hostess served a delicious dinner plate with dessert and coffee.

The Tuesday Afternoon Book Club met at the home of Mrs. George T. High.

The following members were present: Mesdames Walter McDonald, Willis Nash, M. S. Childon, C. J. Perry, Jr., M. M. Person, Sr., W. J. Cooper, Jr., Kenneth Isley, Woodrow Warren, George M. West, L. J. Peoples, Pattie C. Justice, V. E. Dupcan and a guest Mrs. H. M. Stovall.

Upon arrival Mrs. High served a delicious dessert course and coffee.

Following a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. Isley, Mrs. W. J. Cooper, Jr., read an interesting paper on Revolutionary War Heroes - LaFayette and Paul Revere after which Mrs. High read a recent editorial taken from the News and Observer entitled Choice and Puzzle.

Mrs. George Fuller and Mrs. P. E. Dean were hostesses to the William Robert Mills Book Club on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Fuller.

Mrs. C. M. Beasley reviewed the life and works of Joel Chandler Harris who created the beloved characters Uncle Remus and Br'er Rabbit.

At the conclusion of the program a delicious dessert plate and coffee was served to fourteen members.

Mrs. Helen Smithwick was hostess to the O'Henry Book Club on Monday afternoon at the Murphy House with eleven members present.

Continuing their study of the West, Mrs. C. R. Sykes gave an interesting talk on natural resources making particular reference to oil, water and wood. Mrs. E. M. Bartholomew gave
