To Include Deeds Office County Pay Bill Revised In Senate

Representative James D. Speed's County Pay Bill ran into a buzz-saw in Senate Judiciary I Tuesday morning and what was left bears little, if any, resemblance to Speed's original bill.

The buzz-saw was in the form of one Senator W. M. Jolly, who, "because of the interest expressed in the bill by many outstanding citizens and one of the County Commissioners," took the liberty of submitting a "committee substitute" bill. What happens when the new bill goes back over to the House remains to be seen.

The Jolly substitute bill raises the Assistant Clerk of Court to $3,600, the second assistant or deputy clerk to $3,400, the Solicitor of Recorder's Court to $3,549 (the same as the Judge) the Assistant Register of Deeds to $3,400 and the Deputy Register of Deeds to $3,100. The Speed version specifically omitted all Register of Deeds Officer personnel.

In a letter to Speed explaining his actions, Jolly said: "It is my belief that the assistants to the Clerk and to the Register of Deeds are underpaid when considered in the light of the responsibilities that they owe the public. In fact, all of these County employees receive less than do legal secretaries, who do not have as much responsibility."

"It is also my belief that the Solicitor is entitled to receive the same compensation as the Judge." "I certainly hope and trust you will permit the commissioners, if in their judgement they deem it wise, to raise in all County employees 5%.

I am sure you are aware that the salary raises in Franklin County have not kept pace with the ever-increasing cost of living."
