Overtaken House Trailer

Local Rescuers, State Trooper wrecker to clear the road late J. E. Byrd and others view over Tuesday night. No one was hurt turned tractor-house trailer in the crash, caused when the combination while waiting for a hood of the tractor flew up.

Hood Blamed In Upset Of Mobile Home, Tractor

The hood of a tractor being used to tow a mobile home flew up causing the rig to jackknife and overturn on highway 56 about 6 miles east of here late Tuesday night, but neither the driver or a passenger in the tractor were injured.

State Trooper J. E. Byrd quoted driver Al F. Joyner, 32, of Rocky Mount as saying the hood of the tractor flew up without any warning whatsoever, blinding him and causing him to lose control of the rig. Neither Joyner nor his companion, R. B. Barnes, 43, also of Rocky Mount, were injured.

The huge mobile home overturned almost perfectly horizontally across the highway at the bottom of a hill about a mile east of Mapleville, completely blocking the highway. The Louisburg Rescue Service, enroute home from a call near Bunn, dispatched a unit to the scene to set up flares to prevent anyone from crashing into the wreckage. Luckily, traffic was light at that time of the night and the blocked highway caused no serious traffic tieup.

The tractor, owned and operated by P & Y Mobile Homes, Inc., of Sharpsburg, was towing the trailer from Creedmore to Rocky Mount. Only relatively minor damages were sustained by either the tractor or the trailer and the rig was driven back to Louisburg following up-righting by a local motor company wrecker.

Trooper Byrd said that no charges were made against the driver.

Fire Damages Lumber Plant Boiler Building

Local volunteer firemen battled a stubborn fire in a combination sawdust - boiler room building at the Taylor-Thayer Lumber Company here for over an hour and a half before bringing it under control early Wednesday morning.

The blaze, of undetermined origin, was discovered about 3 a.m. and destroyed or heavily damaged most of the roof and overhead structure before it was brought under control.

Half of the large concrete block and metal building was used to collect and store sawdust from the Company's planer mill to fire the huge boiler in the other half of the building. The first was believed to have started in the top of the sawdust storage position, possibly from a spark from one of the boilers.

Fast and efficient work by the firemen, and a dash into the smoke and flame filled building by Manager W. W. Thayer under cover of fire hoses to fill the boilers with water and prevent them from running dry and burning up the tubes, prevented serious damage to the boilers.

The boilers are used to supply heat for the Company's huge dry kiln, which has a capacity of over 150,000 feet of lumber per week.

Company officials estimated damages into several thousand dollars, which was partially covered by insurance. The upper portions of the block walls to the sawdust storage bin were bowed out due to expansion of the water soaked sawdust and will have to be replaced as will the roof and supporting steel structures.

The early morning calm prevented a serious threat to the rest of the sprawling lumber facility.

Guardsmen Due Home From Georgia Sunday

The some 200 officers and men of the 5th Rocket Battalion, North Carolina Army National Guard, are scheduled to windup their annual two weeks summer encampment training at Fort Benning, Georgia Friday and head back home Saturday, arriving sometime Sunday.

With the 5th Battalion will be the officers and men of Louisburg's Headquarters and Headquarters Battery and Youngsville's Honest John Rocket firing "B" Battery. The other unit comprising the 5th is Zebulon's "A" Battery, also an Honest John Rocket firing unit.

The three units will travel under a single command by motor convoy to a point, probably this side of Raleigh, where they will split up under their Battery Commanders for the remainder of the trip to their home stations. The return trip is scheduled to take two days with one overnight bivouac.

Outside of the Division's armored units, which are in camp at Ft. Stewart, Georgia, the rest of the 7,000 - 10,000 man 30th Division encamped this year at Fort Bragg, N.C.

The 5th Battalion was sent to Fort Benning for the rocket firing facilities there.

The Times had hoped to publish a series on the local units in camp similar to years past, but the distance and difficulties involved proved too great. A last ditch cooperative effort with the Warren Record failed when weather prevented a scheduled flight to Fort Benning on Wednesday.

Zip Code In Effect July 1st

Postmasters in Louisburg, Franklinton, Youngsville and Bunn yesterday made public the five - digit "ZIP CODE" numbers that will be used on all correspondence all over the nation to speed mail delivery and reduce the chance of mis-sent mail beginning July 1.

The new codes for the towns are as follows; Louisburg 27549; Franklinton 27525; Youngsville 27596; and Bunn 27508.

The so-called "Zip Code Plan" is the Post Office Department's revolutionary new system of improved mail dispatch and delivery which goes into effect nationally on July 1, and it is vitally important that everyone learn his own Zip Code and use it in their return address on all correspondence as well as using the Code taken from return addresses on incoming mail in answering all mail.

The Zip Code is supposed to be literally the last work in mailing addressing and should follow the name of the city and state in addresses. An example of the proper use of the Zip Code in a letter from Louisburg Postmaster E. L. Best to Franklinton Postmaster H. C. Kearney is as follows:

(From) E. L. Best, Postmaster U. S. Post Office Louisburg, N.C. 27549

(To) H. C. Kearney, Postmaster U. S. Post Office Franklinton, N.C. 27525

Each postal patron will be notified personally of his or her city's or post office's Zip code number by card prior to July 1.

The new Zip Code plan, the Department stated, for the first time will permit the Post Office Department to short-cut repeated address reading.

"The address on mail must often be read as many as eight or ten times by postal employees, to get it to the proper destination, each handling slows the process of mail dispatch and adds to the opportunity for human error."

"With Zip Code, a clerk needs only to glance at the code to know, immediately to what national area, state and post office the letter is destined, and to speed it on its way, cutting up to 24 hours off the time between deposit and delivery and when Zip Code is in full swing, it will give the United States the most modern system of mail distribution and delivery in existence."
