

Kreuger Myth Basis For College Players Production

At the time of the suicide of Ivar Kreuger, Swedish matching and financial juggler, revealing the complicated failure of his international financial interests, it was rumored that he had only faked his death, and really had departed to South America, to live incognito and in luxury on a fortune that he had established there. This story is the basis of the play selected for presentation by the Louisburg Players at Louisburg College on October 31 and November 1 and 2.

The subject of the play is a murder trial, and an unusual feature of it is the recruiting of twelve members of the audience to serve as jury. These members will not be "planted" in the audience, but chosen by lot.

"NIGHT OF JANUARY 16th" had a long run in New York, and has toured the United States. The late Percy Hammond, dramatic critic on the New York Herald Tribune, wrote of it: "I have the word of no less an expert artist and showman than George M. Cohan that 'Night of January 16th' alternately chilled and fired his blood with the drama's agues and fevers, more than any other masterpiece that has come within his experience."

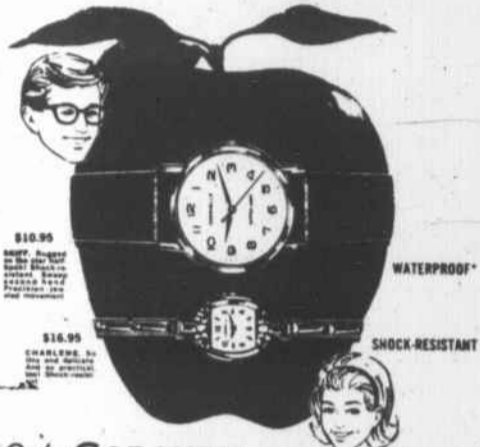

No Different

Mother: "You were a long time in the conservatory with Mr. Willing last night, my child. What was going on?"
Daughter: "Did you ever sit in the conservatory with father before you married him?"
Mother: "I suppose I did."
Daughter: "Well, mother, it's the same old world."

Anti-Climax

Jones had taken his car to a garage for minor repairs.
"You wouldn't think it was a second-hand car, would you?" he remarked to the mechanic.
"Great, Scott, no!" said the mechanic, "I thought you made it yourself."

Her Slip Shows Too

The cute new stenographer had been coming to work in tighter skirts and lower necklines than the office manager thought appropriate.

"Miss Jones," he advised, "when you dress for the office in the future, could you please show a bit more decorum?"
"Really, sir," protested the sweet young thing, with outraged dignity, "if you want that, go to a burlesque show."

Old Moral In New Frame

"Freddie," said the teacher, "give me a sentence using the word diadem."
Freddie had overheard certain remarks at home and out of his subconscious store of worldly wisdom he drew this reply: "Drivers who hurry across railroad crossings diadem sight quicker than those who stop, look and listen."

This year the State Convention will be held in Raleigh so it will be closer to home than last year when it was in Asheville.

Today's Film Revue

WIVES AND LOVERS

This starts out to be a routine story of the working wife bringing home the bacon while her writer husband sweats out the sale of his first novel. When Bill (Van Johnson) learns his novel is accepted for publishing, he's hysterical but, he really soars to the moon when he's told to write a play based on the novel.

First Bill and Bertie (Janet Leigh) move to a plush Connecticut mansion, then discord rings a sour note as Bill spends too much time away from home at night with his agent (Martha Hyer) working on the script. His jealous wife encourages the attentions of one of the play's actors and what seems to happen doesn't.

However, the suggestion brings Johnson to his senses and he rushes back to his wife and after taking care of the actor friend, in proper fashion, the reunion leads to "a happy-ever-after" ending.

An emotional person is usually easily led—the wrong way.
